2024 INTEC Annual Meeting in Faro (Port.) Registration & Abstract Submission are Open!

Our annual meeting this year is organized by the team of Léonor Cancela in Faro, Portugal on September 12-13 2024. During this year's annual meeting, the masks will fall off as to whether calcification should be considered friend or foe in health and disease of the patient. The local organizing committee has put together a titillating program for you to enjoy, with several esteemed experts in different aspects of calcification research and management as invited speakers. As usual, we have also reserved several presentation slots for early career researchers based on their abstract submissions. →

Because the workshop we organized during last year's meeting was such a success, we have continued this tradition during the 2024 meeting with two exciting workshops on presentation skills and on science communication. Focussing on young researchers, the workshops are of course open to all interested to learn more about these topics. And talking about traditions: also this year there will be a meeting dinner followed by music and dance. In other words: there are many ways and opportunities to put your best foot forward during the 2024 INTEC annual meeting.

We warmly welcome all INTEC members, their PhD students and Postdocs as well as all interested researchers, scientists and clinicians to join us in Faro. For members of INTEC, the participation to this summer school will be reimbursed. Registration and abstract submission are now open and can be done via www.itnintec.com/annualmeeting2024.

See you in Faro!

INTEC Sponsors the 2024 iSCCa Meeting

INTEC is happy to support the first International Symposium on Cardiovascular Calcification which will be held in Nice, France on October 10-11 2024. The meeting aims to share the most recent knowledge around the complex pathophysiology, management and treatment of cardiovascular calcification. Embedded in the beautiful décor of the French Riviera, we encourage you to join this first of its kind symposium! Information and the pre-registration form for this meeting can be found on www.itnintec.com/iscca-international-symposium-on-cardiovascular-calcification/.

Coming Soon: the Novel Webinar Series

From October on, we will resume our INTEC/ISSEC webinar series on diverse aspects of ectopic calcification. Keep an eye on the INTEC website for the announcement of the novel invited topics and speakers. Additionally, if you have an interesting idea for a webinar topic, either given by yourself or by a colleague, you can let us know via itnintec@ugent.be. In the meantime, you can re-enjoy the webinars of the previous series on www.itnintec.com/webinarseries/.
