LIVE IN CONCERT

BECHMANN SIDENIUS has toured intensively in both Denmark and Germany in recent years with over 80 concerts. Despite the fact that they are only two men on stage, the expression is so big and strong that organizers want more of them. And they are now ready to tour in 2026, bringing their new album “If I Could” with them.

Genre-wise, the duo moves in what they themselves call Alternative Nordic Noir – a cinematic and emotionally appealing sound, where minimalism becomes a strength.

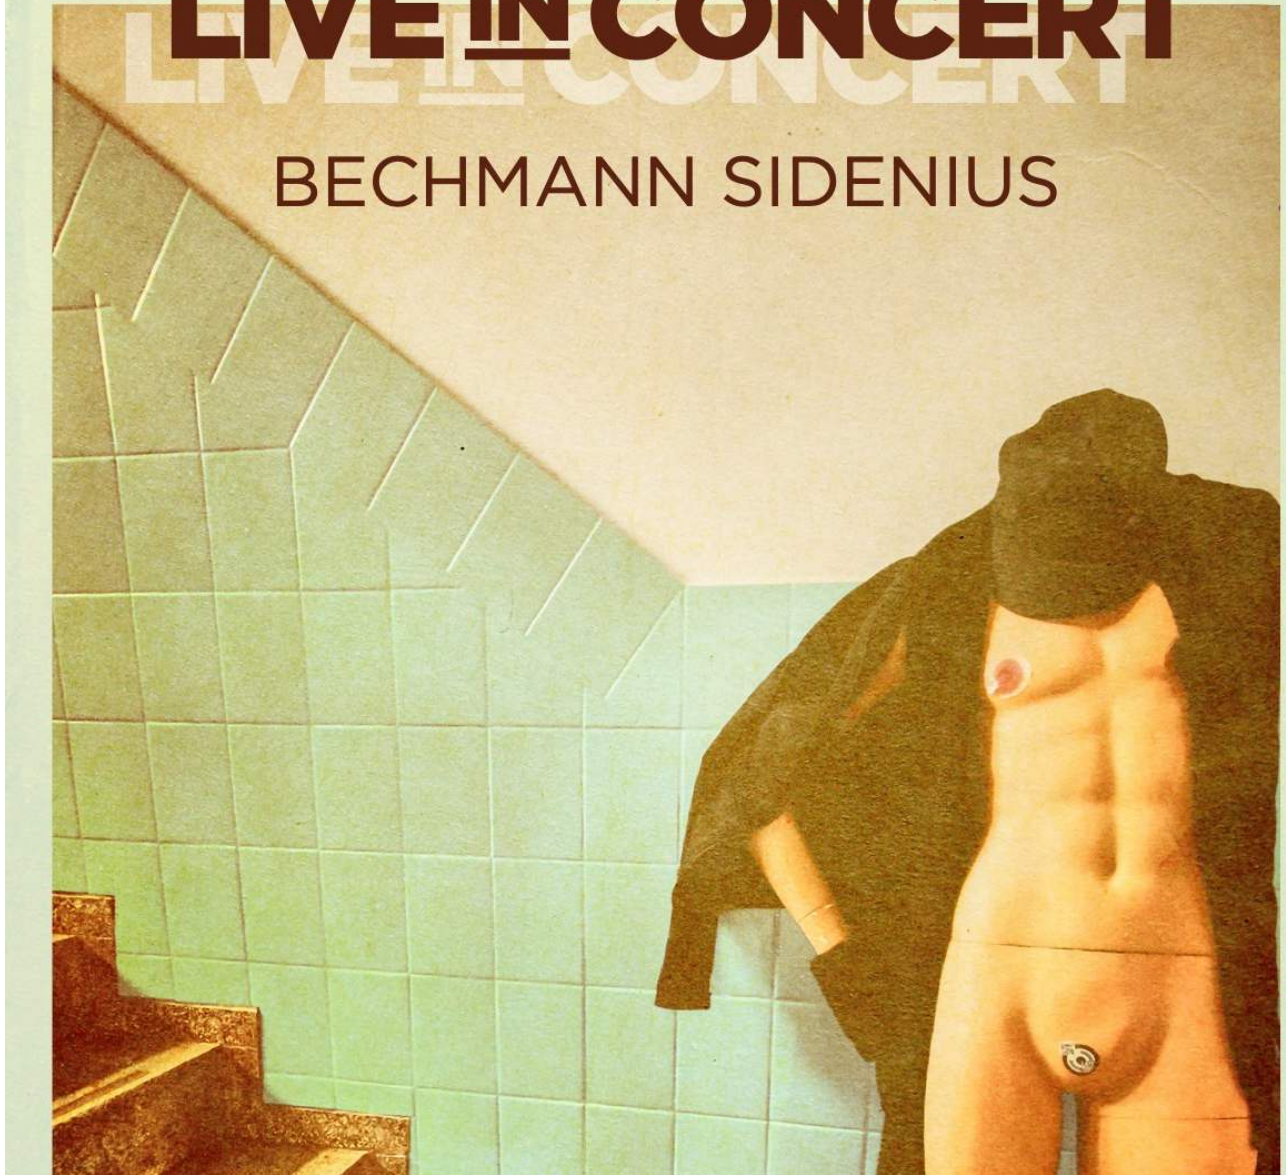

With references from the dusty blues, the music moves in a field of tension between the spherical and the raw, where vocals, guitar and drums form the framework for a sonic landscape filled with presence and depth.

The audience describes the concerts as intense and deeply moving experiences, where you almost float away in a trance-like state of immersion.

BECHMANN SIDENIUS

BECHMANN SIDENIUS are now ready to go on an Album Tour. The many concerts in Germany and Denmark have been successful and the German press has written, among other things:

"I would like to see someone else do what the two Danes do! What a rich sound with just a guitar, effects pedals and drums!"

★★★★★

"If music existed as a doctor's prescription, you could certainly save yourself a lot of dubious products from the pharmaceutical industry's witches' kitchens ..."

★★★★★

"A powerful musical experience that you really don't get every day!"

★★★★★

The audience says:

"From the first to the last note we were left to a musical wonder universe of fantastic melodiousness, acoustic stories and fascinating interplay"

★★★★★

"Unbelievable that two people can make such great music ....also live with guitar, vocals and drums.."

★★★★★

"Cool Alternative Raw Americana"
