FLEXIFRAME® IN SHORT

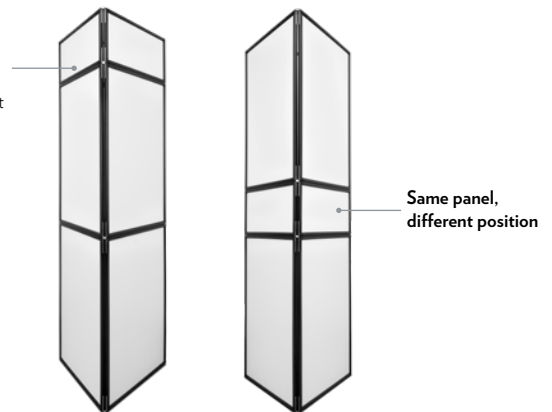

Getting to know Flexiframe® is easy. As the name Flexiframe® states, it allows you to choose between different sizes and colours and is based on the principle of individual frames which are easily joined together, horizontally and vertically, with metal connectors. Based on this principle, it is then easy and tools-free to build standard exhibition units such as backwalls, tables, counters, towers, crosses etc.

When planning on how to present your exhibition material, choose between using the standard units or aim at an individual, custom-made design. This system will let your needs and imagination decide and we'd be happy to help!

More ideas of how to vary Flexiframe® are presented on the following pages.

Vary the design with ease!

As the towers to the right (and below!) display, the panels are easy to move and place as you prefer. At the top, in the middle or down under – perfect for varying the look!

Easy to customize to your needs

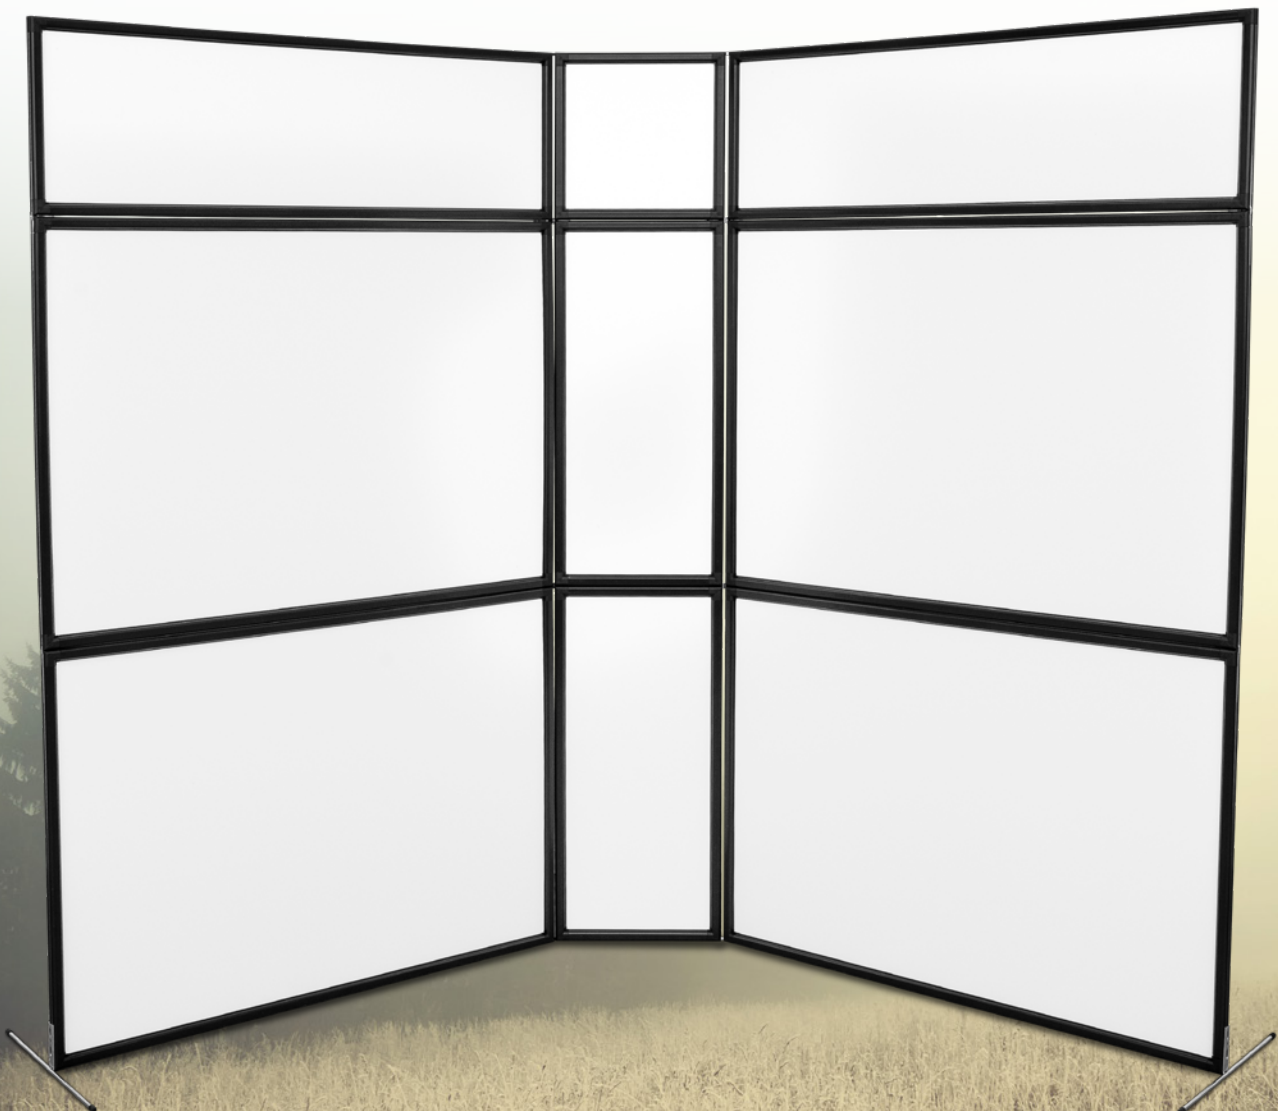

IMPRESS BY SIMPLICITY

Different occasions means different needs. With Flexiframe® it is just as easy to add on more frames and accessories, as it is to remove parts when needed. Sometimes all you need is a simple yet impressive design to make your statement.

A simple solution like this is perfect for public offices, department stores or as a backing behind the counter in a reception area.
