

Egg Drop

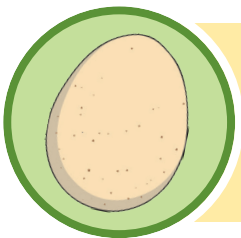

Science Experiment

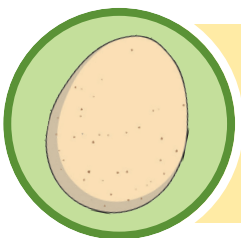

Which material do you think will protect your egg the best?

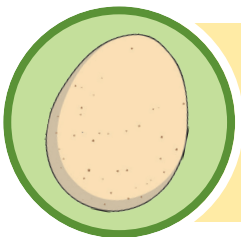

How many layers of each material will you use?

How can you make sure your test is fair?

What height will you drop the egg from?

What other materials could you test?