Company Background and Profile

Ocean Beans Indonesia is a commodity exporter from Indonesia which works as an organization and an enterprise. OBI is a profit organization that is funded by private investors, in which they provide the necessary financing for the enterprise, and administer the business front of the company. Contemporaneously, OBI is focused on raw coffee beans (precisely Sumatra Gayo coffee beans) as a commodity to trade out, where notably the organization owns a raw coffee bean plantation and processing facility located in Takengon-middle of Aceh, Sumatra. OBI was officially established in the 12th of August 2021, and has been formally registered as a company that trades for raw coffee beans, tea, and cocoa by Indonesia's Ministry of Law and Human Rights.

In accordance with the company's specialization, OBI has its own approach to handle the production of raw coffee beans. Each variety of the coffee bean is planted, processed, and harvested in different level of elevation to keep the integrity, and to provide special and diverse range of products, in terms of flavour and acidity to cater with the demand of the market.

OBI has intensively researched and gathered information to improve its facilities and to experiment on variables that would enhance the characters of the coffee beans. The company has invested and allocated some of its resources to acquire technologically-advanced and sophisticated machineries, as well as hiring local people from Takengon to work at the processing facilities, as some of OBI's products are exclusively processed by hands to maintain the integrity. The company has also provided necessary trainings and workshop for the employees in order to get themselves familiar with processing activities, and boosting the means of production.

The company is also working together with shipping companies to have its customers' product delivered to their desired location. OBI is only admitting partnership with the most professional and trusted shipping companies to ensure the safety of product delivery. The partnership allows the company to offer several payment method that legally binds with agreed terms & condition prior to shipment that would give flexibility to customers and benefit every party.

To date, OBI has not handled a single shipment and exportation of raw coffee beans, with the hope that in the foreseeable future, OBI would be one of the leading exporters of Indonesia's commodities and at the same time contribute to the country's rapidly growing economy.
