Life is an extraordinary journey. It is full of challenges and unsolved tasks that are put in front of us on the constantly moving and changing road towards Nirvana, the place that today we refer to as Happiness.

My life hasn't been different. Due to family upheavals, I have been in charge of my choices since the age of 14. I put myself through high ranking academic education and left my homeland for a strange country on a one-way road. When the old door firmly closed behind me, it opened up many new ones. I travelled the world, lived in different countries on different continents, learned new languages, new behaviours, new traditions, new religions and went through new relationships. I struggled, enjoyed, laughed, cried, loved and hated on the roller-coaster that I managed to hang onto with the help of the rock-hard faith in myself.

I understand that life only gives us challenges we are able to handle, cleverly pushing us out of the comfort zone to taste the fresh air around. I also established that regardless the background, upbringing, religion, colour and education, under those layers we all have the same goal. The approach might be different but the aim is Happiness.

I learned about the interrelated micro- and macrocosm. I became a REIKI Master-Healer, an Orixa Shamanic Master, and a Phoenix Initiated Educator. Healing the mind and body became a natural addition to my capabilities.

Today, I have an established philosophy that searches for the interaction between earthlings and nature, also Earth and the universe. I have eleven books published and many faithful students. I am an Intimacy & Family coach and help people to find their purpose. The joy of seeing them succeed gives me the strength to find new adventures and learn from new experiences.

I worked in prominent healing centres in the U.K. and Hungary, and for well-established online psychic reading communities.
