The academic year

The academic year starts on 1 September and ends in June. Some Master's courses last a few months longer. All faculties teach for two semesters.

Application and admission

For most courses the HKU has a restricted intake. Admission to the various programmes is based on a selection procedure (portfolio, audition, tape or video), intended to offer the school insight into the artistic qualities and level of the student. For the Art and Economics courses on Bachelor level, intake is determined by a lottery system.

See www.hku.nl/english for more information.

Visa and Residence Permit

As soon as you are accepted to a course at the HKU, you must apply for your visa and/or Residence Permit. For more information on this process, please consult

The Netherlands

The Netherlands, also known as Holland, has a population of more than 16 million. Despite, or perhaps because of its limited geographical size (41,000 km2) the Netherlands has developed into an internationally oriented country with a high industrial and cultural status.

The Netherlands manages to combine history and tradition with innovation and modernity. The country has one of the largest seaports in the world and Schiphol is one of Europe's major airports.

The Dutch are used to dealing, working and studying with foreigners and for many of them English is a second language.

As a student in the Netherlands you will receive a first-class education, at an affordable price, in a student friendly environment.

The Netherlands has a long tradition in the arts. Dutch architecture, fashion and design are currently attracting a great deal of international attention.

The City of Utrecht

The City of Utrecht is the country's fourth largest city. It is located within 30 minutes from Amsterdam and only a few hours from major European cities, like Paris, Berlin and London. Utrecht has a rich history and is home to a great variety of monuments – ranging from Roman times through the Middle Ages to 21th-century architecture. Utrecht's canals are lined with characteristic wharf cellars and inviting terraces. Old churches and the impressive Dom tower add to the city's unique ambience. Students make up a large part of the population and Utrecht offers all the facilities that could be expected of a true student city. Culture features prominently in Utrecht. Each year, more than 650,000 people visit the renowned museums and even more attend yearly events such as the Netherlands Film Festival, the Festival of Early Music, the Festival a/d Werf and the Cultural Sundays. Our cinemas, theatres and concert halls are well frequented. Furthermore, of all Dutch cities, Utrecht is the city with most people working in a creative profession.

The Utrecht School of the Arts, known locally as the Hogeschool voor de Kunsten Utrecht (HKU), is a University of Apllied Sciences. The HKU is at the heart of Utrecht's cultural and student life. With more than 3,700 students, the HKU is one of the largest School of Arts in Europe. We offer preparatory courses, Bachelor's and Master's programmes and research degrees in fine art, design, media, games and interaction, music, theatre and arts management.

Utrecht School

of the Arts (HKU)

The HKU consists of five faculties. Four of them (the faculties of Visual Arts and Design, Music, Theatre and Art and Economics) are located in or near the city centre. The Faculty of Art, Media & Technology, with close ties to the media, is located in the radio and television city Hilversum. One branch of the Faculty of Music, the Netherlands Carillon School, is located in Amersfoort. This school, where carilloneurs from various countries such as Japan and the United States are professionally trained, is unique in the world.

Vision on education

The HKU facilitates and stimulates talented and passionate students to develop as visual artists, musicians, designers, technologists, arts managers, writers, actors and teachers. It offers students intensive coaching and supervision. The courses have a tutor system. A tutor has an intermediary function between the student and the teacher and supervises the study process.

In nearly all practical subjects, the Utrecht School of the Arts has adopted the studio-based system, in which (teams of) students have their own workspace and where they meet their supervisors. Students are given many opportunities to prove themselves in practice. The school's concert hall, theatre and gallery, professional studios and workplaces are available for use. Besides excelling in an art discipline the HKU is committed to teaching students how to become professional cultural entrepreneurs. Students learn how to set up networks and start relationships with other artists and organisations. There are plenty of opportunities to work with professional artists, the business

Project offices maintain contact with the business community, the government, the non-profit sector and the media and cultural sector. The purpose of the project offices is to find commissions for students, providing the opportunity to work in professional practice. These commissions range from graphic and architectural assignments to websites, installations, games, animations, clips, videos, films, performances and concerts.

Internationalisation

The Utrecht School of the Arts (HKU) is internationally oriented and involved in wide variety international programmes and (research/development) projects. The HKU cooperates internationally with countless universities, institutions and companies. The school is also an active member of multiple international networks such as the European League of Institutes of the Arts (ELIA), the art education network Cumulus and the European Association of Conservatoires (AEC).
