1. Introduction

The Nordic Summer University

Founded in 1950, the Nordic Summer University (hereafter referred to as NSU) is an independent, non-profit organization that supports the development of cross-national networks and interdisciplinary research initiatives in the Nordic and the Baltic regions. NSU is a unique international forum based on democratic, non-hierarchical and explorative work that fosters scholarly and artistic conversations. NSU provides a forum that is open for everyone from bachelor students to professors and freelance artists. NSU offers scholarly activities and conversations that transcend institutional hierarchies and geographical borders, strengthens topics with particular relevance for the Nordic and Baltic context such as Understanding Migration in Nordic and Baltic Countries, Cybiosis: Shaping Human-Technology Futures, Feminist Philosophy: Time, History, and the Transformation of Thought and Narrative and Memory: Ethics, Aesthetics, Politics.

NSU facilitates research and networking experience for scholars and students, artists, independent researchers, and freelancers and builds on the values of sustainability, equality and inclusion. The organization strives to combine two traditions: the continental ideals of learning and cultivation of the self and the Nordic heritage of folkbildning and self-organization, with its investments in open-access education and active citizenship.

NSU aims for a contemporary understanding of these values by providing infrastructures that further knowledge inquiries, cultural and intellectual exchange, and community building in the Nordic-Baltic region. NSU thus contributed towards the expansion of the understanding of Nordic values in an international context and launched a new project in 2019 called Tracing the Spirit of the Nordic Summer University - Past, Present and Future under the Nordic Council of Ministers’ joint branding project, The Nordics, to trace the spirit of Nordicness across the world through NSU’s radical history of research. NSU commissioned 10 artists and researchers to trace the spread of NSU’s values across the world. At the forefront of creative techniques in archiving, philosophy and creative methods, the projects will culminate in a mini-festival in Norway in Summer 2020 to celebrate NSU’s 70th anniversary.
2. Overview of main activities

2.1. Symposia

The core activities of NSU took place within our Study Program. In the year of 2019, NSU held a total of 21 symposia. This includes nine symposia during the winter, nine symposia during the summer session and three ad hoc events (of which one was held during winter and two during fall). Symposia have been held in nine different countries in the Nordic and Baltic region (Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Iceland, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, and Poland) and attracted more than 400 participants from all over the world from 39 different countries (see graph below based on the participant survey 2019. Note that ad hoc participants are not included in this number).

Doctoral Student Laura Brännkärr-Väänänen from the Department of Systematic Theology from Åbo Akademi University has assisted the Board in presenting the NSU results of 2019 more visual as graphs. The data includes participant info (gender, country of origin, new/returning participant), the funding info and some of the evaluation info. In general, it can be said that NSU has received a very good grade from the participants, on a scale of 1-10 almost all averages are between 8 and 10. NSU participants are both men and women and include newcomers and returning participants. A survey is sent to all participants, but is voluntary for them to reply.

GRAPH 1: Origin of NSU participants per circle, first line shows origin of participants during the summer session, second line the winter symposium.
GRAPH 2: Gender of NSU participants. The first line represents the summer symposia and the second line the winter symposium.

GRAPH 3: Balance of newcomers and returning participants among NSU participants. The first line represents the summer symposia and the second line the winter symposium.

The annual summer session, which is the only occasion where all our nine study circles are gathered in one place, was held between the 28th of July to the 4th of August on the Estonian west coast in Roosta Holiday Village.

All the winter symposia and the ad hoc events were arranged in different places in collaboration with the local universities and institutions in each region.
Winter symposia have taken place at the following universities:

- Aarhus University (DK),
- University of Bergen (NO),
- European Humanities University (LT),
- Lund University (SE),
- Saint Petersburg State University, (RU)
- University of Turku (FI),
- Södertörn University (SE),
- University of Wroclaw (PL).

