Education

Summary

I see myself as an enthusiastic, hard working, and creative person. For the last years I have dedicated my time to what I am most passionate about, web design and development. I have done great school projects like creating a multimedia agency or starting an online supermarket. I have earned a lot of experience working with other people who helped me improve my communication skills and efficiency. As a fast learner I am always looking for new challenges to achieve the best of me.
