Dr Pastor Mario

We are grateful with the support from Partners. Through the grace of the Lord in the last few months we have managed to continue impacting lives of many orphans and the underprivileged in communities of Zimbabwe through humanitarian work. Your unwavering supporting is overwhelming and we expect even more lives in different continents this year. May the Lord richly bless you and we continue praying and hoping that all of our projects will gain more momentum as we share and spread the love of God.

SUNFLOWER PROJECT- SANYATI

I Care so I Share's Community-Based Agricultural Support Project designed to stimulate inclusive economic growth and poverty reduction in poor rural communities of Sanyati by improving access to productive infrastructure and services that are expected to lead to sustainable agricultural production and equitable returns continues very well. The sunflower project is almost ready to yield its first returns. The organization and the community at large are so much excited by the progress and we hope the anticipated results will be realized soon.

The proceeds from the Sunflower project are anticipated to support the project in the next season as well as helping with other needs like the provision of tuition fees of the needy.

YOUNG DREAMS PROJECT - ZIMBABWE

Young Dreams Project in Epworth community continue witnessing the empowerment of Primary and Secondary school going children through tuition fees and school supplies. Educational Empowerment is dedicated to providing access to an educational environment in Zimbabwe that improves children's future economic opportunities and affords them fundamental reading skills. Empowering students beyond the classroom provides them with the necessary skills to address the needs of an ever-changing world. Students with the ability to transfer their skills developed inside the classroom to new environments helps them tackle new situations with confidence. I Care so iShares's student empowerment enables students to gain the authority and agency to make decisions on their own. ICIS student empowerment generally includes learning, teaching and leadership in the classroom. We believe that empowerment happens through student authorization and action upon gaining a sense of power.

If you don't go after
what you want,
you'll never have it.

SCHOOL DROPOUT PROJECT

I Care so iShare continues being dedicated to ensure that lives of the hopeless is positively sustained through educational empowerment in both urban and rural areas. The organization's efforts are impacting the lives of boys and girls in the rural area of Sanyati.

Many children are receiving the much-needed support and the community members applauds the continuous kind gesture of supporting orphans and the underprivileged. Lost hope continues to be restored, dreams reshaping and future being mold for the better.

The beneficiaries are so much grateful with the support and are very much committed to working hard in redefining their destiny. I Care so iShare is dedicated to supporting these kids until they are independent individuals who are able to sustain themselves.

Education for all.

I Care so iShare hope to continue providing educational assistance to the underprovided through the provision of tuition fees. School uniforms and school supplies. Please kindly join hands in prayer as we believe God for the provision of our own that supports even more children. For with God all things are possible.

HOT MEAL PROVISION-ZIMBABABWE

I Care so iShare participated in the Hot Meal Project for orphaned school. I Care so iShare already engages the children through the School Dropout, Young-Talk and Trauma and Mental Health Campaign. The organisation believes in the provision of basic needs comprising food support to those who are hunger stricken and the need.

The Hot Meal feeding program is being run in Epworth community where a lot of children are in deep poverty and hardly afford a hot meal each day. It is a great gesture of love and kindness serving the vulnerable members as they partake their much-needed balanced diet meal.

In Africa thousands of children cannot be afforded a single hot meal a day. The much disturbing statistics can be reduced by combined effort of providing few resources towards such projects in school setups and or community setups where a hot meal can be provided. The communities in Zimbabwe continue to be in great need of such provisions each and every day.

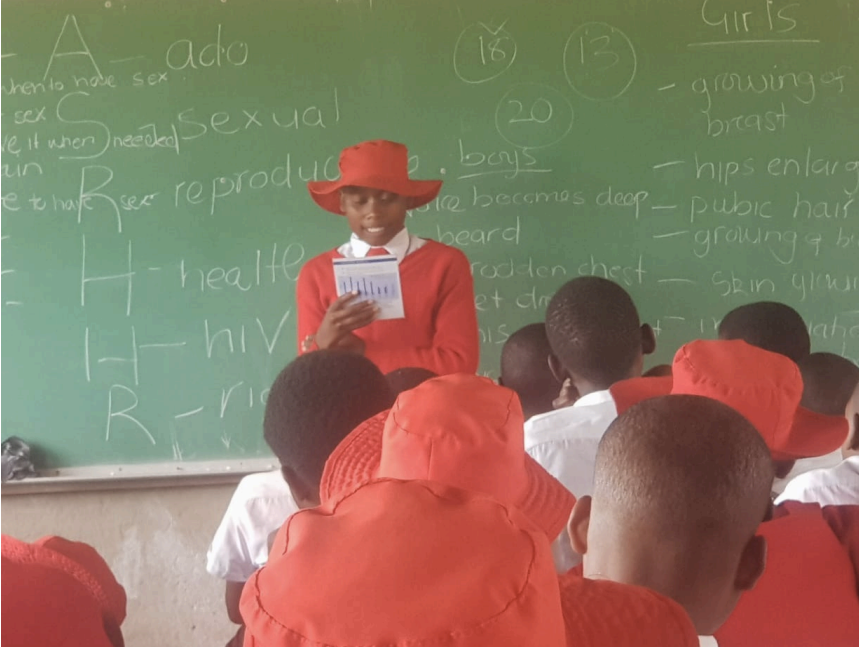

TRAUMA AND MENTAL HEALTH CARE

The effects of Covid-19 continue to be witnessed in Zimbabwe. A lot of children are being abused emotionally, mentally, physically and through neglect. There is much need for the provision of Trauma and Mental health care issues especially towards teenagers.

There have been many cases of drug abuse in many communities of Zimbabwe. The cases has left I Care so iShare and other stakeholders with a pivotal role to play to eradicate this problem that poses harm to the health of young people.

The organisation continues offering sensitization programs towards children mainly aged between 14 and 18. More than 500 students continue receiving lessons on important aspects of life. Professionals of different fields are being engaged and the impact has been overwhelming. We shall continue to be committed to ensuring that young people are removed in harm's way through the much needed sensitisation in different communities both in urban and rural areas.
