The Marketplace Movement... 7 Mountains... NAR @ Asbury “Revival”... Asbury “Revival” influences of Roman Catholicism and NAR

(Marketplace Movement... 7 Mountains...)

Dear friends in Christ Jesus,

I started writing this in March this year – at the time of the “Asbury revival”... there has been several months delay... but posting it in any way – perhaps it can shed some insight for someone...

As the weeks went by, reading and hearing about the “Asbury Revival”, I have been feeling a “de-ja-vu”... It brought me back to 2008 – to the so called “Lakeland Revival” with Todd Bentley and his NARian’s endorsing the “revival”... At first, I didn’t want to “go there” – to read and listen... I kind of knew I would have to “write something” if I found out about this “fire” at Asbury... by just reading the titles of many links; it seems as if it is NARian’s behind this as well!

What can be the NARian’s motives? Well... they have stirred up “revivals” in the past... And they were involved – “trying to stir up something” – this time too...

On March 21, Charisma News wrote this article:

As Asbury Ends, Every College in America Prayed for on Collegiate Day of Prayer — Charisma News

<https://www.charismanews.com/culture/91635-as-asbury-ends-every-college-in-america-prayed-for-on-collegiate-day-of-prayer>

The spark of spiritual renewal that the Asbury revival caused has sent a wave across the nation. The last revival service was held on Asbury University's campus on Feb. 23, the same day as the Collegiate Day of Prayer. And for the first time ever, every college campus in America had someone committed to praying over it before the event started.

“A wave”... isn’t that interesting choice of word?

Where have we heard “wave” in the past?

Hmm...

Toronto Airport Vineyard Church – also known as “Toronto Blessing” with Rodney Howard-Browne...introducing holy laughter... calling himself as "God's bartender" and the "holy ghost bartender"...

“Brownsville revival” with Steve Hill...

“Lakeland Revival” – with Todd Bentley... “BAM-BAM-BAM”...

All the “elite” (the self-proclaimed apostles) within NAR were there in Lakeland and “sanctioned” the “movement”... and they referred to these “revivals” as part of “3rd wave”...

Are some considering “Asbury Revival” to be part of the same “wave”???

Good question!

'Asbury Revival' in Kentucky echoes an old Christian tradition - CNN

<https://edition.cnn.com/2023/02/18/us/asbury-revival-christian-what-is-cec/index.html>

Asbury Theological Seminary President Timothy Tennent cautioned against calling the event a revival, instead preferring the term "Asbury Awakening." "I think it is wise to see this, at the current phase, as an awakening," he wrote in a recent blog post. "Only if we see lasting transformation which shakes the comfortable foundations of the church and truly brings us all to a new and deeper place can we look back, in hindsight and say 'yes, this has been a revival.'"

In a letter to parents, Asbury University President Kevin Brown called the event a "beautiful, historic moment of spiritual renewal."

Or would some consider Asbury to be part of "The Fourth Great Wave"?

I just found this link – article by NARian James Goll: (from April 18, 2016)

The Fourth Great Wave of the Holy Spirit Has Begun - Charisma Magazine

<https://charismamag.com/blogs/a-voice-calling-out/the-fourth-great-wave-of-the-holy-spirit-has-begun/>

This Fourth Wave would be one marked by understandings and expressions of transformation. In the past, by writing and public speaking, I have shared how in July 2012, I was given a vision showing California as a womb for the body of Christ in my encounter called "Come Again Holy Spirit."

Please note, that the previous three waves of the Holy Spirit came from or had great influence in southern California. So would it also be with this new Fourth Wave. It is and will have great impact the West Coast but will be global in nature. Some of our older leaders in the body of Christ would now be free to graduate to their heavenly reward while others with youthful and teachable hearts would be invited to be the fathers and grandfathers and mothers and grandmothers as "reformational architects".

I have written about NAR's 7 Mountains in the past: Marketplace Mov7Mountains ins_NAR >>>

This Fourth Wave emphasizes societal change by channeling these empowered believers to impact the seven Cultural Mountains of Religion, Government, Education, Business, Family, Media, and the Arts and Entertainment. Fresh intercessory strategies will now arise for effective ministry in the marketplace. The supernatural power of the Holy Spirit will not be able to be contained within the "four walls of the church" but rather explode into every sphere of life.

Today we have new Apostolic hubs as centers of equipping the saints budding in numerous cities of the earth, such of Bethel Church in Redding, California, Hillsong in Sydney, Australia, Gateway and Glory of Zion in Dallas, Texas, and on and on it goes once again. Do they look and act the same? Thank God, NO! Each are emerging with distinct spheres of influence but each one releasing rippling effects of God's glorious presence.

For now, I will push a pause button and then later I will bring what is burning in heart from an unfolding vision of the future called "The Door to the Harvest" in another installment. But let it be known, from the desk that I sit from, the "Fourth Great Wave" is already here! {eoa}

USA with all their abbreviations...! NOT sure what "oea" stands for – many choices

Hm... perhaps "Executive Office of Apostle" ... James Goll - Wikipedia - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/James_Goll

Perhaps... will we ever find out!?

Well, well... they have NOT been idle... and they are "inventive" = every year they come with something "new" ... I, personally, am so thankful to God for revealing the Truth about NAR and Word-Faith Movement... so that I don't have to be "hooked" on getting the "next revival – next outpouring – next renewal – next move of God – next prophetic word – next(you name it!)". It is such an inner peace to simply read the Bible and pray – to trust in the powerful and living Word – for it to cleanse me and renew me!

Interesting to read on Asbury University's website about different "revivals" through the years:

Who pointed out that the "revivals" all took place in February or March...

In February 1905

In February 1908

In February 1921

In February 1950

In March 1958

On February 3, 1970

In March 1992

In February 2006

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/religion/2023/03/01/asbury-revival-aftermath/>

The school decided to end the on-campus services after tens of thousands of visitors flooded the campus and the small town of Wilmore, Ky., overwhelming locals and blocking traffic for miles. "The Asbury team was just fried, and there was decision fatigue, and just burnout," Hall told Religion News Service.

As did this year's "Asbury Revival" ... = February 2023.

And planning for another one in February 2024... see page 16...

Those who add my "newsletter" to their website www.elvorochjanne.se (<http://elvorochjanne.se/karin-jansson-nyhetsbrev/>) have linked multiple links about this "revival" ... see those links at the end of this newsletter... (Page 20-22) So in February I felt at peace not to watch the links – glad to see many were warning about this so called "Asbury Revival". I was able to focus on finishing my previous Newsletter "New" NAR Method/Strategy >> which was online in February this year... and planning to watch the "Asbury links" little by little when time allowed.

However, on February 25 I received an e-mail from a brother in Christ, from USA, where he mentioned about the Asbury Revival... so I commented briefly that it seemed to be NARian's involved... as I had read on the links... On February 27, he sent me this link:

Asbury as commented on by NTEB (Now the End Begins)

<https://www.nowtheendbegins.com/nteb-prophecy-news-podcast-the-asbury-revival-and-the-jesus-revolution-all-come-from-something-called-roman-catholic-charismatic-renewal/>

But, by this time, I had already started to read some links... and this podcast by NTEB affirmed much of what I had read... So I felt led/inspired and got energy to research and to send more information to this brother in Christ... Below is mostly what I shared with him.

So... when already having it on print... why not let more people read – I thought – here is the information and my comments and conclusions that I sent him about the "Asbury Revival"... some have been modified and added... but most of it is what I wrote to him.

I read this article in the beginning of March – it was good:

NAR and the Asbury Revival: Why We Should Be Concerned

<https://www.hollypivec.com/blog/narandtheasburyrevival>

Thank you for sending the link to the NTEB-podcast

The Asbury Revival And The 'Jesus Revolution' All Come From Something Called Roman Catholic Charismatic Renewal

<https://www.nowtheendbegins.com/nteb-prophecy-news-podcast-the-asbury-revival-and-the-jesus-revolution-all-come-from-something-called-roman-catholic-charismatic-renewal/>

I truly enjoyed listening!

I rejoiced when he lifted up The King James Bible – I agree 100% ;-D)

55 minutes in the NTEB-podcast... he mentions about late bishop Tony Palmer and pope Francis giving message at 'Word of Faith' teacher Kenneth Copeland conference, saying that charismatics and catholics must unite...

It can be seen on YouTube:

Pope Francis Sends Video Message to Kenneth Copeland - Lets Unite

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uA4EPOfic5A>

If you haven't already seen this... please, do... This is "ecumenical" to the core... = all churches together...

In my newsletter from 2014, on page 8, I linked to this "message" ...

http://elvorochjanne.se/old-web/laror-debatter/sverige/Karin_28_4_14_nar_eng.pdf

Perhaps it will be an "awakening" now that the Pope has been publicly affirmed at the NARian Kenneth Copeland...

Watch this YouTube:

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TsEJVP_eDAE - Pope Francis' Message For Christian Unity At KCM

Published February 20, 2014

(KCM-Kenneth Copeland Ministries)

Pope Francis recorded a message of reconciliation and unity between the Catholic Church and the Evangelical Church for Kenneth Copeland Ministries, a group of Pentecostal Christians in the United States.

Bishop Tony Palmer, a bishop from a Pentecostal Christian community, did the camera work with an iPhone. The bishop also serves as international ecumenical officer for the Communion of Evangelical Episcopal Churches, a group that is not affiliated with the Anglican Communion, and which takes a much simpler view of the path to full Christian unity than the pope and the mainline Christian churches do. The translation used for the English subtitles on the video are not precise, but the pope's sincerity is clear.

Here's the film in its entirety: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lsF2q-8ez08> - Pope's Video Fulfills Prophecy

Worth watching as Doug Batchelor is commenting the pope's speech...

Extremely brief summary:

The pope speaks to a group of leaders gathered at Kenneth Copeland... he pleads for unity – "we're brothers"...

At the end of the film Kenneth Copeland sends back a greeting – his response along with leaders in the Word of Faith Movement... where they receive the pope's message and blessings and blesses him back!!!

SICKENING!

But the interesting thing is... that this is happening within the Word of Faith Movement!

And Charisma Magazine writes about it without warning for this ecumenicalism!

The Pope, iPhone and a 'New Era' With Pentecostals

One Pentecostal leader said that small gesture did more to heal the rift between Catholics and charismatics than the past four decades of dialogue.

Sorry – it gets "blurry" when I make this into a PDF... it's clear and readable when in a Word Document... same in some of the pictures below :(

In the above NTEB-podcast, he also mentions about Kathryn Kuhlman...

In 2013 I mentioned about her in a news letter:

http://www.elvorochjanne.se/laror-debatter/sverige/Karin_20_11_13_eng/Index_market_todd.pdf

At the end of page 11 and beginning of page 12 - Benny Hinn visiting Kathryn Kuhlman's gravesite.

At the end of page 17 and page 18 – more about Kathryn...

Here are attachments to the above newsletter... http://www.elvorochjanne.se/laror-debatter/sverige/Karin_20_11_13_eng.html

Some of the links doesn't work, but what I wrote about Kathryn Kuhlman is readable!

Asbury Revival: The Ecumenical School of Mysticism

Asbury Theological Seminary has a painted labyrinth

Asbury Seminary invites you to Awaken spiritually through meditation.

They also have rooms with great acoustics, which are perfect for repetitive chanting during Lectio Divina prayer.

This is a Liberal "Christian" College.

Click this button: Read about Asbury's Labyrinth and rooms for various types of prayer and meditation practices

The green button on the right brings you this link:

During the 40 days of Lent the community often vacates Estes Chapel and gathers in McKenna to mark the days of the passion of Christ.

<https://www.lighthouse trailsresearch.com/blog/lent-and-contemplative-a-likely-match-2/>

While the Bible does not give any instruction to practice or participate in Lent, many churches do.

In fact, since the contemplative prayer movement has come into full swing, more and more churches are observing Lent.

And, in fact, Lent is often being used as the open door to bring contemplative prayer into a church.

This is largely done through the multitudes of books from religious publishers who have now become conduits for contemplative spirituality.

9. Fletcher Chapel

Fletcher Chapel is uniquely designed for the celebration of Eucharist. Take note of the table in the middle of the room.

The room serves best as a sacred space for a communal practice of feasting at the Lord's table and a worshipful space for prayer.

Mike Gendron does an excellent job explaining the difference of Eucharist and The Lord's Supper and other differences...

The Faith of Millions

When the priest pronounces the words of consecration, he reaches up into the heavens, brings Christ down from His throne, and places Him upon our altar to be offered up again as the Victim for the sins of men. It is a power greater than that of saints and angels. The priest speaks and lo! Christ, the eternal and omnipotent God, bows His head in humble obedience to the priest's word. (Catholicism) - Priest John O'Brien

Calvary	The Mass
<input type="checkbox"/> offered by the sinless son of God	+ offered by a sinful man
<input type="checkbox"/> for the living	+ for the living & dead
<input type="checkbox"/> one perfect, finished, sufficient sacrifice	+ thousands of daily offerings are insufficient
<input type="checkbox"/> for all sin	+ for "past sins"
<input type="checkbox"/> bloody	+ bloodless

Catholicism Has Another Jesus

- He did not satisfy divine justice
- He did not provide direct access to God
- He did not make believers perfect forever
- He did not secure salvation and
- He did not finish the work of redemption.

Some Will Preach Another Jesus

- Catholics believe they receive their Jesus physically, frequently in the stomach. "The body, blood...soul and divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ...is truly, really and substantially contained in the Eucharist" (CCC, 1374-75).
- Christians receive Jesus' grace, spiritually, in the heart. "Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith" (Eph. 3:17).

The prayer garden is adjacent to Fletcher Chapel and can be accessed through Fletcher or from the outside of the building.

10. Prayer Garden

Outside the Fletcher Chapel is a small prayer garden built in memory of Lanny Carroll Spears II (late son of staff member Lanny Spears).

Notice the small labyrinth painted on the ground. If you are unfamiliar with the labyrinth as a spiritual symbol, read the short explanation of the labyrinth on the door leading out to the garden.

See picture of labyrinth in the of the picture above

This is Roman Catholicism and New Age...!

Would this be acceptable as "base" for a revival...!?!?

You can talk/preach about getting right with God and that prayer and repentance is the key to revival...

BUT... do you think The Lord would sanction these unbiblical practices and allow The Holy Spirit for a "revival" without FIRST repenting of these Catholic and New Age practices?

To me = this is enough evidence proving it's not a genuine revival from The Lord!

IF there is a different gospel being preached... thus a different Jesus... (= not the Biblical Jesus!)