Other institutions NSU have collaborated with are:

- Nida Art Colony (LT),
- Nordic Culture Point (FI),
- The Baltic Centre for Writers and Translators (SE)

The results of the participant evaluation after the Winter Symposia and the Summer Session 2019 were excellent and can be seen in the picture here:

For a detailed description of the collaborations and the outcomes of each event, see the appendices 4.1 for the Winter Symposia and 4.2.2 for the Summer Symposia.
2.2 Meetings

The Board

At the beginning of the year 2019, the NSU Board consisted of the following members: Disa Kamula (Chair), Björn Jónsson (Vice chair), Nicole des Bouvrie (Treasurer), Eret Talviste and Erik Poulsen. However, due to some restructuring within the organisation and for personal reasons, some board members that were elected for year 2019 had to resign from the post -- this is something we have been evaluating and will work together with the nominating committee to avoid in the future. The deputies that stepped in were: Mogens Chrom Jacobsen, Annikki Wahlöö (for six months), and Inta Balode.

The Board met four times during the year 2019 as planned. The Board also had regular Skype meetings throughout the year to make urgent decisions when necessary. All board meetings involved a pre-Skype session one week in advance of the live meeting. The board held nine Skype meetings during the year.

The first Board meeting (SM1-2019) was held from 1-3 March in Roosta, Estonia. The main purpose of the meeting was to set the framework for the Summer Session together with the Arrangement Committee members who were in charge for practical arrangements of the Summer Session. The meeting was held in Roosta, in the same place as the Summer Session. Based on the peer reviews of the proposals for the new study circle the Board discussed and decided on the recommendation of the study program 2020 for the General Assembly. The Board also organized an open meeting at the University of Tallinn for the local students on 4th of March 2019 together with the Arrangement Committee with a total of 12 people participating in the open info meeting.

Second Board meeting (SM2-2019) was held between May 29-June 2 in Copenhagen, Denmark. Collaborating partner was Föreningarna Nordens Förbund, who offered space for the meeting and with whom the Board discussed the matters concerning bookkeeping. Main purpose was to prepare the 2020 budget, and prepare for the Summer Session. The planned visit to the Danish National Archive did not happen during the meeting, but the archive was still sorted and prepared for visitors and researchers. The meeting included a visit to the Danish National Library and the Marina Abramowitz’s Method of Treasures Exhibition.

In connection to the meeting, an open workshop was organised with Prof. Marie Harder of Brighton University and the WeValue-project on Sunday the 2nd of May, where members of the Board and NSU participants had a workshop together to define the values of the organisation and create value-based indicators for measuring the work of NSU in the future. Based on this NSU Board decided to open a channel for donations and develop the fundraising also on an individual level in the future. This process supported the Boards work in developing a language and increasing the visibility of the work done in NSU to use in applications towards external funders. This workshop can be seen as part of the ongoing process of developing the professional scope of the Board.

Third Board meeting (SM3-2019) was held on July 27 in Roosta, Estonia, in connection with the Summer Session between July 28 and August 4. Main purpose was to oversee the organisation for the Summer Session, including preparations for the first two Coordinator and Board meetings (FM1 and FM2) of the year and the General Assembly meeting.

The fourth Board meeting (SM4-2019) was held from September 20-23 in Vilnius, Lithuania. Collaborating partner was European Humanities University (EHU). Main purpose was to prepare for the upcoming year’s study program, organisational work and conduct the coordinator meeting FM3. Before the meeting took place, two of NSU Board members took part in the International conference for “European Education on values and humanity - Humanitarian knowledge, human rights and “good” governance: state, academic and human rights advocacy institutions in Lithuania for promoting human rights and education of professionals from CIS countries and the countries of Eastern Partnership” on September 19th. This conference was organised by EHU, NSU and J. Althusius Institute and co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union. The Board members shared information about the possibilities of collaboration with NSU for 35 people participating in the international conference, mostly from Baltic and East-Central European countries.

The General Assembly

The General Assembly is the highest authority of NSU and meets only once a year during two afternoons in the Summer Session which this year took place between 28 July to 4 August in Roosta, Estonia. At the General Assembly meetings the organisational guidelines for the year 2020 were set, the board 2020 was elected, annual and financial report 2018 was approved and budget and study programme for 2020 was decided.

To maintain the democratic values of NSU, it is important that the General Assembly reflects the participant distribution within the organisation. Representatives of both the study circles as well as the regions were selected from among the attendees to the Summer Session. The first preparatory meeting of the representatives was held on the first evening of the Summer Session, when people could gather in the regional meetings to talk about the needs and direction of NSU for the coming year based on their regional background.

