2023 Annual Meeting in Münster

On September 14-15th, the second annual meeting of INTEC was organized as a two-days event in Münster, Germany. Our local organizers were prof. Frank Rutsch, dr. Yvonne Nitschke and Frau Gabriele Blaski. This year the meeting had a translational overarching topic, focusing on present and future therapeutics, biomarkers and pharmaceutical trials. With a nice representation of both academia and industry, and of junior and senior researchers, the meeting provided a comprehensive overview of the promising therapeutic strategies as well as the challenges in the field of ectopic calcification. By doing this, it also highlighted how rapid the field has evolved in the last five years. Because of these rapid evolutions, we decided to add an additional session of oral presentations on the second day in stead of poster presentations. Also, there was for the first time a workshop for the young researchers on career planning which was highly appreciated. Of course, the highlight of the meeting was the dinner, followed by the INTEC party which will undoubtedly be the benchmark for INTEC meetings in the years to come.

“INTEC is an inclusive community that is also dedicated to nurturing growth and advancement of young researchers”

2023 Summer School

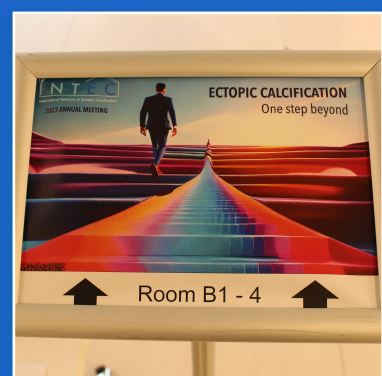

2023 was also the year of our first Summer School in Faro, Portugal. Ten interested & enthusiastic young researchers joint this three-day interactive event to learn everything there is to know about zebrafish and their role in ectopic calcification research.