Will God get involved and allow a true revival?

I do not think so!

In The Bible we can read there will be deceiving spirits in the latter days... Apostasy... and that many will depart from the Faith... there will be persecution... The Bible does not promise a great revival...

BUT I WOULD BE THE FIRST TO REJOICE IF THIS WERE TRULY A REVIVAL FROM GOD!

Underneath the green button there is much more information:

Keynote:

Asbury Revival connects with the New Apostolic Reformation (NAR), Rick Warren (Emergent Church), Eastern Mysticism, and Western Esotericism.

Asbury Revival: The Ecumenical School of Mysticism

Currently, many are concerned that the New Apostolic Reformation (NAR) may use the Asbury revival to spawn another event like the "Toronto Blessing."^[xiii] Even worse, they could fan the flames of a national movement that would spread a counterfeit revival marked by mysticism, which is the key to merging all world religions to form one universal (apostate) church.

On February 23, 2023, the Collegiate Day of Prayer simulcast was hosted by Asbury Theological Seminary. This followed a two-week-long revival at Asbury. During the revival, The Collegiate Day of Prayer website hosted a campaign to adopt college campuses. This page states, "We want to see this generation raised up in revival and awakening."^[xiv] Keep in mind that Asbury Seminary and other colleges that started revivals in response to Asbury appear on Lighthouse Trails' "Spiritual Formation" (contemplative prayer) list. The authors of Lighthouse Trails voice their concern that students from these universities are being converted by these esoteric practices and beliefs. Meditation opens practitioners to seducing spirits, which leads them to Eastern mysticism.^[xv]

Moreover, the Collegiate Day of Prayer: 40-Day Prayer Guide, lists many members of the New Apostolic Reformation as contributing authors including Lou Engle.^[xvi] Other members of the NAR that connect with this event include worship leaders from the International House of Prayer (IHOP).^[xvii] Also, Allen Hood, M.Div. from Asbury Seminary serves as the Associate Director of IHOP.^[xviii] Francis Chan publicly endorses the NAR.^[xix] Also, Andy Roman says, Rick Warren of the Emergent Church Movement went to Asbury Seminary "to spread the revival to 20 million students on 4,300 college campuses."^[xx] Before his retirement, Rick Warren promoted hard ecumenicalism, as he combined Catholicism, Islam, and evangelical traditions.^[xxi] It is clear that all religions are merging and this includes mystical tradition, which Revelation 17 calls Mystery Babylon.

The word "awakening" is a word that is used actively within New Age... which gives me a "warning signal" when I read it in a "revival context"...

A quick Google search for "Spiritual Awakening" brought up "Approximately 80,600,000 results (0.40 seconds)"
<https://www.google.com/search?q=spiritual+awa&aq=spiritual+awa&qs=chrome..015121691571015121316916116916012.46831014&sourceid=chrome&ie=UTF-8>

And there is more to read... above is just an excerpt from all text...

I just want to bring attention to the above highlighted text:

The authors of Lighthouse Trails voice their concern that students from these universities are being converted by these esoteric practices and beliefs.

Meditation opens practitioners to seducing spirits, which leads them to Eastern mysticism.

So, in beginning of 2nd week of March I decided to watch an "Asbury meeting" myself, to get more insight...

And I googled and found many links

Oh well...

I decided for this one:

 Live | ASBURY REVIVAL 2023 (Final Day) #asbury #revival - YouTube

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2JzQ12B3H-A>

LIVE from Asbury University's Spiritual Revival

(from Februari 23, 2023)

I listen to it all... it took me 2 days... but I got through it!

It was kind of interesting that the link to the above NTEB-podcast also commented about this broadcast...

Below are my comments – free of charge! ;-D)

It has taken a while to write and it's long... so only read little at a time... WHEN you have nothing else to do!

IF it truly is a real/genuine revival...

Do you really need to proclaim at the beginning of the "service" that this was not planned???????

... representing over 200 schools, students flocking in from all over the country...

And other guests have come from every region of the United States and even from pockets from the world.

And I just want to say "This was not planned!"

This was not a function of an innovative state of the art facility, it was not a function of a slick marketing scheme. There was no program planning committee. and it's not because of celebrities or professional musicians. This has been a nameless, title less movement and tonight will be no different.

Well... I don't know who the musicians were... who the song leaders were...

(at the end of my Newsletter - page 22 - there is a transcript from this broadcast made by a Lighthouse Trails reader – he has names of many of them!)

BUT we know they did play & sing Bethel Church's music... their so called "revival songs"...

And then a few minutes later, THE NEXT speaker mentions (at 7:54 minutes) that they had planned celebrating this day for 2 years...?

= Dr. Kevin Brown - president of Asbury University in Wilmore, KY.

... create space at the table...

I believe this (= the table) is the Eucharist he's referring to... which they are offering every day Monday-Friday!!

<https://asburyseminary.edu/students/chapel/daily-eucharist/>
Daily Eucharist is offered on campus Monday-Friday at Noon

... habitual practices that make us more like Christ...

Practices such as partaking of Eucharist, meditation and Eastern mysticism...?

... seeing this spiritual fire beginning to flare in a variety of other spaces...

Please, hear this:

The trajectory of renewal is always deeper, the trajectory of renewal is always outward - discipleship. Habituating practices that make us more like Christ, the missional instinct to bend the universe in favour of our neighbour, in favour of the widow, in favour of the orphan, in favour of the alien. The compulsion to bear witness to a different King and to a different Kingdom and the political statement that Jesus is Lord. The trajectory is a holy life, virtuous and pure, expressed in neighbour serving, God honouring work. O Lord make us different, give us different eyes - help us to see like Jesus. Give us a different heart - help us to love and to live like Christ for the fullest realization of our humanity and the fullest edification of the communities that we inhabit in the common good and ultimately for God's Glory. The Glorification of God. Amen.

Second Great Awakening - Wikipedia - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Second_Great_Awakening

Tonight we're celebrating the 200th year anniversary of the Collegiate Day of Prayer.

200 years ago, 1823, coming out of the Second Great Awakening - a move of God that swept through the New England's college campuses.

Where at that time students would come into college barely knowing and walking with God and the Spirit of God would encounter entire generations of students, where by the time, students would graduate; they're spiritually formed, marked by the Gospel and launched into wholehearted pursuit ministry missions. And the mothers and fathers of that day, their prayer was "Father, what You did in the previous generation, Father would you do it again in the next generation?". And in 1823; every major denomination and every University campus in America adopted the last Thursday of February as a United multi-generational Day of prayer for revival and spiritual awakening on college campuses.

And today we're standing in the wake of 200-year-old prayers and as we're...

And as we're just beholding all that The Lord has done here at Asbury; I believe we're standing in the wake of the prayers of mothers and fathers. And as we're looking to what God's doing in this moment; I believe that there is a divine invitation for us to pray the same prayer "Father do it again, Lord do it again"...

This moment, to be here for the Collegiate Day of Prayer; we've been planning this for probably two years now and we planned to be here last May and just in The Lord's providence He wanted for us to have this moment of prayer, coming out of 15 days of non-stop worship, prayer, confession, repentance and beholding Jesus.

And as we start our evening, I want to read to us out of Philippians 2, because The Spirit of what God's been doing here these past 15 days has been one of radical humility and beholding Jesus.

IHOPKC Home Page - International House of Prayer - <https://www.ihopkc.org/>

About the International House of Prayer - About IHOPKC - <https://www.ihopkc.org/about/>

On May 7, 1999, the International House of Prayer of Kansas City (IHOPKC) was founded by Mike Bickle and twenty full-time "intercessory missionaries," who cried out to God in prayer with worship for thirteen hours each day. Four months later, on September 19, 1999, prayer and worship extended to the full 24/7 schedule.

Mike Bickle – a Kansas City Prophet (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Apostolic-Prophetic_Movement) – embraced NAR and has been seen on stage with many of the self-proclaimed "apostles and prophets"...

So it is very "interesting" to find this link where IHOP "distance" themselves from NAR... !!!?

<https://www.ihopkc.org/press-center/fag/ihopkc-part-new-apostolic-reformation/>

What is IHOPKC's stance on the New Apostolic Reformation?

I wrote a newsletter in 2014:

http://www.elvorochjanne.se/laror-debatter/sverige/Karin_28_4_14_nar_eng.pdf

The Marketplace Movement... 7 Mountains... NAR-prophecies for 2014

Here it was more obvious that Mike Bickle was part of/involved with the NAR-team!

In the same newsletter, they had yet another article where several NARians expressed themselves about Bob Jones passing away...

Mike Bickle, Bill Johnson Join Spiritual Leaders in Honoring the Late Prophet Bob Jones

2:00PM EST 2/14/2014 Jennifer LeClair

Mike Bickle

Bob Jones has gone home to be with the Lord after more than four decades of prophetic ministry. Spiritual leaders from various camps in the body of Christ are mourning his loss and praying for his family. Here are a few of the early reactions to Jones' passing:

"I am deeply indebted to Bob Jones for how the Lord used him in my early ministry. I loved him more than he ever knew and often told my friends stories about him," says Mike Bickle, director of International House of Prayer in Kansas City.
"I am very sad for Bonnie and his son, Wayne, and for so many of us to hear of his departure, but I am so happy for him. I remember Bob as a man who loved people deeply and served them tirelessly for so many years. Bob was well-known for his remarkable love for Jesus and His Word—he devoured the Bible for 40 years."

Mike Bickle was one of the "Kansas City Prophets" = Paul Cain, Bob Jones, Mike Bickle

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Apostolic-Prophetic_Movement - it's worth to read all of it!

Excerpt:

Kansas City Prophets

Some of those who shaped the current Apostolic-Prophetic Movement in the United States were based in Kansas City, Missouri and became known as the "Kansas City Prophets." They originated in the late 1980s and early 1990s originating from Kansas City Fellowship (KCF) whose influence eventually went international. It was overseen by the Pastor of KCF, Mike Bickle. Included in the list of prophetic people were Bob Jones, Paul Cain, Bill Hamon, Larry Randolph, James Goll, Jill Austin, and John Paul Jackson. John Wimber provided some oversight from the Vinyard during the first few years. Cain had participated in the Healing Revival initiated by William Branham during the 1950s.

I am not going to comment about each of these "prophetic people"... nor about William Branham... BUT it sure is tempting!!!! ;-D)

I found this article from Christianity Today when I wrote to the brother in Christ, that I mentioned about in the beginning of this newsletter... I copied some of the text... but now it's not available to be read – it says: "Our apologies. This article is for members only."

The 'Prophets' and 'Apostles' Leading the Quiet Revolution in American Religion

A Christian movement characterized by multi-level marketing, Pentecostal signs and wonders, and post-millennial optimism.

Excerpt:

Apostles like Bill Johnson, Mike Bickle, Cindy Jacobs, Chuck Pierce, and Ché Ahn claim millions of followers. They're also aided by an army of fellow ministers who fall under their "spiritual covering."

Many of these apostles run megachurches, including Bethel Church in Redding California, HRock Church in Pasadena, and the International House of Prayer (IHOP) in Kansas City. But their real power lies in their innovative approach to selling faith. They've combined multi-level marketing, Pentecostal signs and wonders, and post-millennial optimism to connect directly with millions of spiritual customers. That allows them to reap millions in donations, conference fees, and book and DVD sales.

And because these INC apostles claim to get direction straight from God, they operate with almost no oversight.

INC = "Independent Network Charismatic" or "INC" Christianity

Above we see Mike Bickle mentioned as an "apostle" together with Bill Johnson, Cindy Jacobs, Chuck Pierce and Ché Ahn... = that speaks volume!!!

MIKE BICKLE SUPERBOWL PROPHECY CONFIRMED

12 jan. 2021

Mike Bickle has confirmed the Superbowl prophecy Bob Jones gave in the 80s.

Mike Bickle now says that Bob Jones confirmation of the super-apostles and the end time harvest in 2020.

MIKE BICKLE SUPERBOWL PROPHECY CONFIRMED

Bob Jones "affirmed" Todd Bentley's "ministry" = BamBamBam... and shared stage with him in Lakeland... That's another chapter – but "thanks to" Todd Bentley and the so called "Lakeland revival" (part of "the 3rd wave"); I started to write "newsletters"... in 2008...

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?app=desktop&v=vaOzZ2qgmHU>

MIKE BICKLE TODD BENTLEY RICK JOYNER

This "brother John Elving" has caught Mike Bickle in a big lie!!!

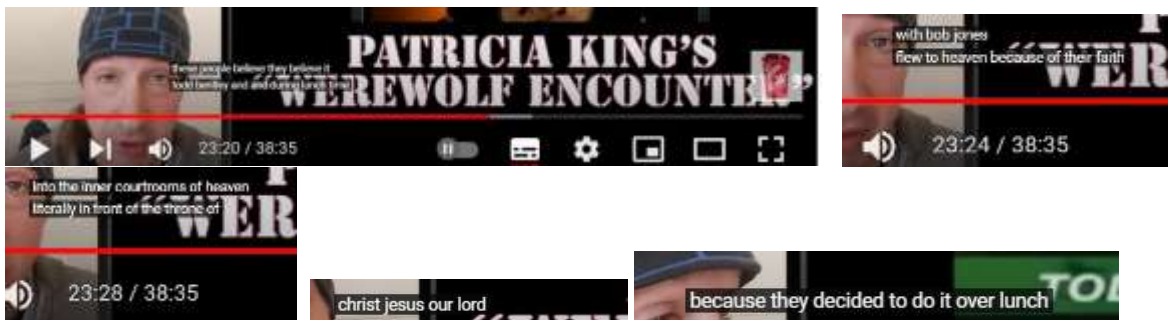

Then he brings up Bob Jones... and Todd Bentley...

"Bob Jones to this day is giving new prophecies from heaven"

These people believe, they believe that Todd Bentley, and during lunch time, with Bob Jones flew to heaven - because of their faith - into the inner courtrooms of heaven, literally in front of the Throne of Christ Jesus our Lord because they decided to do it over lunch...

So... Bob Jones... being dead... supposedly still gives new prophecies from heaven...???

That is Necromancy! = communicating with the dead...

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Necromancy> ... involving communication with the dead by summoning their spirits as apparitions or visions for the purpose of divination; imparting the means to foretell future events; and discovery of hidden knowledge.

In the end, "brother John Elving", also shows video clips of Patricia King – a self-proclaimed "prophetess" who also is part of NAR...