To increase the commitment and democratic values of NSU, the Board organised special workshops around the General Assembly to assist the representatives to the General Assembly in their work. As the work of the Board is done throughout the year, many members of the General Assembly are somewhat overwhelmed by all the information and the scope of the decisions they are asked to make. Two separate workshops were held during the Summer Session 2019 to accompany the representatives: one workshop on the functioning and expectations of the General Assembly itself and one workshop (meeting twice) on the financial situation and budget proposals made by the Board. During these workshops questions could be asked of the Board which contributed to much better understanding by the representatives of the decisions to be made during the General Assembly. Both workshops were very well attended, and contributed to a higher level of discussions during the General Assembly.

The new board members of 2020 were selected by the General Assembly and they started to organize their work already in the summer. The new incoming board members were also invited to the third coordinator and board meeting of the year in Vilnius. The General Assembly 2019 selected the first Baltic Chair for the Board 2020, Inta Balode, together with four board members and seven deputies.

Coordinators and the Board

The first meeting with the Coordinators and the Board members (FM1-2019) was held on 28 July in Roosta, Estonia, one day before the Summer Session began. During the meeting, the Board gathered self-evaluations of the Winter Symposia and confirmed the continuation of the projects in their first and second year. In the meeting the coordinators finalized the practical plans for the Summer Session study programme. Based on the self-evaluations of the coordinators, suggestions for changes of the organisational guidelines for the 2020 Winter Symposia were discussed. Coordinators were also meeting with the Arrangement Committee members, who informed them about the practicalities of the venue where the Summer Session took place. They also met with the Youth Leaders who were in charge of the Children’s Circle. After the meeting, the coordinators prepared for the participants’ arrival.

The second meeting with the Coordinators and the Board members (FM2-2019) was held on 3 August in Roosta, Estonia, at the end of the Summer Session. The Board, coordinators, Youth Leaders, and the Arrangement Committee evaluated the Summer Session. Information about the coming third Coordinator and Board meeting of the year (FM3) was shared. Information about finishing and starting a study circle was also shared during this meeting.

The third meeting with the Coordinators and the Board members (FM3-2019) was held from 21-22 September in Vilnius, Lithuania in connection with the SM-4 Board meeting. Collaborating partner was European Humanities University. The Board shared the plans for the upcoming year 2020, all the participants discussed current Nordic issues, develop the organisational work, updated NSU strategy and transferred knowledge about the study circle’s practical work to the new coordinators, sharing guidelines for the practical arrangements for the winter symposia for 2020. Preparations were made for new external funding applications. The participants of the meeting also got a chance to do some networking in the spirit of the Nordic heritage of folkbildning in a guided walk through the old parts of Vilnius ending in the utopian self-governing area called Užupia.
3. Organisation

In 2019 NSU wrote a new strategy plan for the years 2020-2023. The overall aim of the strategy plan is to work on sustainability. Sustainability is on the one end supported by promoting environmentally responsible means of maintaining international networks and supporting local communities in the planning of NSU events. Participants are supported in making environmentally responsible choices about travel and consumption for NSU events.

Yet besides these environmental concerns, the sustainability of NSU as an organisation is furthermore developed by focussing on the following areas: developing external funding, increasing participation and visibility, maintaining plurality and building on local partnerships. The NSU Strategy Plan 2020-2023 is attached as appendix 4.6.

3.1. General

Networking, research, and folkbildning

As written in the statues, the purpose of NSU is to support a tripartite structure: Networking, research and folkbildning. In 2019, NSU continued supporting this structure by organizing activities within the Nordic and Baltic regions in collaboration with existing and new collaborators and networks. Through open calls NSU was also able to reach out to new participants and held three ad hoc symposia in Iceland, Finland and Sweden. NSU has been aiming to strengthen the awareness of this structure in the internal and external communication. Individual circles did not need to relate to all three concepts equally, but the activities of NSU as a whole were addressing all of these three aspects of the organisation. This purpose was most visible in the Summer session in Estonia, where nine parallel symposia were held in one location simultaneously together with the Children’s Circle, which was led by four Youth Leaders from Iceland and Denmark and contained 26 participants.

