

10. Stirling Council & Councillors Report	Christmas Tree Location: MF was asked if the council could mend the hole which houses the base of the Aberfoyle Christmas Tree. It was suggested that appeal be made through the new channel for community enquiries.
11. Reports	Police: Report provided
12. AOCB	New Contact Line: Comment was made that confidence in the new direct line through which Community councils must lodge pertinent issues, and which excludes direct contact with SC officers, will have to be earned by swift response from Stirling Council. Christmas Trees: FCS usually provide trees for Aberfoyle and Kinlochard. Delivery to Stronachlachar was discontinued. RD will check delivery dates. Kinlochard Village Hall will decorate the Kinlochard tree, Aberfoyle Traders will be approached to decorate the Aberfoyle tree, Geraint Short will be contacted to see if he still has the lights. Forest Hills: It was noted that the present manager will be leaving Forest Hills. Flooding: A display of proposed flooding works can be seen at Aberfoyle Visitor Centre. Flooding: Suggestion was made that signage might be displayed in Kinlochard and Aberfoyle when the road is flooded, to save residents driving to the affected area and having to turn back. The logistics of this were thought to be a problem, but Stirling Council will be contacted on the issue, as they have already mooted flip signs for roadworks at these locations. It was noted that flood monitors could be put to accurate use in these circumstances if the council would address the issue of the non-functioning Duchray monitor. Inversnaid Hotel: Query was made regarding the proposed heightening of mast and installation of dish. Scottish Government have stated that all new masts should bring benefit to communities, and clarification will be sought from Inversnaid Hotel as to how this will be achieved. Retiring Community Council Members: Heartfelt thanks were expressed to retiring members Fiona McEwan, Ros Dingwall, Colin Smith and John Clow, and to others who have departed through the course of the Community Council term, for their hard work, dedication and achievements over many years. Thank you.

Next meeting: Thursday 6th December 2018 at Forth Inn, Aberfoyle, following Surgery Debate