She teaches blasphemies – awful to watch and hear – but it is important to know this – in order to understand how bizarre and unbiblical the entire NAR-movement is... they all esteem Bob Jones... as a seer...

OK – I got side tracked – BACK TO THAI LAM = the second speaker @ the Asbury broadcast from the final day!

<https://luke18project.com/about/meet-the-team/>

Meet The Team

Thai Lam — Executive Director

Thai Lam is part of the leadership team of the International House of Prayer Missions Base of Kansas City and serves as the executive director of Luke18 Project.

Luke18's mission is to instill in the next generation a culture of prayer and fasting to contend for revival on college campuses.

Thai also serves as facilitator for the Collegiate Day of Prayer, America's oldest concert of prayer for college campuses.

Thai is committed to calling a generation to wholehearted love, allegiance, and pursuit of Jesus and to a Daniel lifestyle of consecration, fasting, and prayer. Thai has pioneered and led campus ministries for 20 years at UC Berkeley, Stanford, San Jose State, UCLA, KU, and UMKC. Thai came to faith in Jesus as a freshman at UC Berkeley, graduated in Religious Studies, and then studied Cross-Cultural Missions at Fuller Seminary.

Thai and his wife Angela reside in Kansas City with their 3 children, Noah, Cohen, and Selah.

On their homepage <https://luke18project.com/> – if you scroll down to the bottom; you'll find:

The screenshot shows a section titled "Partner Ministries" with three columns. The first column features the "COLLEGIATE DAY OF PRAYER" logo and text: "On February 24, 2022, adopt a college campus in prayer and join thousands of believers across America on the last Thursday of February as we unite to pray for revival and awakening on college campuses!" with a "More" button. The second column features the "International House of Prayer" logo and text: "We are the campus prayer movement of the International House of Prayer. Connect live to our 24/7 prayer rooms." with a "Watch" button. The third column features the "everycampus." logo and text: "A coalition of like-minded organizations working together to spark revival through mobilizing prayer and catalyzing Gospel movements across the campuses of America." with a "More" button.

They have an "altar call" in the seats... to repent of their sins...

BUT without anyone preaching The Word... they only read/share some Scriptures...

So... those who are not Christians... how will they know what to repent of????

Well... that is a good question!

Then come some more worship songs and prayers...

Perhaps the preaching will come in the end – I hope!!!! = it didn't... ;(

This was similar to many other Word-Faith meetings – where they kept singing and singing as if waiting and expecting for a "move" of God...

I did not know who this man was... who is performing the "Commission" on stage... at 1:50:00 in the YouTube...

I Googled and searched and tried to find out... to no avail...

I wanted to find out if he is a leader from Asbury University or a NAR leader, as this "commission" sure reminds me of NAR strategy...

Lighthouse Trails... (<https://www.lighthousestrailsresearch.com/>) was so helpful – they connected me with a "Bob" who could identify him to be Bill Elliff!

A quick search and I found this: <https://billeliff.org/pages/bio> - Bill Elliff is the Founding and National Engage Pastor of The Summit Church in North Little Rock, Arkansas. His passion is to see both genuine revival and methodological renewal in the church – both new wine and new wineskins. (<https://thesummitchurch.org/whoweare>) He is a frequent conference speaker, writer, and consultant to churches drawing from his 50+ years of pastoring and revival ministry. Bill is also the Pastor/Church Director for OneCry! A Nationwide Call for Spiritual Awakening and the author of twelve books and booklets and numerous articles. (<https://www.onecry.com/>)

I'm not going to comment about these websites.

For more information about Bill Elliff – scroll down at the bottom of this newsletter – bottom of page 23.

... and He wants to commission you...

= Bill Elliff

Bible verse???

... and lay your hands on each other's shoulders, would you do that?

Now listen if you would; realize it is not merely your friend's hands on your shoulders – The Lord's Hand is on you and even in this moment He wants to manifest Himself even more and He wants to commission you.

He wants to call you not to be a just a sitter or a kind of a selfish just go get and eat and enjoy it.

➔ He's telling us right now to turn our eyes of Asbury and turn our eyes to your city, to your campus, to your lost friends, to your family and to every tongue, people, tribe and nation.

And God is changing you and making you aware of His completely sufficient Presence because He's calling you to go.

And in this next moment we're going to pray for each other and we're going to commission each other.

If you're a pastor that's watching or a housewife or something, would you pray that you will cooperate with God just as much as these students?

That you'll tarry, that you'll wait until The Lord comes with healing in His wings?

And would you commit right now, as we pray together, that you will not be like some who would quench The Holy Spirit and resist the moving in the next generation because that's where it's coming from, and it's going to require us to change some wine skins to let go of some things. But would you pray that God would fall upon you and commission you and you would obey and for all of your students. As we pray for each other would you commission your brother, your sister, by God to be the light in this generation?

And I want to ask you not to pray just a nice prayer. Don't pray a prayer that you manufacture to impress each other.

Ask the Spirit of God right now to pray through you. Right. To commission them.

So with all of your heart let's pray God's Hand, God's Commission on all of us right now, let's pray.

This is pure manipulation!!!

"He is telling us right now"... perhaps Bill Elliff is a NARian – a self-proclaimed prophet?

This repeated word "commission"... is often used by the NARian apostles and prophets...

Leaders Commission Todd Bentley at 'Lakeland Outpouring'

1:56AM EDT 6/24/2008 PAUL STEVEN GHIRINGHELLI

Canadian revivalist Todd Bentley, leader of the "Lakeland Outpouring," was commissioned as an evangelist last night in a special ceremony in Lakeland, Fla., that was broadcast into millions of homes by God TV.

California pastors Ché Ahn and Bill Johnson, along with Canadian pastor John Arnott, laid hands on the 32-year-old Bentley while Peter Wagner, leader of the International Coalition of Apostles, read a statement about the need for apostolic alignment. Other prominent leaders from the apostolic and prophetic movements stood on the platform to show their support for Bentley and to endorse the revival, which began in early April and is now in its 83rd day of continuous meetings.

The ceremony, held in a 10,000-seat tent, took place after some charismatic leaders raised questions about Bentley's claims, methods and theology. They asked Wagner to oversee a dialogue, and he responded by organizing Monday evening's event so that Bentley could have more accountability — or what Wagner calls "apostolic alignment."

"I believe last night was truly historic and a true sign of unity," Bentley told Charisma today. "Many streams converged and I know last night's commissioning will truly help bring God's outpouring to a much larger part of the body."

Participating leaders at the ceremony included Wagner; Ahn, pastor of Harvest Rock Church in Pasadena, Calif.; John Arnott of Toronto Airport Christian Fellowship in Canada; Bill Johnson, pastor of Bethel Church in Redding, Calif.; and Rick Joyner, founder of MorningStar Ministries in Charlotte, N.C.

Wagner said to Bentley on the platform: "This commissioning represents a powerful spiritual transaction taking place in the invisible world. With this in mind, I take the apostolic authority that God has given me and I decree to Todd Bentley, your power will increase, your authority will increase, your favor will increase, your influence will increase, your revelation will increase.

"I also decree that a new supernatural strength will flow through this ministry. A new life force will penetrate this move of God. Government will be established to set things in their proper order. God will pour out a higher level of discernment to distinguish truth from error. New relationships will surface to open the gates to the future."

In a newsletter released earlier this week, Bentley said Wagner was the one who suggested having an official ceremony in which Bentley could be commissioned.

Perhaps you've already seen these links below... years ago?

This is showing how "commissioning" is used within NAR (or ICA = International Coalition of Apostles as it was named first) – this "commissioning" of Todd Bentley took place 2008...

Here is Stacey Campbell – hissing like a snake and shaking unhealthy while... "prophesying" ...???

Todd Bentleys Apostolic and Prophetic Commissioning 3 van 4
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RNsyN9qUGM>

It's not the ONLY time she "behaves" like this – it seems "normality" to her and her NAR-friends:
'Shaking Prophetess' Stacey Campbell - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UHjCa3Zw7go>

It is "scary"!!! ... that the "apostles and prophets" would allow her to go on...

YouTube Todd Bentleys Apostolic and Prophetic Commissioning 4 van 4
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Yg_Zao0mC4s

May I remind you that THIS "commissioning" took place while Todd Bentley was drinking alcohol and having an affair with another woman – not his wife...

<https://eu.theledger.com/story/news/2008/12/02/todd-bentley-controversy-continues/25974186007/>

"Todd Bentley has demonstrated himself unfaithful to his wife by entering into a relationship with another woman while still legally married. He has consumed more alcohol on a few occasions than is prudent or becoming a Christian leader (or any believer for that matter). His sins have been sins of the flesh and we do not defend them," the letter said.

The letter described how Bentley's downfall came about, blaming the stress of the every-night revival services that led to burnout and a lack of oversight. Bentley began having an "increased familiarity" with the intern, and in July, he told his wife, Shannah, he wanted a divorce, the letter said.

Isn't it strange that so many "apostles" and "prophets" were on stage and God DID NOT speak about this (= Bentley being unfaithful and consuming alcohol) to them – so they could have made him repent!??

So, as we can see; they mean a different strategy of "Commission" then what "The Great Commission" of The Bible is: <https://www.kingjamesbibleonline.org/Bible-Verses-About-The-Great-Commission/>

If these students, at "Asbury Revival" were born again – they already had been "commissioned"...

= it's sufficient to read The Bible and obey!!!

I continue commenting what Bill Elliff says above...

"... until The Lord comes"...

IF born again – The Holy Spirit has already come and is residing within you...

The Bible tells us "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

We don't have to wait for Him to come... or ask Him...

He IS already there/here! He lives in me – in you – in us who are born again believers!!!

Possibly, we need to wait for our thoughts to settle – so we can let go of our worries and cares...

At 2:02:53 in the broadcast...

... let's just take up that most ancient prayer of the Church – Come Holy Spirit Come.
That is one prayer we are confident got His sure answer. Let us continue to pray it...

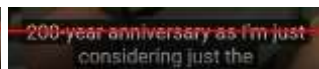

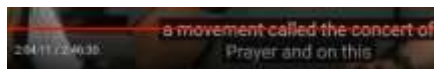

So, two hours later... they are still waiting for The Holy Spirit to come...???

Once again;

IF we are born again – The Holy Spirit moves inside of us and takes residence...

He is ALREADY with us – He does not need to “come”...

At 2:04:00 Thai Lam comes back...

...this historic Day of Prayer. It came forth out of a movement called the Concert of Prayer and on this 200 year anniversary. As I'm just considering just the kindness and faithfulness of God to resurrect this historic day in a new generation. We want to launch, really relaunch, a monthly Concert of Prayer that the last Thursday of every month. We want to cry out with one voice and call upon the name of our God that this is really not the destination, but this is really launching us into a movement of fervent prayer for breakthrough and we want to knock on the door of heaven until God answers. Because I tell you that what we're seeing, what we've seen here there's hundred and thirty, there's been a hundred thousand people who've come to Wilmore to encounter Jesus. But I tell you there's 100 million in the days to come, The Lord wants encounter as He's done here. Would you join us in this movement of fervent prayer for revival and spiritual awakening in gen Z. 20 million college students on 4,300 campuses...

Generation Z (often shorten to Gen Z) - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Generation_Z

... a movement of fervent prayer for breakthrough...

All these “movements”... all these promises of “breakthrough”... so typical within NAR...

... to encounter Jesus...

I cannot read in the Bible that we are to travel across the country – across nations – to “encounter Jesus”...

It's a bit difficult to understand "encounter"... it's like more than a "meeting"...

Matthew 24:11, 23-25

11 And many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive many.

23 Then if any man shall say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there; believe it not.

24 For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect.

25 Behold, I have told you before.

26 Wherefore if they shall say unto you, Behold, he is in the desert; go not forth: behold, he is in the secret chambers; believe it not.

I would say that these Bible verses speaks volume!

I “encounter/meet with” Jesus every time I read the Bible = He IS The Word!

I “encounter/meet with” Him when in prayers...

We don't need to “go anywhere” for this – He is “available” right where ever we are!

At 2:06:30 – we continue:

... We have some resources for you on the website collegiatedayofprayer.org

<https://collegiatedayofprayer.org/>

Collegiate Day of Prayer | A united, multi-generational day of prayer for revival and awakening on college campuses in America.

I can't see this text today - August 10, 2023 - it seems to have been replaced with another text... will come back to this a little further down...page 15.

... We have some resources and tools... .. prayer guide.

We want to invite you to consider joining our prayer guide for the next month every day.

Not sure...but I think this is the “prayer guide” he’s talking about

<https://collegiatedayofprayer.org/prayer-guide/>

<https://collegiatedayofprayer.org/resources/what-pray/> - What to Pray | Collegiate Day of Prayer

So, we must continue to pray for another student awakening. Yet, more than that – We must pray for our whole higher education system, along with all of it's professors and faculties to be awakened and transformed by the presence of Christ. We must stand together and pray as a united and multi-generational Church, until we see the Kingdom of Christ awakened and established in this generation.

A Three Phase Approach to Praying for a Student Awakening:

1) Pray for an Open Heaven — A Posture of Worship & Adoration

- Pray for the fullness of the power and presence of Jesus Christ.
- Pray for an accurate view of the glory and majesty of Jesus Christ.
- Pray for a renewed passion and an intimate affection for Jesus Christ.

2) Pray for an Open Heart — A Posture of Humility & Submission

- Pray for a response of faith, humility and surrender to the Lordship of Jesus Christ.
- Pray for a turning away from anything that would hinder a strong relationship with Jesus Christ.
- Pray for a revelation of the unfailing love, comfort and adoption of the Father through faith in Jesus Christ.

3) Pray for an Open Hand — A Posture of Joyful & Sacrificial Giving

- Pray for students to joyfully share the hope of Christ's love through generous acts of compassion and evangelism.
- Pray for students to defend the defenseless and care for the orphans and the widows.
- Pray for students to finish the remaining task of evangelizing every tongue, tribe and nation in this generation for the glory and pleasure of Jesus Christ.

“Awakening – awakened” = NOT a word about salvation or born again – isn't that interesting!??!

*“The Kingdom of Christ... established...” = This is a typical NAR teaching = Kingdom Now and Dominionism!

This is NOT of the Bible!

On page 15 I wrote that this website <https://collegiatedayofprayer.org/> must have been updated as certain text no longer is available...

So they have added this – they are planning another “prayer event”... next year in February 2024...

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/religion/2023/03/01/asbury-revival-aftermath/>
The Asbury revival is over. What happens now?

