- Exchange students (they were mentioned several times, but they were not target group. May-be Bachelor students, interns.
- More emphases on making students know different institutional services they can access to.
- Communications and technology
- New profiles (researchers, invited colleagues - staff members...)
- Clearer dissemination processes
- I have no idea.
- Aspects concerning the welcoming of the academic staff
- Development/Improvement of the InComm Tool. Applying the same tool for incoming staff members.
- Continuing the journey along the Life Cycle (eg. being part of the community and also departure/alumni).
- Onboarding
- interactive sessions,
- Inviting international students, especially PhDs, to get feedback from them. Doing some outside work like interactive session outside of a university would be nice.
- International Seminars and Conferences
- Perhaps some case studies, examples of implementation
- Hello, thank you for your work on the InComm tool, it was a great experience to listen to colleagues from different universities about how they approach the applicants and new students, and to share our procedures. I would appreciate a more specific timeline and specific procedures connected to the specific periods.
- Take more time on each population
- keep an interdisciplinary approach - involving several stakeholders

- The project included all stages of the student's journey. It also seems interesting to check and standardize the travel of other people coming to universities for other types of mobility.

What would be your suggestions for improvement? Please be concise but as specific as possible.

- People, who had worked for the project, enjoyed the last event more.
- Continuous reminder of the availability of the RIO
- Department reorganisations and the improvement of the tool to enable cloud based uploading via personal accounts.
- Accelerate the sharing of best practices by making large surveys in the UE community
- How to showcase the tools to new potential users
- The registration for the parallel sessions could be organised better, and the final confirmation could have been sent a little earlier. Connecting online with the participants was not arranged and the participants list would be sent after the event, but I have not seen that too. Missed opportunity.
- Overall the event was a great success. As a PhD student I enjoyed the sessions where i get to see another perspective of the welcoming sessions. I don't have any specific suggestions. However i am very curious to know the results of InComm 1.
- Quicker access to the project results
- The sessions varied. I feel some were almost just presentations of partners of the project, while others were more pure knowledge sharing with brief, input-presentations. I much preferred the latter. I would love to see more knowledge share sessions between partners, so that on top of learning about the tool, we could talk about our own potential implementation and be inspired by others.
- I would appreciate a more specific timeline - in the sense: Admissions - Admissions Results - Visa - Accommodation - Enrollment - First Semester... and what procedures are connected to these specific periods. (I am missing it here: <https://www.incomm-project.eu/incomm-tool/>) Thank you for your work.
- For the event in itself, take two whole days, not one day over 2 days.
- I would have liked a way to easily stay in contact with the other participants, e.g. a linkedin group or a participants list. For future events it would also be nice to receive the powerpoints of the presentations and general outcomes/findings from the workshops/interactive sessions.
