

TORTEROLO & RE

For the past 50 years we design and manufacture security doors.

TORTEROLO & RE

Since 1964 we have been designing and producing security doors to protect and customise every entry point. Our strength lies in our experience and knowledge, and the awareness that things never remain the same for long. We have always striven for innovation in terms of performance, functionality, environment and aesthetics. To offer harmony, privacy, comfort and style.

Kensington Security Doors & Windows Ltd (KSDW) was incorporated in 2011 to become the sole UK distributor of Torterolo & Re (T&Re) and look after the UK export market for them.

KSDW has a showroom in Chelsea Creek with the full range of T&Re products.

Please do not hesitate to contact the showroom to organise a visit and introduction to the range of T&Re products.

DESIGN

A security door represents a significant element of domestic decor and actively contributes to defining the style of a home, even before entering the house. We collaborate with established architects and design studios, and offer design-tailored solutions from both a technical and a stylistic point of view, underpinned by the quality the market has come to expect from our products.

SUSTAINABILITY

The company has been dedicating careful attention for years now to selecting the best materials for its security doors that guarantee their quality, reliability, and durability.

Tortero & Re begins producing wood panels for its security doors by choosing wood from controlled forest regeneration areas in order to respect the forest's ecological equilibrium and its protection and expansion. Solid wood panels, both in classic and modern designs, are the most valuable among Tortero & Re products, with beauty derived from the accuracy of working and the uniqueness of each and every element.