The school decided to end the on-campus services after tens of thousands of visitors flooded the campus and the small town of Wilmore, Ky., overwhelming locals and blocking traffic for miles. “The Asbury team was just fried, and there was decision fatigue, and just burnout,” Hall told Religion News Service.

And if you scroll further down the page, they show their partners...

Hm... Alpha USA... YWAM... no... I'm not going there... don't have time to comment on them all...

Thai Lam continues:

*Just take five minutes and pray for your campus and then we come back next month on the last Thursday. We don't know how, but just virtually we'll just have a call to prayer and wherever you're at that we would join together – linked arms virtually across America, across the globe and we say; “Father, as You've done before – do it again”. So we don't know when and what The Lord has in store the days ahead, but I tell you – the best days and the greater things are ahead and Asbury is but a launching pad for us.

“the best days”... what about the persecution and apostasy – that The Bible talks about in the end times???? Launching pad for “us”... who are “us”? = Collegiate Day of Prayer or NARian's agenda???

So as we close tonight and as we launch into our worship party after this; can I ask you guys just to raise your hand wherever you're at. If we raise our hands just in surrender. So Father, we say “here we are”. Here we are, we say thank You for all that you've done here at Willmore, at Asbury, God. Father we say “Blessed be the name of our God”. We say thank You for your goodness and for your power, for salvation, for healing, for deliverance, for restoration, for renewal God. And we're asking, God, that what you've started here would only multiply God. We're asking God for the fire that's burning here that You would cause the sparks of revival to go forth. We're asking, God, for the winds of heaven to blow and that You would cause the sparks here to go far and wide God. Touch the quarters of our nations God, to Washington, to California, to Main, to Florida. And we're asking God, the ends of the earth. Cause God the testimony of your Son, your power Father to go forth from here.

And we're asking God; anoint us. Everybody put your hand on your chest. Father would you anoint us with radical humility. Father, teach us how to go low, as Your Son went low. Give us eyes to see the beauty of Your Son's humility. Make us like Jesus, that we would walk how He walked and talk how He talked. That we would have the aroma of Jesus to a lost and dying world.

Anoint us with Your Son's humility.
In Jesus Name, Amen.

IF it wasn't planned (as they announced in the beginning)... would they have sent their meetings live???

Just wondering?

What is a Cultural Immersion Experience?

➔ Asbury's Cultural Immersion Experience is an immersion into another culture, engaging the student in a variety of life-spheres (family, education, religion, art, media, economics, and government). Most experiences will expose the student to cultural dynamics outside of the United States. The experience must be pre-approved by the CCE department and must be of sufficient length and intensity to have an adequate impact upon the worldview of the participant.

I'm choosing not to comment to all his babbling!!! "Parrot talk"... be aware it is NARian-talk!!!!

Just wanted to point out that the NARians acknowledge this so called "Asbury Revival"...

Here is another "acknowledgement" ...

Pete Greig, founder of the 24-7 Prayer Movement, shared both his experience at Asbury while also addressing people who may be skeptical of the revival, saying, "when it comes to reports of revival I would far rather be gullible than cynical."

I MUST ADMIT:
I am allergic to the use of
"impartation" ...
(commonly used by NARians – especially Todd Bentley!)
It immediately brings a
RED FLAG of warning!!!

I'm not commenting on this, as it is already too long a newsletter!

NAR & CHRISTIAN NATIONALISM STATEMENT

In light of the controversy surrounding the terms “New Apostolic Reformation” (NAR) and “Christian Nationalism,” we are issuing this statement of clarification.¹

1. By “NAR” we are referring to a phrase coined by several leaders in recent years to describe what they perceive as a new church reformation led by apostolic leaders. Because “NAR” means different things to different people, both positive and negative, we wanted to clarify what we do believe and distance ourselves from what we do not believe.

Prophetic Standards Statement – A Unified Call for Prophetic Accountability

At a time when there are many questions in the Body concerning the gift of prophecy and the ministry of the prophet, and in light of the needs of local pastors as well as individual believers to have practical guidelines for processing prophetic words, as Pentecostal and Charismatic leaders, we felt that now was the opportune moment to produce this current document.

It is not the purpose of this statement to condemn or accuse. Instead, our purpose is to help provide scriptural guidelines for the operation of the gift of prophecy and the functioning of the ministry of the prophet, while at the same time affirming the importance of these gifts and ministries.

Updated for clarity 8/16/22

Here you can see ALL the signatures!

289 Os Hillman Marketplace Leaders

Interesting... considering all he has promoted through the years with his “Change Agents”...

Please notice:

Bill Johnson, Rick Joyner, Todd Bentley, Cindy Jacobs... has NOT signed either of these “statements”!

Also notice:

NONE of the above statements write that they reject Catholicism, Lectio Divina, New Age or Ecumenism... Ecumenism which leads to Rome!

It sure is tempting... but I will not take time to analyse and comment on their statements – what they believe, recognize, agree, value, understand, reject, affirm, deny, denounce...

Some of their statements I agree with and much of what they believe and preach may sound Biblical – and many times it is! – but mixed with heresies, false doctrines and unbiblical strategies; it becomes “a different gospel” and it will lead you astray if you practice what they teach... be aware!

Well... I feel as if this is enough... so “I rest my case”.

So much more could have been looked into and commented... but I chose the most “obvious”...

If you scroll down; there are links and text for further readings...

I believe what I have pointed out clearly shows that many students at Asbury (and elsewhere – and adults as well!) are led into unbiblical NAR-strategies, Catholic practices and Mysticism... so we need to pray for them!

God IS Able to bring them out of this... if they get a chance to be made aware of all the false teachings...

We must dare to “contend for the Faith” which the Bible teaches!

Let's do the little we can – reach those close to us... or in NAR-language: reach those who are in our "sphere"... 😊

Since much information on the Internet can change quickly, let me just mention that the links in this newsletter worked when it was written.

I do not necessarily agree with everything that is written on the pages/articles that I have linked to in this newsletter - it's just the article or the excerpt I've linked to that I want to emphasize.

PLEASE NOTE!

This newsletter is not intended as a personal attack on self-proclaimed “NAR-apostles and prophets” and “NARians”, Asbury faculty and their students as human beings. God will judge them, not we.

But we must admit that much is required of those in leadership of a “revival” and of those within “Apostolic- and Prophetic movements”, who claim to have “special gifts” and “anointing”... who are prophesying and decreeing wildly!!!! As well as of those who are Bible believers – the importance to abide in the Biblical doctrines and love the Truth therein...

inte får tillbe honom på hedningarnas sätt. De här övningarna ingår i Asbury och står tydligt med bild och text på deras egen Facebook-sida. Här finns stora frågetecken. De har också Advent Vesper sedan många år, som är en katolsk och ortodox liturgi.

OHLINS: What's going on in Asbury Seminary Chapel? If this were a genuine revival, they would immediately renounce the 24/7 prayer that teaches Contemplative Prayer and renounce Lectio Divina. These are so-called spiritual exercises that belong in pagan Eastern spirituality and mysticism but have nothing to do with the Bible. In Deuteronomy 12, God specifically says that we must not worship him in the way of the heathen. These exercises are part of Asbury and are clearly displayed with pictures and text on their own Facebook page. There are big question marks here. They also have Advent Vespers for many years, which is a Catholic and Orthodox liturgy.

Kom bara ihåg att verklig väckelse alltid föregås av predikan och undervisningen av Guds bevarade ord, Asbury Revival verkar ta ganska lätt på dessa saker.

(Sv = Swedish) Everyone is talking about the Asbury Revival but so far there is very little Scripture, lots of emotion and Hillsong and Bethel music, so it's not a good start. Everyone Is Talking About The Asbury Revival But So Far It's Very Little Scripture, Lots Of Emotions, And Hillsong And Bethel Music, So That's Not A Great Start

Just remember, real revival is always preceded by the preaching and teaching of God's preserved word, the Asbury Revival seems to be quite light on these things.

Let me start off by saying that it is a little too early to tell if the Asbury revival is a work of the flesh or a work of the Holy Spirit, at this point the jury is still out, and it could easily go either way. That, I believe, is a true and fair assessment of what's going on over there at Asbury University. If real revival of the Holy Spirit is indeed breaking out, sign me up and I will happily go and be a part of it. Now let me tell you what I consider to be provably false revival. The Lakeland Revival of 2008 was a sham from the start, and it featured demonic preacher Todd Bentley enthraling his followers with angel's feathers falling from the ceiling, as well as gold teeth dropping out of the sky. I feel the same way about the Brownsville Revival and the Toronto Blessing, total Word of Faith nonsense.

Om Asbury Revival på FB öppet: Tydligt är folk från NAR inblandade som vanligt!

About Asbury Revival on FB (FaceBook) openly: Apparently people from NAR are involved as usual!

Brian Roden Have you watched the videos... ? Sadly i was part of this here and i Mexico, huge conferences that lasted days, emotions emotions emotions... unbiblical teachings, no gospel, lots of singing For sure... is not that i am skeptical that God can work in our generation, but this is exactly the same as all those fake revivals in history that amount to nothing, except for the exposure it brings through the media and that it fuels charismatics / pentecostals to believe their own lies about healing, miracles and nonsense... there is a reason why the only people you see encouraging this are all the ones tied to NAR or pentecostal churches...

OHLINS: Vi kunde höra exakt samma rapporter från Toronto – Pensacola – Lakeland – så vad skiljer? Vi får avvakta och se. Det finns flera orsmoment, som att det ska finnas kopplingar till NAR. Andra säger att det är enbart känslomässigt och sjunga lovsång dygnet runt. Så har ingen äkta väckelse kommit till och lär inte heller komma. Åter andra rapporter säger att det är (känslomässig) Bethel Church-lovsång. Det som kännetecknar äkta väckelser är förkrosselse, syndanöd (ett gammalt begrepp som är lika aktuellt och nödvändigt idag), biblisk förkunnelse och äkta/sanna under. Allt detta har saknats i det som har kallats "väckelse" sedan 90-talets Toronto och frukten har inte varit god.

OHLINS: We could hear the exact same reports from Toronto - Pensacola - Lakeland - so what differ? We'll have to wait and see. There are several points of concern, such as that there should be connections to NAR. Others say it is purely emotional and praises are sung around the clock. In that way no genuine revival has come about and will not come. Still other reports say it is (emotional) Bethel Church-worship songs. The hallmarks of genuine revivals are brokenness, distress for his sin (an ancient concept that is just as relevant and necessary today), biblical preaching and genuine/true miracles. All this has been missing in what has been called "revival" since the Toronto of the 90s and the fruit has not been good.

I attended the Asbury Revival and Here's What I Saw

OHLINS: Tydligt är någon ny sk "väckelse" på gång? Under videon finns en bra kommentar.

OHLINS: Apparently some new so-called "revival" is going on? Below the video there is a good comment.

I think many Christians do want revival. However, they do not really understand what true revival is. They want to experience Christians of all types come together and sing emotionally. To them, often due to lack of sitting under biblical preaching and not knowing church history and of true revivals, they are content with this. To them, it does not matter if those claiming to have been moved by the "revival" continue to support abortion, homosexuality, transgenderism, alcohol, immodesty, etc., as long as they all sing together; whereas in true revivals, jails were emptied, police officers were bored because of lack of crime, bars closed because they had no customers, sports teams were disbanded because people no longer cared about such entertainment, families were restored, biblical marriage was promoted, people stopped taking God's name in vain, debts were paid, communities were changed, and more.

In this, people may come for the experience, think it is a move of God, yet leave supporting the same sins that they supported before.

Millions of liberal Christians who support sin meet together every week in church buildings and sing good hymns, yet still support sin. In a real revival, people repent of their sins, leave them, and oppose them. Historians are still debating whether some revivals in the past were real revivals, yet many proclaim this a revival after a day or two. We must be careful. I hope we will see people turn from sin they they used to embrace—even in the church. Something as simple as the uniforms that the Asbury volleyball players wear, for example, would not be supported by the players experiencing revival, for they would want to dress modestly. Many are hopeful, as am I. However, when the second temple was built, many rejoiced, while those who had seen the magnificence of the first temple wept, knowing the true glory of God.

Live | ASBURY REVIVAL 2023 (Final Day)

If you know – please, let me know!

REPLT #1

It appears to be someone named Bill Elliff. I had sent over an updated list on the CDOP participants to Lighthouse Trails over time, as it is not only the speakers but a lot of the music people and people on stage who were identified over time, which seemed to help paint fuller picture of participants.

When noting one of the rare times the Asbury “Revival” and the CDOP event were mentioned and connected, the following was written up:

One of the last speakers at the CDOP event February 23rd in Hughes Auditorium at Asbury University was Bill Elliff, National Engage pastor at the Summit Church Little Rock. He claims to have “been a student of God’s revival moments across history for 50 years,” who traveled for several years to churches helping them pursue God in revival. He is also “a founding member of the OneCry initiative that seeks to help pastors and churches pursue God for revival and spiritual awakening.” That initiative is one of the contributors to the Collegiate Day of Prayer Movement, which seems to focus on revival and awakening in many of the related articles.

Per his February 11 blog entry entitled Reflections from Asbury, he and his wife decided the previous day – – or just two days after the initial Wednesday chapel event – – to travel to Asbury:

<https://billeliff.org/blogs/news/reflections-from-asbury>

“Many are asking me what I’m observing, though, so I would give these cursory thoughts. Heaven records the full reality. 1. This is real. God is very present.”

On February 17, he posted the following:
<https://billeliff.org/blogs/news/reflections-from-asbury-part-6>

"What if God intends to save the next generation? To redeem them from the clutches of our culture and set them ablaze for His missionary purposes? And what if Asbury is the beginning in our day?"

"Ten years ago, a group of 50 Christian leaders met in Atlanta for a day to ask a question: What can we do to cooperate with God to help foster revival and awakening? The leaders of the OneCry initiative had convened this meeting, and the men in the room were well-known leaders who all shared a burning passion for the movement of God. We longed to see the next Great Awakening."

"As we began that day, we went around the room, introducing ourselves by sharing when it was that each of us developed a passion for revival. As each man spoke, the vast majority traced the birth of this passion from one source: The Jesus Movement in the early 1970s. It had changed their lives and forever put a taste under their tongue for God's presence. In the spiritual fires of that visitation from God, we had all realized that more could be accomplished in five minutes of God's presence than 50 years of our best human effort."