Transparency and Work of the Board

In the course of the year 2019 the board has focused on several areas that required development during 2019. Based on remarks made during the General Assembly in the summer 2018 and suggestions by the Nominating Committee of that year, the Board took up the responsibility to work on increasing transparency of their own work towards the larger NSU community by seeking external legal advice, increase communication from the Board to the community through the newsletters and by preparing the General Assembly with more detailed documentation and practical workshops. The Board also continued improving the internal working structures by starting to use an online platform Trello, where the individual tasks are easily shared and processes are made visible. The communication of the Board was also improved through creating a WhatsApp group for quick messaging among the board members, and by agreeing on a regular meeting times in Skype and in email. Introducing the self-evaluation forms for the Board members to support the work of the Nomination Committee was done for the first time in 2019.
To provide more transparency and to increase the internal efficiency of the work of the Board, the tasks of the Board were laid out in more detail during the first meeting of the year, dividing the tasks between board members based on availability and capability. This list of tasks was updated throughout the whole year. After consideration and discussion, the Board concluded that the amount of work, especially with the specialised work needed concerning, for instance, but not limited to, writing grant applications, is too much to be carried out on a voluntary basis. Therefore, to increase the income for NSU, the Board investigated options to create more places on the Board. The result of the work was presented to the General Assembly in the Summer of 2019. The Board suggested that the budget has to include money for writing grants, and that the number of Deputies to the Board members needs to be increased, adding that the Deputies need to become more active in the work of the board.

Transparency was an important aspect for the work of NSU, as the community of NSU is held together by shared trust and a shared spirit of NSU. As most NSU communication is done remotely, in order to facilitate a better informed NSU body, the Board used the channels of information available to provide more information about the work of the Board with introducing a chapter “updates from the Board” after every meeting to give a status update of the organisation in the NSU newsletter that was sent out to all contacts of NSU. The online support page for coordinators was updated after the meetings.

Another main aspect to focus on was the role and work of the Nomination Committee. This Committee is tasked with assisting the General Assembly in providing the checks and balances for the Board of NSU, as the statues indicate. In collaboration with the Nomination Committee of 2018, the Board of 2019 provided clear guidelines for the aim and scope of the work of the Nomination Committee that got in effect before and during the General Assembly 2019. By involving the Nomination Committee more throughout the whole year, which the statues of NSU support, the Nomination Committee was able to provide a more active role in supporting and securing the continuation of Board’s work in a sustainable and equal way. This was building up the level of transparency for the whole organisation and also introduced a practical structural change in the number of the deputies for the board members.
3.2. Study program

The NSU Study Program of 2019 consisted of the following circles:

1 Understanding Migration in Nordic and Baltic Countries (2017-2019).
5 Patterns of Dysfunction in Contemporary Democracies (2018-2020).

Consolidating the Study Program

The Board has continued the work to strengthen the Study Program, for example by clarifying the guidelines for ECTS credits. This has been implemented and ECTS credits have been allocated to several participants. During the General Assembly, three new circles were elected and accepted to become a part of the Study Program for 2020. These three circles (Urban Studies: Between Creativity and Power; Hospitality and Solidarity: Feminist Philosophy in Thought, History and Action; and Narrative and Violence), will replace the three circles whose three year period has ended. This means that the expanded Study Program of nine circles will be maintained, and thus the increasing amount of activities, scope and visibility of NSU as a whole. To secure the funding of the Study Program also for the future, the Board has been working intensively together with the Coordinators, on securing external funding. So far, two applications have been submitted: one to the Nordplus Horizontal Application and one to Creative Europe, an organ within the European Union. The Board is still waiting to hear about the outcomes of these two applications.

Content and scholarly quality

The work on developing the content and scholarly quality of the Study Program has been moving forward. Even though the number of proposed new study circles did not increase this year, compared to previous years, NSU still managed to keep the scholarly quality of the Study Program on a satisfying level. To secure the development in this regard, the Board has made an effort to make the application process for new study circles more accessible, for example by distributing it via existing networks, collaboration partners, Newsletters, and social media platforms. NSU has also extended the period of applications in order to increase the prospects of receiving more applications with a high quality and innovative ideas. The structure for the peer review process has been revised and it is expected that the process of 2020 will be even more efficient and outreaching than it was this year. For example, in order to increase the chances of finding eligible peer reviewers, NSU has systematized the requests. for possible peers, by adding it in the participant survey. This means that from now on, all NSU participants can simply write directly in the survey, if they would be willing to help out, either by peer reviewing themselves, or by recommending other peers.

