

Empower your workforce, elevate your organisation

Unlock the potential of your employees to champion gender equality. And enable them to help your organisation build an inclusive culture that stands out in today's competitive landscape.

What your employees gain

Enhanced understanding of workplace discrimination

Feeling empowered & ready to drive change

Skills for making actionable changes that help build a more inclusive work culture

How this benefits your organisation

Empowering people within your team to become gender equality champions sparks real transformation within your workplace culture and practices. Their behaviour and actions help foster an inclusive and motivated workforce.

This commitment to equity not only boosts morale; it also helps position your organisation as a leader in diversity and inclusion, enhancing your ability to attract and retain top talent.

By taking part, your employees connect with peers from other organisations. Such a collaboration across industries tackles shared challenges, enriching your organisation's collective approach to advancing gender equity.

April 2nd-5th, 2025

Why choose us

01 Experience

We've got 10+ years of experience in organising multi-day in-residence exchanges and training courses for (future) advocates that rely on experiential learning methods.

02 Inclusivity

We're committed to creating safer, inclusive spaces where everyone contributes to a positive, open learning environment; we work with people from diverse backgrounds.

03 Holistic approach

We go beyond delivering a program: we focus on group dynamics, trust-building, community support, and helping participants embed their learnings in daily personal and professional lives.

Q&A

How is the programme structured?

The central training course is delivered in-person in Ommen, Netherlands, along with additional activities like online meetings with policymakers and leaders from pioneering organizations in gender equity.

How many employees should we send to the training?

Sending 2-3 employees is ideal for creating a core group to lead change. We ensure a fair selection process, evaluating candidates based on their motivation and overall profile.

Is there a fee for the course?

The fee is €200, which covers participation in all the programme activities, accommodation, and fully vegan meals.
