Dear Trader

Thanks for your interest! In life everything has its price, everything depends on what the bidder is willing to give for it. Were Armando & New Kim worth more than 1 million euro? For Joel Verschoot and Gaston Van De Wouwer probably yes, but not for the average Belgian who read about this pigeons in the newspaper. If I have to put a value on “Little Sonja” then this amount has been established emotionally and rationally.

Emotional reasons:

- Little Sonja was one of the first pigeons that I bred as a new fancier. In the two first years that I have been playing she has brought me a lot of joy and pleasure. She arrived at Pau in the dark after more than 15 hours of flying! One of the most beautiful moments of my life! This pigeon put me immediately on the national & international map, as new ELD pigeon fancier.

Rational reasons:

- Born July 2021, only 2 years old. So she still has a whole career ahead of her as a breeding pigeon. That is possible because last week I invested in a highly secured environment where she can start her breeding career.
- Both (great) grandparents were very successful and were awarded as the best European pigeons on the extreme long distance. The inheritance power of the two lines is exceptional and come together in her. “Kleinen” from Hendrik Mortier and “SuperSonja” from Dirk Martens both become the last years parents and grandparents of (inter)national top pigeons!
- The versatility of “Little Sonja” is enormous. Short and long distances, she scores well on both. Low and high speeds, she scores well on both. Good and bad weather, she scores well on both.

- My experience as a pigeon photographer has learned me a lot of knowledge to select and pair pigeons. This experience and knowledge has part in the success that I experience barely two years after the start of my extreme long distance colony. After two years I bred and raced a National Ace Pigeon. My experience also tells me that in the future, I will breed acepigeons again from Little Sonja or her children. That may sound prophetic or unrealistic, but time will tell if I'm right.. Little Sonja has the perfect profile to become a mother and grandmother of future national winners and acepigeons on the ELD. I am sure that her input in my breedingloft will be a huge quality injection and will ensure our future in pigeonsport. The (inter)national top cocks that have been offered in recent days for co-breeding are crazy!

Above emotional and rational reasons ensure that Little Sonja is worth much more to me than what is market-based for extreme long distance ace pigeons. Because of my personal experiences with her, and faith in her future breeding results, she belongs in MY opinion to the best pigeons in the world. So if I put an amount on her, I could be accused of megalomania or no sense of reality. That's why I finally don't put a price on her and i don't sell her. Thanks for your time.
