BATIK PRODUCT

HANDWRITTEN BATIK

HANDWRITTEN BATIK is batik that is made using the manual canting technique with hot wax using a small stove. This batik has an expensive price because it has its own characteristics and takes a long time to make.

STAMPED BATIK

STAMPED BATIK is batik that uses a manufacturing technique using the Canting Cap tool. This batik has a design characteristic that is monotonous and uniform, the motifs have details that tend to be the same. This batik is also popular because it can be mass produced with the same motifs and shapes, the quality is not inferior to HANDWRITTEN BATIK.

PRINTED BATIK

PRINTED BATIK is batik that is produced using a fabric printing machine or using liquid wax which is etched onto the cloth using a screen printing technique.

This type of batik is usually used for uniforms or products in large quantities with the same model and shape.

ECO PRINT

ECO PRINT is a type of product that uses certain leaf, flower or grass printing techniques so that the shape and color are attached to the fabric. This type of product is usually used for accessories or other clothing decoration.

materials and other products LIST

BATIK is an illustrated Indonesian cloth which is made specifically by writing or applying wax to the cloth, then processing it in a certain way which has its own characteristics. As a whole technique, technology, as well as the development of related motifs and culture, UNESCO has designated it as Masterpieces of the Oral and Intangible Heritage of Humanity since October 2, 2009. Since then, October 2 has been designated as National Batik Day.
