He functions as an advisor, teacher, instructor, researcher,commentator and practitioner on Data Protection and Data Privacy, Governance, Risk Management, Compliance and IT security (GRC), Bribery, Fraud and Corruption (BFC) and Corporate Social/Stakeholder Responsibility (CSR) issues...

This highly interactive three-day course explores how Corporate Counsel, Legal Advisors, IT managers, CxO, GRC Directors, CISO, Managers, Internal Auditors, Risk Managers and others can act as a catalyst for GDPR, Data-Privacy, Protection and IT Security compliance. Whether you are a project lead or in charge of establishing a GDPR framework, want to increase the effectiveness of your current data privacy management or wish to benchmark your business, this course will help you to:

- Understand the IT Governance component of GDPR, Data-Privacy, Protection, Cyber- and IT-Security and how to implement it
- Stimulate improvement at each stage of the GDPR implementation and management process
- Discover new and emerging IT and cybersecurity risks - and how you can contribute to streamliningoperations, IT platforms and document compliance
- Leverage the distinct contributions of all stakeholders incl. Executive and Non-Executive Directors, Management, Internal Audit, Risk Managers to Data Protection Officer, Data Controller, Data Processors.
- Examine the impact of leadership style, discipline and organisational culture on IT and Data issues.

The three-day seminar provides practical methodology to identifying, assessing, managing, monitoring and reporting strategic and reputational risks related to Data Protection Officer, Data Controller, Data Processor role and responsibilities. Using case studies and practical examples, participants will learn how to manage and calculate the reputational risks facing their business and answer the following questions:

- Learn from data breaches and crises caused by unmanaged IT and Data security that enhance reputational risks
- Identify and mitigate data protection and privacy risks in the development, communication, implementation, monitoring and reporting of GDPR compliance
- Integrate operational,strategic and reputational risks into your GDPR or Data Privacy framework
- Raise GDPR training and awareness to embed data and IT risk management thinking and practice
- Balance both GDPR, Data-Privacy, Protection, Cyber- and IT-Security threats and opportunities to maximise value to the business