"Last night I was invited back to my alma mater, Ouachita Baptist University in Arkansas, to speak about what I had observed at Asbury during my recent visit. I was a freshman at OBU in 1970. On one day in the spring of 1970, God came in unusual power at a student-led noon service. The 15-minute service continued through the afternoon. All classes were canceled. Hundreds of students were overwhelmed by the manifest presence of God. God moved through that crowd that grew throughout the day, changing lives. Testimonies erupted of repentance, people clearing their consciences with those they'd wronged, salvation, humility, and brokenness."

"I stood and spoke to students last night in the small chapel where that occurred and suddenly realized that day had completely changed the trajectory of my life. As a student, the next 50+ years of life and ministry were dramatically shaped by an encounter with the manifest presence of God during a season of revival and awakening."

With all of that as prelude, nine days after the February chapel and six days before a certain event, Elliff printed the following:

"It is absolutely no coincidence that for over a year, the nationwide broadcast for the Collegiate Day of Prayer has been scheduled to be livestreamed from Hughes Auditorium on the campus of Asbury University this Thursday, February 23rd."

"Next Thursday, what is happening in the sacred spot of God's visitation will be opened to everyone. Believers and churches will adopt the 4,196 American colleges and universities nationwide for laser-focused prayer. You and your church or campus can adopt a campus and join this 2-hour livestream from the auditorium in Asbury here: <https://collegiatedayofprayer.org/>. Gather your church or campus to watch and pray. (Please take time to read of the amazing history of God's revivals on campuses here: <https://collegiatedayofprayer.org/about/history/>. It will give great perspective to you regarding what is happening right now.)"

"What if millions of believers united on this one day to pray for God to visit every campus with an extraordinary movement of God's Spirit that produced extraordinary results?"

"The providence of God has provided this. And, adding further fuel to God's fire, the "Jesus Revolution" movie (produced by Jon Erwin, whose father was radically changed by the Jesus Movement) premiers across America the very next day (February 24th). It will be seen by millions."

"God is out to save a generation. Will we cooperate? Will we pray?"

Again, after proclaiming "this is real" on February 11, he then spoke about it being "absolutely no coincidence" that the CDOP event has been scheduled there for over a year.

QUESTION #2

But at first glance... he seems only to be an elder

<https://thesummitchurch.org/ourleadership>

So... would you categorize him as involved with NAR apostles and prophets?

Is he self-proclaimed apostle or prophet?

Or "just" involved within Word Faith Movement?

REPLY #2

I don't know about that, not only because what I have had time to look up on Elliff has been largely summed up by some of the material below, but because it appears that while some involved may fall into the camp mentioned, others might not be identified that way specifically.

As with many of the issues with what is discussed on the Lighthouse Trails site, one issue could be a group or groups with problematic doctrine having an active push towards new age / emergent / contemplative etc. things, while other groups could've been seen more strongly evangelical at one point (maybe years, decades, or centuries ago) but may not seem to be sufficiently on guard against problematic doctrine (and might already have some problematic doctrine of their own). There may be evidence of that present amidst the different parties involved.

From my perspective, there actually appear to be at least two main prongs of those who ultimately were involved. Both prongs seem to want and/or push for "revival" and "awakening". One prong would be the IHOP type camp. The other prong would be those seeking "revival"/"awakening" from the Wesleyan and / or "Holiness" tradition.

An interview below in which some of the differences are highlighted points out that the Wesleyan and Holiness movement isn't necessarily charismatic/Pentecostal. However, there may seem to be a confluence of movement/doctrinal outlooks that may have markings that are similar in some cases with some individuals.

That also seems to manifest in what some of the students expressed as far as talking of seeing signs, apparently saying that God told them or showed them something, or seeming to characterize what they claim to have heard in a way that didn't seem to be allowing for qualifiers. That could include seeming to give the impression that they were being led a certain way but actually indicating that they thought God was directly telling them something, even in using specific words that they repeated like it happened perhaps in a conversational manner.

One example would be a member of the gospel choir who talked about her family background related to the Salvation Army. There's an example of an organization that not only reportedly came from the Holiness movement but over time evidently has been more and more open to more of the New Age, contemplative, emergent, mystical influences as noted by Lighthouse Trails etc.

Going to the second prong of the influencers, something that seemed apparent was that those affiliated with Asbury, either through the college/university or through the associated Asbury Theological Seminary across the street.

One area of crossover is the IHOP, charismatic contingent that also may study at the University or more prominently, at Asbury Theological Seminary. Someone who appears to travel in both circles as it were is Ruben Cervantes. You may know him from the collegiate day of prayer video as the guy with glasses who was the primary music leader with the acoustic guitar:

<https://rubencervantes.com/mystory>

Per the above, Ruben Cervantes is both a high level employee in IHOP but an Asbury Theological Seminary graduate, who according to his website is close to obtaining his PhD from there, and whose related "research is on Revival and Spiritual Awakening". Here he is singing with that person evidently from IHOP who was seen on camera through much of the collegiate day of prayer who then seemed to go into shouting and screaming leading into what IHOP's Allen Hood then said there:

Amariah Mello X Ruben Cervantes - Whirlwind \(Sanctify Us\) | ANTHEM ROOM SESSION - YouTube

(There was a further breakdown done of many of the different participants like Hood and some singers as well as song and artist listing if there are further people unidentified from the event on your end.)

Cervantes was also evidently endorsed on one early podcast as somebody seemingly whose thoughts needed to get out further; this endorsement was by JD Walt, one of the heads of what I'd call the second prong of the Wesleyan-Holiness movement connected with the "Asbury community" (as it was called by university president Kevin Brown). If you're not yet familiar with JD Walt, David Thomas, and their associated groups Seedbed, New Room, and so forth, they and several in these orgs reportedly not only have been actively pushing towards goals of revival and awakening, but basically deployed to this event reportedly within hours of it starting. They then began to "shepherd" the event in certain ways, all of which is still being documented and cataloged in hopes for sharing an overall timeline and picture of events and participants.

All that is to illustrate how much crossover there has become between groups and contingencies. Anyhow, this recently came out and gives more information in part of the mindset of somebody who was front and center on the stage for the collegiate day of prayer. Below are some excerpts from a podcast Cervantes recently appeared in giving his perspective -- it appears there is a YouTube transcript along with the video. All of this seems quite noteworthy given his prominent place at the collegiate day prayer event (including per the video, directing people to get into groups and say/pray on certain things) and his reported connections with many people involved:

The Road To Restoration Podcast - The Story Behind Asbury Revival - Feat. Ruben Cervantes

Podcast host Sergio De La Mora

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FX4K4Q2RFSU>

Also, after mentioning February 8 chapel speaker Zach Meerkreebs and potentially indicating having known him, he then talks about "my other friend, Georges Dumaine, he was leading a gospel choir" at the same chapel. I only recently learned about this person, and if you're not familiar with Dumaine, his role seems quite remarkable in retrospect — especially from the perspective that any retelling and contextualizing of the events of February 8th that seeks to present an honest, accurate picture would have done well to discuss his role and his background as a matter of forthrightness. That a grand total of zero people have appeared to sufficiently contextualized Dumaine's presence there in all of the narratives I have read to this date is what is remarkable.

Note that what is being presented has been cast as "the story behind Asbury revival", a title which seems to keep coming up in various ways and figures to likely continue as different figures come forward giving their version of things — and perhaps joining that to further things that might be on the person's mind, as in this case.

"Bob" also provided the transcript from the Live Broadcast at Asbury on February 23, 2023:

I felt inspired to include it – in case someone is interested to read it...

The people at Lighthouse Trails indicated you were interested in more details and information about Asberry. Rather than forwarding stuff I'd sent a while ago, much of which has had to be updated, I'm happy to set an along the information and links encountered thus far. Much of what I've already sent over there is already outdated and has needed to be updated as more information has come out or been found, such as the following regarding the CDOP event:

Collegiate Day of Prayer Broadcast 2023 // Live From Asbury University Feb 23rd; May update

https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=5h859_Z8R3g

This does not purport to be a complete transcript, but much has been attempted to be transcribed. This attempts to identify participants despite the reported decision (notably after national and international headlines were already secured) to pivot away from what had been planned with Warren, Chan, etc. to something where names were not highlighted -- save of course, for Asbury university and the Collegiate Day of Prayer (as well as Asbury University president Dr. Kevin Brown and Luke18 / IHOP / CDOP's Thai Lam via the TBN broadcast.

Also, multiple people on the stage and thus on camera during the event had IHOPU shirts (one in particular was on camera for an extended period of time), and one also had a KC cap that might relate to Lam's IHOPKC. this latest update comes right after learning that one of the most prominent music/"worship" leaders present for this event appears to be Ruben Cervantes, who is both a high level employee in IHOP but an Asbury theological seminary graduate, who according to his website is close to obtaining his PhD from there, and whose related "research is on Revival and Spiritual Awakening".

Another singer evidently involved with IHOP — who had a particularly expressive performance, particularly what sounded like shouting screaming at the end of one music section that led into the comments of Allen Hood — has just apparently been identified: Amariah Mello Alonge. She initially seemed to be one of the college students given her age and prominence on the stage, who was in the camera shots of many of the speakers, as she stood there rocking back-and-forth for most of the event.

Additional related comments and observations are planned (and some seeped into this already), but it seemed appropriate to document this event, especially given certain comments of the Asbury University president and others.

From CDOP simulcast, the wording on the video says 'Collegiate Day of Prayer Broadcast: For Revival and Awakening on College Campuses / LIVE FROM ASBURY UNIVERSITY'

The first song on that being played was Rest On Us by Maverick City featuring UPPERROOM. Maverick City has also collaborated with Elevation Music (reportedly connected with Furtick's Elevation Church), next was Worthy of It All by David Brymer; next was Be Enthroned by Bethel Music; next was All Hail King Jesus by Jeremy Riddle (per Wiki, of Bethel Music) — at this point, a video feed from Hughes auditorium comes in; rapid clapping accompanies this song.

It is noteworthy that the last two songs appear to be led by one of the people that continued to sing February 8 — and then was shown later on stage in the initial Asbury Collegian article from the middle of the stage singing — who later appeared to be at the top middle of the stage for most if not all of the rest of the evening. Before the video came on, I had a feeling that it might be the same person.

It seems noteworthy that this person was in the center of things on February 8 and apparently likes to continue to sing for extended periods, which may well have be one of the influences of why things may have run a little over at the time in question, as the chapel video appears to indicate. During the set of songs that were played before the speaker on the Wednesday, February 8 chapel service, this person took the lead vocal, proceeded to move to the front and center of the stage, and the song lasted approximately 10 minutes.

The two songs he appeared to sing at the February 23rd event covered approximately 13 minutes, much of which appear to be repetitions of a handful of words with gospel variations, which also does not appear to be something out of the ordinary but would understandably be practiced and gone over multiple times. (Aside: this is noted in particular as far as what was being considered a sign of "revival" which actually is often a mark of many singers and programs, especially those associated with music programs who want to hone and maintain their skills on an ongoing basis.)

May update: it was upon going through the video from the Shane Claiborne interview February 12, or four days after the Wednesday February chapel service, that a name was finally put to the performer of Georges Dumaine:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7fnQP_6QSNQ

Lena Marlowe, one of the gospel choir who was spotlighted as such at the collegiate day of prayer event, said the following in the February 12 video: "Madeleine Black who's actually the chapel coordinator, she told Ben Black who's her husband, director of gospel choir, to come up with a song of response for the end. And we did 'Goodness of God', and it was me and Georges Dumaine and Sarah Cauley (sp). And I'm not highlighting these names for any glory, but just to just be specific." (Also appears that Ben Black was the accompanist on the piano to the three of them.)

It appears that the person, Georges Dumaine, at the time of the February 8th chapel and the CDOP in the same space was a 37-year old father of five who had been an IHOP Jax worship leader and moved to KC to join the IHOPKC Night Watch:

<https://web.archive.org/web/20130910182208/http://haitianpearl.org/about/leadership/>

There are numerous Twitter accounts, many of which name check or repost stuff from Mike Bickle, with other posts speaking of "revival". He even has of Twitter/Instagram post from 2013 in which he shows his staff badge for IHOP. His Facebook page had IHOPKC / Luke18 / CDOP figure Thai Lam listed near of the top of the initial friends page when I first saw it, with many other IHOP / YWAM associated figures friended. Another prominent figure from the CDOP whom he friended is Asbury Theological Seminary grad student and high-level IHOP staffer Ruben Cervantes.

There were also many Asbury Theological Seminary friends, and though he reportedly lived in Kansas City for the better part of the last decade and is now listed at an address in Orlando, he sang this past December 2022 at an Asbury theological seminary program as a featured singer. Notably on the list of recent friends is the aforementioned Madeleine Black, the coordinator of chapel at Asbury University. Another recent friend is Mark Swayze, pastor at the Woodlands Methodist Church which is reportedly associated with New Room / Awakening Project / Seedbed and so forth.

The next song was Your Praise Will Ever Be on My Lips by "Ever Be by Bethel Music". It appears that one of the other of the three singers onstage at the end of February 8 chapel is the singer here. Next is Another Wave (Of Rival) by Lindy Cofer (some sites say Linda Conant) and Circuit Rider music, who appears to be connected with YWAM missions. Some of the musicians do not appear to be students seen here before, and might be some of the promised musicians per their February 1 CDOP announcement "from International House of Prayer, Circuit Riders + Black Voices Movement (BVM), and Met By Love Worship". One of these that didn't look like a student seen before encourages the crowd to sing the lyrics "tsunamis of revival".

What appeared to follow was the chorus of How Great is Your Love by Phil Wickham, who per Wiki "attends Harvest Christian Fellowship and his pastor is Greg Laurie." No other lyrics but "how great is your love" were repeated over and over, which had been preceded by "the King is coming" sung over and over. This was followed by the words "we crown you King of glory" sung repeatedly — 17 times, in fact — with no discernible corresponding song attached. (Upon checking the video of the singer with a BVM performance from a month ago, it appears to me to be the same singer.)

Another one of the singers — now evidently identified as IHOP's Ruben Cervantes — who sings many songs during this and don't recall seeing before references Psalm 24 and starts singing repeatedly "we open up the gates, let the King of glory enter in". Then he starts to sing "Lord we need you, Lord we want you" repeatedly, evidently inviting the students to join in with "could we just tell him this?" and then singing the same words over and over. As people sing along to that he eventually transitions to "(we say) highest praises, Lord of all" sung repeatedly, which apparently goes back to the Bethel Music "Be Enthroned" song. This makes way to I / We Exalt Thee by Jesus Culture, which per Wiki "is a Christian revivalist youth oriented organization that was formed at the Bethel Church".

