

DET GAMLE PAKHUS - WINE LIST SPRING 23/24 2024

Valid from 29-02-2024

Det Gamle Pakhus' wine cellar

The wine storage in the restaurant consists of around a thousand bottles of wine, the oldest of which are around 20 years old.

We have quite a few biodynamic wines, and also some wines completely without sulphites. In addition to good traditional wines, we try to supplement with exciting wines from countries you don't normally associate with wine production.

EU organic label

When a food is labeled with the EU's organic label, it shows that the product is organic and has been produced and controlled according to the guidelines in the EU's organic regulation.

From July 2010, the EU organic label became mandatory for all prepackaged organic food within the European Union. The organic label may also be used voluntarily for non-prepackaged organic goods produced within the EU or other organic goods imported from third countries.

Demeter

The Demeter label is a label that appears on foods that are produced biodynamically and according to the Demeter principles.

Biodynamic farming is a detailed instruction on how as a farmer you can strengthen the living in all areas of farming. Biologically speaking, diversity is an important factor in all areas: crop selection, variety selection, crop rotation, animal husbandry, soil treatment and nature conservation.

The main differences between the Demeter and ecology rules:

- A holding must have a herd of animals (predominantly ruminants) or enter into a permanent partnership with a biodynamic livestock farm
- The biodynamic field preparations must be used for each crop each year
- Conventional manure and manure must not be used on biodynamic soils
- Cattle must not be dehorned and purchased cattle must not be dehorned
- All feed must be biodynamic or organic as specified
- Fertilizer must be added to the biodynamic compost preparations
- Purchased fertilizer must be composted and added to the compost preparations
- Fertilizer with a maximum of 112 kg N/ha may generally be added. per years on average
- The supply of purchased fertilizer must not exceed 50 kg N/ha
- CMS hybrid varieties (GMO-like production) may not be used
- Row steaming against weeds is prohibited
- UVC light must not be used for irradiating plants (against fungus and mould)
- Nanotechnological substances must not be used

Orange wine is wine made from green grapes (those normally used for white wine), with the skins of the grapes fermented, as is normally done for red wine. That is why orange wine is also called skin-fermented or skin-fermented white wine.

Popularly said, white wine made in the same way as red wine. One also speaks of macerated white wine, where maceration ('soaking', 'extraction', 'skin contact') refers to the presence of grape skins in the fermenting must.

All Hvidtfeldt-Gundersen wines are handmade based on the principles of producing the wine as gently as possible with the fewest possible additives.

We spontaneously ferment most wines, but also use wine yeast to support and push some fermentations in the direction we want to lead them in terms of taste.

We add minimal sulfur when the wine is finished. The rest is up to nature ie. the starting material when we harvest
