

MIDWAY EVALUATION

Since you are almost halfway through your match, we suggest that you do a midway evaluation. The idea is that each of you each fill out a copy of the evaluation. At your next meeting, you can share your perspectives, and discuss whether you are on the right track.

What did we initially agree on trying to accomplish together?

How is our plan progressing?

Which goals, if any, should we adjust or redefine?

What has been the three biggest revelations during our mentorship?

How are we working together - is there something we should start, stop or continue doing?