He then goes back to a repetition of "we exalt Thee".

At this point, the 45 minute counter to the start of the event has elapsed, and he asks the crowd "would you sing we exalt Thee?" The dirge-like chant with closed eyes of "we exalt thee" goes on until a young unidentified guy (who appears per other news reports to be Asbury University student Canaan Yan) comes out and sounds possibly on the verge of tears, asks people to look around them and asks them "aren't you so grateful to be here?" He thanks Jesus: "we are so thankful that You have orchestrated all of these. None of us of have foreseen this from happening but Jesus, it's only You, and only You can do it."

After that person finishes, onto the stage comes Asbury University president Dr. Kevin Brown.

I want to extend a welcome to you this evening, welcoming the students that are here in the space, welcoming all of the students across the country who are participating online. It is my privilege this evening to provide some context to what's been happening in the space over the last couple of weeks. On February 8, right here, a regularly scheduled chapel service never ended.

(Applause break)

And in addition to students here, in addition to students across the street, colleges and universities representing over 200 schools, students flocking in from all over the country have joined with us over the last couple of weeks. And other guests have come from every region of the United States, and even from pockets from the world, and I just want to say: This. Was. Not. Planned. (Laughter, smiles)

This was not a function of an innovative state of the art facility. It was not a function of a slick marketing scheme. There was no program planning committee, and it's not because of celebrities or professional musicians. This has been a nameless, titleless movement, and tonight will be no different.

(Applause, noises like whooping; also, in the TBN simulcast, as he says that, his name and title are put up there as "Dr. Kevin Brown, President of Asbury University", though the CDOP simulcast complies with the reportedly nameless and titleless theme.)

So many, so many have humbly endeavored to consistently elevate Jesus Christ as the focal point. And the atmosphere and the spirit of the space is reminiscent of those characteristics we see in James chapter 3: pure, peaceable gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy, full of fruit, no partiality, no hypocrisy. And consistent with other stories, I am a first-hand witness of radical humility, of humanizing compassion, raw confession and honesty, a self-emptying consecration, and life-altering commitment.

What started with students has over just a couple of weeks swell to thousands upon thousands of hungry hearted guests. What has happened here — what is happening here — is truly extraordinary. The selflessness displayed by many to create space at the table has been inspiring, one of the most inspiring things I have ever seen in my entire life. The collective godliness, the hospitable goodwill. Unparalleled. And importantly, we are seeing this spiritual fire beginning to flare in a variety of other spaces. (turns page of binder on lectern.)

But please, hear this. Please hear this: the trajectory of renewal is always deeper. The trajectory of renewal is always outward. Discipleship, habituating practices that make us more like Christ; the missional instinct to bend the universe in favor of our neighbor, in favor of the widow, in favor of the orphan, in favor of the alien. The compulsion to bear witness to a different king and to a different kingdom, and the political statement that Jesus is Lord. (Applause break).

The trajectory is a holy life, virtuous and pure, expressed in neighbor serving, God-honoring work. Oh Lord, make us different, give us different eyes, help us to see like Jesus, give us a different heart. Help us to love and to live like Christ — for the fullest realization of our humanity, and the fullest edification of the communities that we inhabit, and the common good, and ultimately for God's glory, the glorification of God; Amen.

TBN screen says "Thai Lam, executive Director – Luke 18 project and international House of prayer KC"
Welcome, welcome, welcome. Tonight, we celebrate the 200th year anniversary of the collegiate day of prayer. (Applause break.)

200 years ago, 1823, coming out of the second great awakening, a move of God that swept through the New England college campuses, where at that time, students would come into college barely knowing and walking with God. And the Spirit of God would encounter entire generations of students where by the time students would graduate, they were spiritually formed, marked by the Gospel, and launched into a whole hearted pursuit of ministry, missions. And the mothers and fathers of that day, their prayer was Father, what you did in the previous generation, Father would you do it again in the next generation?

In 1823, every major denomination and every university campus in America adopted the last Thursday of February as united, multi-generational day of prayer for revival and spiritual awakening on college campuses. And today, we're standing in the wake of 200 year old prayers.

(Applause break; it is noteworthy that it appears one of the people that continued to sing February 8 and then was shown later on stage in the initial article in the middle of the stage singing is standing and has just put his arms up during this at the top middle of the stage)

And as we're, I guess we're just beholding all that the Lord has done here at Asbury, I believe that we are standing in the wake of the prayers of mothers and fathers. And as we are, as we're looking to what God is doing in this moment, I believe that there is a divine invitation for us to pray the same prayer: Father, do it again. Father, do it again.

(Applause)

This moment... to be here for the collegiate day of prayer. We've been planning this for probably two years now, and we planned to be here last May. And just in the Lord's providence, He wanted for us to have this moment of prayer coming out of 15 days of nonstop worship, prayer, confession, repentance and beholding Jesus. And as we start our evening, I want to read to us out of Philippians 2, because the spirit of what God's been doing here these past 15 days has been one of radical humility and beholding Jesus.

(Reads Phil 2:1-11)
(Applause)

Someone unidentified comes up, which upon checking appears to be Dr. Timothy Tennent, president of Asbury Theological Seminary

Join me in prayer, shall we: gracious and beautiful Father we come before you basking anew in the power and the promise of the gospel, the glorious gospel. And Lord, for these past 16 days, you have met us here and reminding the world that You are the risen Lord. And we pray tonight and we dedicate this night to You to ignite a fire throughout this country, through You and in the world. Lord you have visited Gen Z, You have awakened this generation. He is with you; He is with you in your coming and your going and your weeping and rejoicing. He is with you.

And may God use you to bring every school in every university and every ministry in this nation that He touched in a supernatural way. So we commit, Lord, these hours of prayer to you. Awaken us from casual prayer and domesticated Christianity and culturally compromised churches. And Lord, ignite a fire across this nation and the world, we pray. Hallelujah. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(Applause, piano starts; Hillsong music's, King of Kings is played)
(someone says we are collecting the students from Asbury, and four students read some verses with piano in background)

(Applause)

Alison Perfater (name not on screen, but is on the screen in the document around the Collegiate Day of Prayer website video recently uploaded, as well as being noted as being student body president in the video of the Wednesday, February 8 chapel service)

Well, a lifetime wouldn't be long enough to talk about what God has started here but I'll do the best I can under three minutes. Yeah, I mean, on Wednesday, February 8, a very small but very faithful group of Asbury students listened to the nudging of the Holy Spirit and stayed in chapel a little longer, and then a little longer, and then way longer, and we had no idea that the world was about to know God better.

(Applause)

And we had no idea that we and our campus was about to become a mission field. And we had no idea the things that God was going to do — and we still don't, but hundreds have come to know Christ for the first time. And thousand have come to re-commit their lives and their hearts to the Christian faith. And so we celebrate that tonight, and we join together in prayer tonight, and just acknowledge this is not the result of some remarkably spiritual environment, but that the Spirit has descended upon us because He wanted to, and we're so thankful.

And some of you might be thinking this is like the grand finale or or the the last night of revival, but I just want to encourage you to think again, because this is this is the beginning and... (Applause)

The Holy Spirit is not going anywhere, and in His word, He says — it says now the Lord is the Spirit and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. And while this revival has been a ridiculously unique experience, I just also want to say that like, this is the reality of our lives as believers, and like this is Christians being Christians. And so I welcome you to this collegiate night of prayer. I welcome you to the last official service of this revival, but I welcome you to the rest of our lives abiding in Christ.

(Applause, then the "we exalt Thee" singer — Ruben Cervantes — plays the song How great is our God by Chris Tomlin, then what seems to be a break when the singer says "let's just get into small groups". It appeared that in one of the small groups, the school president's wife is present.)

(Next is Ruben Cervantes singing To Worship You I Live by Matt Gillman)

Thai Lam:

We want to invite you tonight if you're wanting prayer, we're opening up the altars here. These ones — some of them have been praying here afternoon and evening, day after day. And so if there's something in your heart that you want prayer for, you want breakthrough, freedom, or you want to come to Jesus, feel free to make your way to the altar.

Tonight as we continue in prayer, as of this moment, there's been 4614 campus ministries, churches, and individuals who adopted 4200 college campuses and, thank you Jesus. What would it be like if every college campus had three, 5, 10 churches, ministries that are covering and saturating these campuses in prayer. I wanna invite you — would you pull out your phone, go to collegiatedayofprayer.org. We wanna invite you to adopt a campus that's near your home, that you go to school at, a campus near your heart and one that's unengaged in the gospel. We would love to see 10,000 ministries, churches, individuals adopting every campus. And so we're believing God that the Lord would raise up down the street from these campuses friends that believe in God for revival and spiritual awakening.

New guy, appears to be college student

Hello. Y'all this has been good; this has real powerful, y'all. Well, we're a couple college students from UK and ECU and we've been tasked with saying some of our life verses tonight...

Zeke Atha, Asbury student (who was also one of the people present giving announcements at the Wednesday February 8 chapel service and was listed there as Chapel Intern)

It is the gift of God. God cannot help but give us good gifts. He gives us a beautiful world in which we can worship Him. He gives us His image in which we are made and He gives us the very breath in our lungs — let's take a breath together, breathe in and breathe out. That breath was a gift from God. He is present here, but we see this brokenness in our world, we see the brokenness in our own lives, and we know that sometimes we take the gifts of God and we elevate them above God Himself.

In the garden, the serpent got Adam and Eve to question God's goodness: has God really given the best to you or is He withholding something from you? And when we decided to take something that was less than God and put it above Him, that is what the Bible calls sin. And sin has a cost. The Scriptures say the wages of sin is death, and so when we as Adam and Eve chose to put something — a gift — above God, we inherited death. But God out of his goodness, He continues to give again. And He chooses a solid group of people called the Israelites and He says I'm gonna give you a promised land and I'm gonna give you a law to help you be reminded of how good how holy I am.

But what do we do again? We take the law, we take the promised land, the Israelites take the promised land, and we manipulate it, we control it. We say we can't live up to this standard but we're gonna hold other people to this standard. And the law gives a way for us to be made right. (?) It says if you sacrifice a perfect lamb, a lamb without blemish, the lamb's blood will cover your sin and cleanse you.

But of course, the Israelites and we cannot hold the standard of the law. So God says out of My abundance I'm gonna give you the perfect sacrifice. And His name is Jesus. And like we just read, it's a gift of God, God cannot help but give Himself away.

In Philippians 2:10, He did not count equality with God something to be grasped, but He gave himself away. He poured Himself out in the form of a servant. And as the wages of sin is death, there on that cross, Jesus took the punishment that we deserve because He was the worthy Lamb. He lived the perfect life. He never had a sinful thought. But He took the wrath of God on the cross. We forget that the cross is an instrument of torture — it's all over, it's on the water tower, but thank you, Jesus that He gave it all out of Himself to forgive us our sins. He is the perfect Lamb. He washes our sins away, and not only that, He died but He rose again. He defeated sin and He defeated the grave.

This is the best news. In our church, we've often misconstrued the perfect gift that He gives called eternal life. We think often that eternal life is something we get when we die, but scripture says Jesus said in John 17:3 and this is eternal life that they know You, the true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent. Eternal life is not something you inherit only after death, but you can experience the free gift of God today.

And all that he requires from you is that you repent, you turn away from the ways you have elevated things other than God, and you say, God you deserve it all, because You died on the cross, and You rose again giving a free gift of grace. And all we have to do is repent. And my brother Christian, he's going to he's going to give a little glimpse of how God has given a free gift of grace in his own life. So let's give it up for Christian right now.

(Applause)

Christian:

So, Zeke talked about good gifts, the gifts that God gives us. I'm gonna briefly talk about God's gift of kindness which leads to repentance. For the last two weeks, we have been given the gift of God's kindness and have experienced outpouring of His love. As a result of His kindness being poured out, we have experienced radical humility and repentance. Repentance is one of the intended outcomes of receiving God's kindness, as we see this in Romans 2:4 which says God's kindness is intended to lead you to repentance. God has been meeting with us in a kind and gentle way that has overwhelmed us with His love in the natural reaction that is repentance. We have seen this since day one. So many students gathered at the altars or in their seats or were confessing sins and turning from ungodly patterns in their life.

Not because of worship, not because of an awesome sermon, sorry Zach, not because of a perfect worded altar call. But because they experienced God's love and kindness which led to repentance, they experienced godly sorrow rather than worldly sorrow. 2 Corinthians 7:10 says godly sorrow brings repentance that leads to salvation and leaves no regret, while worldly sorrow brings death. Practical differences between godly and worldly sorrow is that worldly sorrow is being upset that you got caught, being afraid of the consequences. Worldly sorrow is sadness that does not lead to repentance. But godly sorrow is being broken over grieving the heart of God, caring more about your spiritual condition than the consequences of your sins, being willing to die to self, surrender everything to Him, and generally turn 180° from your sin in a walk towards Him.

I've seen God's kindness lead me to repentance my own life. I shared briefly last week about how God had removed pride of my life just up there (points to balcony). I got to Hughes late, and I was in a bad mood. I wasn't able to sit on the floor, and I had all this pride in my heart. And I felt like God was gently saying to me Christian, is this your fire or is this Mine. And that just broke me. I could just feel God's gentle kindness leading me to that godly sorrow. And I just asked him to kill Christian Alexander in that moment, and that I would die to self. And when I left, I took a picture of my seen saying that was my tombstone, that's where I died just as a reminder. Applause.

But He was gentle in pointing out my pride. And His kind allowed me to have godly sorrow, which led me to turn from my prideful state and die to self. For the last two weeks, we've been lingering in the outpouring of God's love and kindness, and have been changed. My prayer is that we would have our hearts opened to the love and kindness of God, and it will result in experiencing God's healing, and the gentle pointing out of sins, which leads to godly sorrow, genuine repentance, death to self, and a lot of tombstones. (Applause)

Zach Meerkreebs (chapel speaker on February 8):

That's not just good news. That's best news. Good news is when my wife shows up and I missed her. Good news is when there's free Indian food. Best news is Jesus died on the cross for us, amen? And the best news demands a response; what's your response? Over the last couple of weeks, we've had different ways to respond to the outpouring of God's love. so I want to address everyone in the room. anyone in the extension sites, anyone else joining us online. I wanna invite us to respond.

OK? I'm gonna give us three ways to respond, and I'm gonna ask for an action — we're gonna fall to our knees. Wherever you're at, whether... country, wherever, your campus, but we're gonna fall to our knees, but these are three ways we respond. When you experience the love of God, when He confronts you with the love of God, we respond. The first one as we hear, kindness leads us to repentance, some of us need to fall to our knees and repent for our sins.

