ABER

After several years of playing with different artists in England and Norway, the members of ABER found each other through their love for catchy pop riffs and great melody hooks. With a modern take on the music they grew up loving, they create pop songs combining retro synth sounds with punchy modern pop aesthetics. The Oslo based band released their debut single, the feel-good breakup tune «I don't love you anymore» summer 2018. After a year with much gigging and recording, 2019 is set for numerous releases. «Gold» is the first song out, a lovesong celebrating the bond in a relationship between two people, and their way of taking on the world.

GOLD

- «Gold» is about the realisation that what you've been looking for is exactly what you've had all along. It's a celebration of the «us against the world» feeling in a relationship. Producer Nils Martin Larsen blends spacious soundscape with feelgood driving beats that give the song the dynamic vibe we wanted going into the studio.
