

September 24, 2015

Natural antioxidants in broiler feed improve the performance already within 7 days

Certain natural antioxidants are characterised by influencing the performance of broiler chicks after a very short period of time.

Recent trial results have shown that the inclusion of some of our products in the Nor-Guard® line results in significant improvements in the daily live weight gain and feed conversion ratio of newly hatched chicks already after 7 days, and these improvements were maintained at 10 days. The performance of broilers in the first few days after hatching is very important, as it influences the performance throughout the rest of their life.

Please contact Nor-Feed A/S if you wish to receive more information about our products in the Nor-Guard® product line.