The second response is you will be on your knees crying out for your campus to be confronted by the love of God, for an outpouring of the love of God; maybe it's your friends maybe you speak of a specific friend. Right now, I think of my friend Keegan.

Maybe it is your family like my family, Miriam; Gary. Maybe it's a nation. Would you fall to knees and cry out for repentance? And then Some of you by Pastor Zeke said, you're ready to give your life to Christ, to repent and believe wherever you're at?

So we're gonna come to our knees now. So go ahead.

(People begin to kneel)

We stay focused, we stay focused. So first, first response is that you just feel the need to repent for sins in your life, the second one is your crying out for the outpouring of God's love to lead people to repentance on your campus and your family and the nations or your friends, and some of you come to your knees knowing it's time to repent and believe. Or in some translations, to repent and return. Repentance will refresh your life.

So we're going to have a moment of silence, and then if you're the third option, that you're ready to repent and believe, repent and return and give your life to Jesus, I'm gonna ask you to respond, but let's experience a little bit of silence, and the generosity of the Holy Spirit's voice will whisper to us.

(Silence except baby; piano starts; Christian Alexander and Zeke Atha stand on either side of Zach; keyboard music starts to play in background)

So wherever you're at, thank you for repenting. Holy Spirit, be generous with Your voice and presence right now. Would You lead us to repentance? Thank You for those who are crying out, that outpouring of love that would lead nations, friends, campuses, to repent. But right now, we pray for those who are ready to repent and believe. It is the best news ever. So if that is you and you're ready to give your life to Christ, repent and believe, repent and return, I'm gonna ask you to respond; it will not be the hardest thing you do for your faith. And would you come off your knees and stand, if that is you who want to repent and believe.

Thank you. I see you. I'm proud of you. Wherever you're at, would you stand if it's time to repent and believe, thank you, I see you. I'm so proud of you. If you're standing with me, Christian, Zeke and I are so proud of you. And more than anything, Jesus is ready to receive you, so if you're standing, would you repeat after me. If you're not standing, you're praying for those who are standing, OK? So if you're standing, repeat after me: Jesus, You are Lord and Savior; because of your holiness, I confess my sins. We're gonna take a second for you to confess your sins. (Pause. Applause.)

When you're ready, why don't you pray after me, say I receive your grace and forgiveness. Holy Spirit, will You fill those empty places? I give You leadership over my life. I'm about to say amen and then in the last two weeks, it's kind of tradition as a family that we celebrate. But before we do that, I want to tell you those who are standing up, those who are online, those are in extensions, if you're in a physical location, will you come forward so we can get you connected? If you're online, we have ways for you to connect. Do not miss this opportunity to not only repent and believe but be formed and become more like Jesus. So, those are standing up, would you declare your salvation? That this is your response by saying amen; ready? Amen. Amen.

(applause, standing ovation)

(Another song; Ruben Cervantes sings I Surrender All)

Thai Lam (while song continues)

Thank you for joining us tonight, we're so thankful (inaudible) taking next steps of your faith. If tonight you responded with an invitation to receive Jesus, Or if tonight you are rededicating your life to the Lord, we want to pray for you. If you would take a moment and use the QR code. (The screen has a QR code with the word "respond" next to it.)

And use this QR code, we want you to be able to have someone pray for you. We want to be able to connect you with a local church. So if you'd just take a moment and click on this link, fill out this form, we would love to be able to have someone reach out to you and follow up with you and help connect you to a community of faith.. (begins to pray, as the song is continuing to go)

Jeannie Banter, Major Giving Officer at Asbury University and director of The Christian Life Project at Asbury, also on the World Gospel Mission (WGM) Board of Directors along with school President Kevin Brown (piano continues)
<https://www.asbury.edu/about/directory/jeannie-banter/>

The beautiful thing's about when God pours Himself out, is that He not only pours out His love, but He pours out His healing. And He pours out His healing because He loves us, There's been no shortage of healing on our campus, and the people who've come here. And as the people have gone out, we've just seen so much healing happen. We've seen spiritual healing, we've seen people healed from church hurt. We've seen emotional healing, mental health — gone, anxiety, gone; depression, gone. (Applause.)

We've seen relational healing on our campus, people who were not friends before worshipping together. When His healing comes, nothing is left undone. We wanna give testimony to the healing that we've seen and borne witness to. And who better to hear it from than some of our students.

This first student here was here from the very beginning. She was part of the gospel choir. So she's had a front row seat to everything that God has been doing.

Lena Marlowe (musicians behind sit down, piano continues):

Hi my name is Lena Marlowe. I am a senior here at Asbury, I'm studying sociology. And I just want to talk a little bit about what I've see God doing amongst our students as a student leader. And so, the first hour like Jeannie said, I was a part of the gospel choir, and we were just feeling led by the Spirit to just continue in song and worship and prayer. It kinda felt like 10 minutes, but then three hours later, I just felt the Spirit tell me to just look around, and the same 20 students stayed, and probably skipped their 11 a.m., including me.

And I just decided to just ask the Holy Spirit like what was happening and what I needed to be interceding for. So I just heard Him say that first, just pray for your peers to be obedient to stay and come, and just spread the word. So I prayed for that, and the second wave was just to ask for forgiveness for the things that we've done against each other. And also just grudges we had against each other and towards the institution. And then the third one, the third wave was just joy and confession, and from confession comes joy, so I think maybe like the fourth hour, when students started to come in in waves, I just saw a bunch of people jumping and praising God and just crying, just because of like the joy and the freedom that the Spirit was just pouring down on us. And then the last wave was just like seeking the Lord and asking for more.

And probably the second day was fully students, students from here but also from seminary and surrounding campuses, and I just saw a lot of reconciliation. And so I just pray as you're here and you're experiencing the move of God that won't end, the same God that's here is moving in a lot of other places across the world and in other denominations and other homes. So I just pray that your obedience being here and your obedience to listen to the Spirit doesn't just stop tonight. It continues throughout your whole walk with Christ.

But I just pray as you continue to plant seeds in other's lives, and also as the Spirit plants seeds, that you continue to water that and read your word, and praying and intercession and going to your friends and asking questions; it's nothing wrong with asking questions and ask professors questions. Don't keep that towards yourself, it's how the body of Christ grows. Use your gifts. So yeah, I just pray for everyone here. I love you, but Jesus loves you more.

Older Guy in a vest (later identified as New Room / Seedbed's David Thomas); name isn't apparent, but in later comments, it appears that he might be connected either with the town or one of the Asbury universities or the nearby church (piano continues)

We're going to return to prayer here in just a minute, and we're gonna pray along these lines that we've been watching God revealed to us that we believe God is coming to rescue this generation. It will no longer be known as a generation of anxiety, depression, and death; it'll be known as the generation of joy, fulfillment, and life. And I just wonder if we could just hear more about how it is that we've been watching and experiencing God's love begin to move and heal and change us on the inside.

Female student (piano continues):

Yeah, so for over half my life, my identity has resided in my depression and my anxiety. And on Wednesday, February 8, God showed up to Asbury, and He convicted me to give up some anger and resentment that I had towards Him, towards other people in my life just for things that have been affected by my anxiety and my depression. And even bigger, He asked that I lay control at the feet of the cross. And I have done this many times in prayer, but I always kinda swiped it up as I walked away. And so for the first time in my life, I actually left all of that at the feet of Jesus. (Applause.)

Yeah, and I left Hughes, and I could breathe easier and the air in my lungs was so much lighter, and in Matthew 11:28-30, God says come to Me all you who are weary and I will give you rest; take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls, for My yoke is easy and my burden is light. And for four straight days, I experienced no anxiety. (Applause) It eventually came back, but my freedom didn't come in the form of depression and anxiety evacuating my life completely, but it came in the form of the control they had over my life being gone completely. (Applause.)

And my identity comes first from Christ and my daughtership in him, and I really wish that my story was unique, but anxiety and depression have become the calling cards of the younger generations. And I have seen God move in miraculous ways in college students over the past couple weeks. And my two biggest things in revival that God has revealed to me is one; my God is bigger than I thought he was. Because my God is bigger than my depression and my God is bigger than my anxiety, and my story could be your story because God died on the cross for anxiety and depression to set us free, He walked out of the grave and you can too because I did. (Applause.) My final revelation was remembering not who I am but whose I am.

Jeannie Banter (piano continues)

One of the beautiful things that we've been able to bear witness to is how we watch countenances change. These students are not the same when we saw them two weeks ago; they're different, their face is different, their body's different, and I just want to hear one more testimony of how he's changed.

Guy wearing a shirt saying High Peak that has the Salvation Army emblem on it (piano continues)

So I was raised as a pastor's kid; a lot of you guys probably already know my story. As I grew up, I began to slowly choose the world more and more. I started to feed my flesh more than feed my soul. Eventually as I got to the summer before my senior year, I hit a season of my life that has brought a lot of trauma to my life and sent me into a season of dark depression. And characteristic of everything else our generation's gone through, and for that whole senior year, I struggled heavily with mental illness and suicidal ideations. I just longed to belong, to be loved, and I've been running away from God, for so long, I didn't know where to start. I began to go back to what I've been doing for years and run to things that only provided momentary pleasure and left me emptier than I was before.

In the last two or three weeks, I felt the love of God in a way that I never had before. In the chaos of my life and trauma, I felt Him embrace me. I felt so desired and sought after by the Father, and truly can say that I belong in this amazing body of believers. God's mighty hand has been at work in obvious ways here on this campus. I've seen people's health restored physically, chains broken and ultimately lives saved as people have given their lives to Jesus. It has been the wildest two weeks in my life, but I couldn't be more grateful. (Applause.)

Guy in vest who spoke previously (David Thomas)
(piano continues)

So, we want to return to prayer because yes, these last couple of weeks have been extraordinary, but in reality, they're normal — this is normal Christianity, this is what Jesus died to make possible, this is what we want to happen and God wants to happen on every campus, in every heart and home, and church, and city. And so we want to just stand in a moment p, join hands with two or three near you; wherever you are, just join up in a little huddle, and let's contend for our campus, for an outbreak of healing, for a great move of God to pour out His love and set us free. This is what we need in this generation. We have signs, we have evidence that God is wanting to do it. So let's ask Him for it. Are you ready? So let's stand up, let's cry out to God for healing in this generation.

(Piano plays, people gather in groups, the word "RESPOND" and QR code with the collegiate day of prayer logo come back up)

(Young lady — now evidently identified as IHOP-affiliated singer-songwriter Amariah Mello Alonge — who had been standing behind just about every speaker and rocking back-and-forth for the previous hour and a half was singing some song for which the lyrics did not appear in a web search. [One recent YouTube video of it indicates in the comment section that it was her song.] Ruben Cervantes sings along in the chorus, and there was apparently a video on an IHOP related YouTube site showing the two of them singing the same song together in March 2023. In the middle, someone said 'everyone sing.' Towards the end of the song, it sounded like she was shouting out words — 'Consume us holy' repeated, as well as 'mark the generation' and 'secret place of thunder' — and while doing so, was joined by a gray haired gentleman on stage who was shouting as well: "Not one missing! Mark them! Mark them!")

Gray haired man, eventually identified as IHOP's Allen Hood, one of the three along with Warren and Chan listed as scheduled to make an appearance (with what seems to go from shouting to screaming at times — and as they seemed like they may have brought down the singer's microphone; piano continues):

Love them! [Applause]

[Music] [Applause] Mark them!

[Music] [Applause] [Music]

[Applause] [Music] Not one missing! Mark them! Mark them!

[Applause] Good today. Good tonight.

[Music] Everything Jesus died for! everything He purchased, Father, (inaudible) everything He's prayed for at Your right hand. Give it to him: every campus, every nation, every government. Give it to Him; give it to Him. [Applause]

(Appears to read Revelation 11:15) then the seventh angel sounded and there were loud voices in heaven saying the kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of God and his Christ and He shall reign forever and ever

And tonight, we come declaring to the world what the apostles and Prophets always declared, that darkness shall come to an end.

[Applause] [Music]

And that the last trumpet shall sound, the Archangel shall shout and the Lord Himself will shout, and He will split the sky. It will roll back like a scroll, and we will see the greatest transference of power the world has ever witnessed, with the Father who has promised His Son the nation, will give it to Him as His inheritance.

Beloved, right now, Jesus is ruling and reigning as the King of Kings and Lord of Lords at the right hand of the Father. The angels know this. The saints know this. But today, the kingdoms of this world, the governments of this world do not know that He is the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. And yet, the Father has promised and Zephaniah 2:11 says that in that day, He will show himself awesome to them, and He will reduce the gods of the earth to nothing, so that the peoples can worship Him from every shore.

Church History also tells us there are divine seasons when God puts the world on notice that what the angels know around the throne of God — that Jesus Christ is Lord of all, He puts geographic regions on notice that He is the Lord of all. That in a moment, His Spirit is poured out and what's true around Heaven becomes clear on the earth to sinner and believer alike. Tonight, we want to begin to pray that what you've experienced, all the nations of the world would experience, that what heaven knows about Jesus, all the nations would know about Jesus. Beloved, we are crying out for revival on every college campus tonight, to have a revival — but beloved, I want to put something bigger than just college campuses before all of you.

The Apostle Peter promised that God would pour out His Spirit on all flesh, and His sons and daughters would prophesy and that before that coming great day of the Lord, there would be a great crying out for salvation in the nation, and that even Israel would call out blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord; amen [Music]

What began in that upper room with the local outpouring of the Holy Spirit has now had Global impact as the nations of the Earth are coming to the saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus. Well beloved, we want to believe that in the last days, God would pour out His Spirit on all flesh, a global outpouring of the Spirit, way bigger than Asbury way bigger than Wilmore, way bigger than Methodism. That God would pour out His Spirit on all flesh, and that it would lead to a mighty Revival. A great a great influence of the Harvest of souls that are even a billion people could turn to Jesus and that the church would walk in fullness, the church, fullness of the wisdom, the fruit, and the power of the Holy Spirit. That even Israel might be provoked to jealousy and cry out that Jesus is Lord of all.

[Applause]

So right now, we want to huddle again and pray that Jesus would receive the reward of His suffering in every nation of the Earth. That there would be a mighty revival in the church that would lead to maturity, and great awakening in every society of the Earth. Let's begin to lift our voices.

