Continental American Capital Corporation

DESCRIPTION

- CACC is a privately owned New York based real estate merchant banking and international investment entity.
- CACC primarily focuses on opportunistic real estate projects. The firm provides the resources, equity, debt and management in order to acquire, develop and/or add value to the real estate property with the objective to achieve the maximum return for the investors. In addition, CACC advises clients on raising capital via the public markets and financing bridge loans for companies in the USA and overseas.
- The company promotes institutional and private investments in Greece, while concurrently facilitates and participates in Greek ventures in the USA.
- CACC's mission is to provide advisory services to their clients and help them establish and achieve objectives in the areas of real estate, business development, and project financing.
- The principals of CACC have combined assets of several million dollars. As such the firm invests its own capital in selected small and medium size real estate projects.
- The Company maintains an extensive network of elite business and government relations in Greece and in the USA, covering a wide range of affiliations in the real estate industry, developers, hotel owners, construction companies, also a large number of major financial institutions, private banks and multilateral agencies.

SERVICES

- Equity contribution and participation in real estate acquisition and development projects.
- Real estate financing for commercial, residential projects and hotel projects.
- Corporate valuations of target investment properties.
- Advisory services to financial institutions, real estate investment funds and high net worth individuals on strategic and tactical issues.
- Identification, establishment and implementation of strategic alliances, partners and joint-venture for complex real estate development companies.
- Formulation of domestic and international strategic policies to deal with the current and ever changing regulatory environment of land development in Greece.
- Project financing structure and management including structuring and securing both debt and equity for such development projects.
- Analysis of trends in the Greek market and the appropriate marketing or financial responses to the same.
- CACC tailors its services to the specific needs of its clients. Our expertise and resources combined with our energy and commitment enables us to provide our clients with the best real estate, banking and investment advisory services.
