Ticketing 1 or 2 Day Passes: - The 1 or 2 Day pass can be bought at Babylon's cashier or online. Babylon staff will put your name on it. If the pass is bought online, it will be scanned and your name must be written on it. If not, you will receive a paper Day Pass and you are to write your name and/or films on it. - The pass can only be collected with valid ID. On the festival days, the pass does not allow automatic entry into the cinemas; session tickets must be collected (free of charge) from the cashier prior to the screening and only by presenting your Day Pass. Before entering the screening room, both the Day Pass & the "free" Session ticket must be presented on request. - If you are a filmmaker and have advised us prior to the event that you will be attending, your seat has been pre-reserved for the session your film is screening in. No other reservations have or can be made for you. You are to collect your Day Pass from the BSFF team upon arrival. - As the cinemas have limited space, it may be possible that the "free tickets" for day pass holders have been sold as Session tickets and space is not available. - Late arrival: Entry into the cinema room will not be permitted once the session has begun. To avoid disappointment, please be on time. - Please note: Tickets, including for Day Pass holders, are limited. Babylon Management reserves all rights to premises, ticketing & conditions of entry