Pause. The main acoustic guitar singer guy — Ruben Cervantes returns:

Yeah, just get in your groups and let's just cry out that God would do this. Just get into groups for a few minutes, just believe it. And ask God that He would have His inheritance right now.

(Woman seems to be singing an improvised song along lines of what was said. Then, a song played called Every Nation Every Soul by Lindy Cofer and Circuit Rider music, who appears to be connected with YWAM)

AJ, male student from Indiana Wesleyan with earring (Gestures, people sit)

If you're in the middle of a moment with the Lord right now, I beg you that you not listen to a word I say but keep doing that. my name is AJ, I'm a student at Indiana Wesleyan University, and I'm horribly unworthy to be on this stage in front of you guys, but the God that I get to tell of is so much more worthy. and so I hope that in my words, you hear nothing but praise and glory to Him.

In May at the beginning of this year, I got invited to a conference in Lexington, Kentucky with some other student leaders across the country, and one of the things that we did is we came to this room and we got on our knees and we prayed the Lord would do this right here. And I sat back in that corner, and I laid on my face, and I was begging the Lord to do something, and I wish I could tell you it was this hopeful, expectant prayer. But, quite honestly, it was the worst couple hours of my life because I was so consumed with the costs. I was so upset at everything He was asking me to say no to.

Everything He was asking — I cried at the loss of everything that I felt like He was taking from me. And, in this moment right now, I just want you to know that when you step into the fullness of an answered prayer, the cost is so light. And so, as we leave this place in a little bit, and you feel the costs of what the Lord is asking you to say 'no' to, I urge you brothers and sisters to not see it as a 'no,' but see it as a 'yes' that He is asking you to step into. There is a world out there that has no clue of the goodness that you and I have felt in this place. And so, I beg you right now, teachers, make your classrooms sanctuaries, dads and moms, would you make your households temples? Pastors, would you begin to make your churches nothing but holy ground?

When we step into our communities and would we not let it be good enough in our hearts that we've experienced this goodness, and our baristas and our cashiers and our waitresses and our neighbors and our friends and our families have not yet. It is so selfish for us to ask for the Lord to come back, to beg him to come back, and to not tell people, so let us be a people, be a generation that gets on our knees and prays and believes in the power of prayer. That believes that when we pray for things in accordance to His will, He will answer them, and He will fulfill them because He is a zealous God who is chasing our hearts. And the same way that He's chasing us right now, He wants to chase this generation, and He wants to use us as vessels.

(As TBN stopped putting up the names of the people who are obviously not students after Thai Lam and the school president, some searching was involved to find some of the participants. The last one appears to be Bill Elliff, National Engage pastor at the Summit Church Little Rock. He claims to have "been a student of God's revival moments across history for 50 years," who traveled for several years to churches helping them pursue God in revival. He is also "a founding member of the OneCry initiative that seeks to help pastors and churches pursue God for revival and spiritual awakening." That initiative is one of the contributors to the Collegiate Day of Prayer Movement, which seems to focus on revival and awakening in many of the related articles.)

(No piano; pace of speech seemed remarkably slower than just about any other speaker)

Bill Elliff:

So what do we do now? Right? So 16 days ago, the Lord decided on the heels of prayers and surrender to call some of you to just tarry, just wait — we never do that — and thank God for the 20 who stayed and just waited. And then 200 and then 2000, and then tonight, thousands upon thousands, and we're praying for millions, amen? (Applause.) And you say well, what did God do, what happened in that moment — I love Psalm 48:3, the Lord has chosen to make Himself known. He's showing the world, He's showing you, He's showing all of us who He really is.

Jonathan Edwards said our task as a church is to give the world a right opinion of God, right? And so, God has chosen to make Himself known, and that's why you have been overwhelmed by the loving kindness of God, right? Because that's who God is, and we've been overwhelmed with the righteousness and the holiness of God. And in His light, we've seen light, and we've seen our own sin and our own need, and we've fallen down before Him, and we repented and we surrendered because He's so loving, so kind, so gracious, we gladly bow before him.

And that's why, isn't it, we all just started singing? I mean just singing to the Lord; it's like the blind man who was healed by Jesus, and the first thing he saw when he opened his eyes was the eyes of Jesus Christ. And you just have to think he's thought I will never go anyplace else; this is the One who gives us life and that's why you've been worshiping the Lord for the past 360+ hours. (Applause.)

I wanna ask you a question: has anybody in your your generation ever done that? What — would could you do that, would you have done that on your own, if we said we have a new plan by the way, a little program, we want you to worship God with no intermission for 16 days, would you have done that — you know who's done this? God has done this; just give Him glory, amen? (Applause.)

He's given us a gift. (Appears to choke up) It's a really precious gift. It's a gift of His manifest presence. And we've seen it and we've I want to tell you something from an old guy who in 1970 in a college in Arkansas the same size as Asbury, one day right after the Asbury revival, the Lord touched down on our campus. And all classes were canceled and the same things were happening that you've experienced these last days, and I was in that room and I have to tell you something that's about to happen, are you ready? You will never ever ever be the same. (Applause.) You'll never think the same, you will never be satisfied again (appears to choke up) with anything less than Jesus. (Applause; piano starts.)

You'll I never again be able to live a merely selfish life because you encountered Christ. And that's what happened to me. I was given that gift in my generation — many of us were given that gift in 1970, and I have pursued the presence of God ever since. I want His presence in my home. I want His presence in my church. I want to spread it because if there's anything we know, is that everything flows from the presence of the Lord. Everything. If you have Him, you have everything you need, right? If you don't have Him, you have nothing that matters, and nothing that lasts. Life is just formal, life it's just religious, and life is really empty.

And so, God has given you a gift, and that's why one of the remarkable things to me but not, not you — you can understand it, is that there's been these moments of incredible praise, right, where you guys are about to bring the rafters down, but then there's been moments for 16 days of quietness, and it takes your breath away. The Bible has a word for that: it's awe. It's amazement. You just can't believe how beautiful God is. How sufficient He is, how he's everything your heart has long for, and you need.

In 2nd Kings, we're going to pray — in 2nd Kings 7, it tells a story when the nation of Israel, city of Israel, was surrounded by enemies, they're completely overpowering and they cut off their food source, and they were dying, they're starving to death. And Elijah the prophet said tomorrow at this time, everybody will have enough food. And a skeptic — there's always skeptics, right? A skeptic said, behold, is the Lord should make windows in heaven, could this thing be, and Elijah looked at him and said, behold, you will see it with your own eyes but you're not gonna taste it. That's what happens to skeptics.

And there were four lepers, and they're all lepers, right? And they were sitting at the gate, and they looked at each other and they said why should we stay here till we die? If we go in the city, we're gonna die. If we stay here at the gate, we're going to die, so let's go to the enemy; maybe we will get a good meal before we die. And they went out and they found that God had routed the enemy. Everything is left, they sit down and ate an unbelievable meal, and then finally they stopped and said you know what, we're not doing the right thing. This is a day of good news, we're keeping silent, let's get up and go to our city. A brother wants call that the story of the sitters, and the getters, and then the goers and the tellers, right?

So this moment, this final moment of prayer, we're gonna ask you to do something just very quietly, but ask that you all stand right now just very quietly. All of you who are watching, would you stand, maybe by yourself, you stand, you may be in your church or on your college campus. I wonder if just very quietly, you would turn to one other person close to you and lay your hands on each other's shoulders. Would you do that?

Now, listen if you would; realize it is not merely your friend's hands on your shoulders. The Lord's hand is on you. And even in this moment, He wants to manifest Himself even more, and He wants to commission you. He wants to call you not to be just a sitter or a kind of a selfish just go get and eat and enjoy it. He's telling us right now to turn our eyes off Asbury and turn your eyes to your city, to your campus, to you're lost friends, to your family, and to every tongue, people, tribe, and nation. And God is changing you and making you aware of His completely sufficient presence, because He's calling you to go.

(Church planting, mobilizing labor and finance through radical humility, etc.?)

In this next moment, we're gonna pray for each other and we're going to commission each other. Now if you're a pastor that's watching or a housewife or something, would you pray that you will cooperate with God just as much as these students? That you'll tarry? That you'll wait until the Lord comes with healing in His wings? And would you, would you commit right now as we pray together that you will not be like some who would quench the Holy Spirit and resist the moving in the next generation — because that's where it's coming from, and it's gonna require us to change some wineskins, to let go of some things.

(Comment: And there it is. What exactly needs to be let go of, and who's going to be driving that train?)

But would you pray that God would fall upon you and Commission you and you obey, and for all of you students, as we pray for each other, would you commission your brother, your sister by God to be the light in this generation?

(Comment: Commissioning "by God" -- on which he seem to place a particular emphasis? What about cautions about laying hands on hastily? How doesn't that apply? This went from people being called to say amen as a profession of faith, to having the same people in the auditorium engage in a commissioning before they might've had a discussion of all of this with anyone?)

And I want to ask you not to pray just a nice prayer; don't pray a prayer that you manufacture to impress each other. Ask the Spirit of God right now to pray through you, right, to commission them. So with all of your heart, let's pray God's hand, God's commission on all of us right now. let's pray.

(Long pause with piano playing, more shots of students. One of the songs after this is Be Enthroned, attributed to Bethel Music and Jeremy Riddle)

Vest man (David Thomas) returns:

Well, as this collegiate day of prayer now draws to a close, we, we want to thank all of you for coming here, and wherever you've been around the world tonight. And we are super grateful to everyone who has just made their way over these last two weeks as we have just try to form community under an outpouring and hold it and let Jesus do all that He would do in those days. It's been like a vessel that we've tried to form, just being family together, but tonight we wanted to empty that vessel. And all that He's poured out, we've wanted to send it away into all the different places that we have been. So as we go, this continues, and it continues in our relationship.

I would just invite you to find friends whose hearts are burning and bind together in a call to prayer, and hold one another, to build trust and do whatever it takes to keep it, and in that, come into agreement and trust God for more. And then let's just take up that most ancient prayer of the church: come, Holy Spirit, come. That is one prayer we are confident God is sure to answer. Let's continue to pray it. And let's do so lastly with a heart like His, a heart like Jesus that when He saw Jerusalem, He wept over it. Let's invite Him to give us tears for our campuses, tears for our cities, for our families, for those we love. And we will watch Him do this and so much more in all the days to come; so thank you again for being a part of this tonight. We pray God will go with you and bless you.

(Applause)

Thai Lam

We just want to say thank you to Asbury University, for Asbury Theological Seminary, for the city of Wilmore, for all the staff, administration, volunteers. It's been in the army to sustain what God's done here, and as we're finishing tonight, it really isn't the end, it really is the beginning. This historic day of prayer came forth out of a movement called the concert of prayer. And on this 200 year anniversary, as I'm just considering just the kindness and the faithfulness of God to resurrect this historic day in a new generation, we want to launch — or really, relaunch — a monthly concert of prayer. That the last Thursday of every month. we want to cry out with one voice, and call upon the name of our God. That this is really not a destination, but this is really launching us into a movement of fervent prayer for breakthrough.

We want to knock on the door of heaven until God answers, because I tell you that what we're seeing, what we've seen here, there's been a hundred thousand people who have come to Wilmore to encounter Jesus. But I tell you, there's 100 million in the days to come that the Lord wants to encounter as He's done here. Would you join us in this movement of fervent prayer for revival and spiritual awakening in Gen Z? 20,000,000 college students, on 430 campuses. Tonight if you haven't already done so, adopt a campus. I know, this is fun. Our web server crashed. There's so many people that went, that our server crashed. Praise God. (Applause.)

I want to charge you for the campuses that you've adopted, let this not be the only day and the only night that you're praying for them. What would it be if you took the campus that you adopted that's down the street from your home, from your church, and what if you set your heart for the next year — just once a week — just set your heart, set an alarm, say Father, move on my campus. Do it again as you did at Asbury. Pour out Your Spirit on my campus. And what if there were hundreds of thousands that were praying across America once a day, once a week, once a month. We have some resources for you on the website, go to Collegiatedayofprayer.org, you can click on the QR code. We have some resources and tools. We just launched a YouVersion: 40 Day prayer guide, 30 day prayer guide.

We would invite you to consider joining our prayer guide for the next month. Every day, just take five minutes and pray for your campus, and then we come back next month on the last Thursday. We don't know how, but just virtually, we will just have a call to prayer. And wherever you're at, that we would join together, link arms virtually across America, across the globe, and we say Father, as You've done before, do it again. So we don't know when and what the Lord has in store in the days ahead, but I tell you, the best days and the greater things are ahead. And Asbury is but a launching pad for us. So as we close tonight, and as we launch into our worship party after this, can I ask you guys just to raise your hand where you're at? Can we raise our hands just in surrender?

So Father, we say here we are, here we are; thank You for all that You've done here in Wilmore, at Asbury, God. Father, we say blessed be the name of our God, we say thank You for Your goodness and form Your power, for salvation, for healing for deliverance, for restoration, for renewal, God; and we're asking God that what You've started here would only multiply, God; we're asking God for the fire that's burning here, that You would cause the sparks of revival to go forth; we're asking God for the winds of heaven to blow, and that You would cause the sparks here to go far and wide, God. Touch the corners of our nation, God. Kentucky to Washington, to California to Maine, to Florida, and we're asking, God the end of the earth; cause, God, the testimony of Your Son, Your power, to go forth from here. And we're asking God, anoint us. Everyone put your hand on your chest. Father, will You anoint us with radical humility?

(Comment: What followed seemed noteworthy. Starting with the above sentence, much of the crowd — many of whom were already extending their hands towards the stage — repeat every word after him until the end of the prayer. Lam appears to adjust his cadence accordingly. Aside: did that coincide with the invocation of the words "radical humility"?)

Father, teach us how to go low as Your Son went low. Give us eyes to see the beauty of Your Son's humility; make us like Jesus. That we would walk how He walked and talk how He talked, that we would have the aroma of Jesus to a lost and dying world; anoint us with Your Son's humility; in Jesus' name; amen.

(Loud eruption from crowd that sustains, as Lam calls on the crowd to "lift our voices", makes repeated hand gestures upwards, then appears to be chanting "Jesus, Jesus, Jesus", which much of the crowd emulates and claps along to; the simulcast closes on end chorus repeated of All Sons and Daughters song Great are You Lord, then You Deserve it All by Josh Baldwin from Bethel Music, then back into the chorus of Great are You Lord, then Jesus We Love You by Bethel Music, then acoustic guitar guy — Ruben Cervantes— improves for a while, then to God of Revival by Bethel Music led by the woman who appeared to have performed with BVM previously. The video eventually fades out.)
