

COVID-19

VACCINE

DANGERS

The COVID vaccines are experimental and have only been authorised in the UK for temporary emergency use as clinical trials are still ongoing and there is no long-term data.

The COVID vaccines are gene-based injections, a new technology that has not been tested enough and not proven to be safe.

Many doctors and scientists have warned against these vaccines but their voices have been heavily suppressed through censorship.

A great number of adverse reactions have been reported - including blood clots, anaphylaxis, paralysis and deaths - much more than for other vaccines.

Aborted fetal cell lines are used in the production and/or testing of all these vaccines.

*"Listen! Wisdom is shouting in the streets.
She is crying out in the marketplace."*