3.3. Communication & Publishing

Publishing strategy

In 2018 a publishing strategy was developed by the Board in collaboration with the circle coordinators. It is enclosed as an appendix to the activity plan 2019. The purpose of the publication strategy was to define the publishing activities of NSU as an organization, while taking into account the great diversity in the study circles of NSU.

Since then, a change in policy from Nordic Council of Ministers has been made, which has been incorporated in 2019. NSU funding for publications can from 2019 onwards only be given to non-commercial projects that are open to everyone, except when NSU uses funds that do not come from the Nordic Council of Ministers. This has led to having turned down one application for funding for publication in 2019. Applications already approved before 2019 are not affected by this change.

The Anniversary project (see point 3.5) will produce some publications, which are all mandated to follow these new guidelines by the Nordic Council of Ministers.

Communication strategy

In 2019, NSU continued to develop the communication strategy, both regarding the internal and external communication. On an internal level, NSU worked to make the communication more efficient and transparent, for example by implementing new project management tools such as Trello. On an external level, NSU has worked to improve the visibility of the organisation, for example by developing the official nordic.university homepage further. The external communication strategy also includes the preparation for the upcoming anniversary year 2020, where NSU will take the opportunity to increase its visibility, for example by organizing events and disseminating information about the organization via social media and beyond.

In order to further implement the democratic and open-access values of NSU, a new communication strategy is being developed to become less dependent on commercial structures and to increase the efficiency of the information flow. This strategy is to be further developed and implemented in 2020.

2 Towards the aim of ‘Strengthening visibility’.
NSU related publications 2019 (not funded by NSU)

Ongoing NSU related publication projects (not funded by NSU)

- Hanna Meretoja and Colin Davis are editing The Routledge Companion to Literature and Trauma, to which several of the members of circle 4 contribute. The book is due to be published in 2020.
- Former Circle 7 have started a publication project with the Lamb Press that had funding approved by the board of NSU in the fall of 2018.
- Current circle 3 Feminist Philosophy: Time, History and the Transformation of Thought started a publication project based on the work of the circle in 2019. Projected year of publication is 2020.
- Current circle 6 Critique in the Age of Populism will publish a special issue of the scholarly journal Ideas in History based on their winter symposium in 2019. Projected to be published in 2020.
- Circle 3 Hospitality and Solidarity: Feminist Philosophy in Thought, History and Action is planning a publication of papers presented at the winter symposium in a special issue of the journal of Approaching Religion, to be published in 2020.
- A spin off from a former NSU circle Appearances of the Political group is writing a blog http://appearancesofthepolitical.blogspot.com. An issue of Nordicum-Mediterraneum is in preparation as an outcome of their seminar series in Europe.

Archive

The complete physical material archive of NSU is now housed at the National Archive in Copenhagen. In 2019 the board focused on making the archive more available and known to the larger audience. This focus culminated in the anniversary project (see point 3.5), which provided funds to individual artists and researchers to visit the material stored at the Danish National Archive. In total 5 researchers/research groups made use of this opportunity in 2019 and visited NSU material held by the Danish National Archive.
3.4. Economy

Grants and Financial support for participants

An important aspect of the work of NSU is to make activities accessible and available for people from all backgrounds. To that end, several policies are in place to support people who do not have enough financial means to attend NSU activities.

1. Travel grants
   The circle coordinators can use the money made available by NSU to provide travel grants for participants who wish to attend the winter symposium. These grants are given based on actual expenditures and includes travel support for coordinators of the circle. In total 90 people were supported in their travel, for a total of 173,102 SEK.

2. West-Nordic and Baltic Outreach Program
   To support people from underrepresented areas, there is a special fund to support participants to the summer session that come from the West-Nordic regions as well as the Baltics. The summer session arrangement committee decides on awarding this special travel grant. This summer session took place in the Baltics, so fewer applications were received from Baltic participants than in other years. In total 3 West-Nordic and Baltic Outreach grants were given, for a total of 18,151 SEK.

3. Scholarships and Grants
   The Scholarship and Grant program exists to help cover the costs for potential participants in NSU Summer Session, who would not otherwise have funding to participate. Scholarships are exclusively for Nordic and Baltic students, whereas grants are for those with financial needs from those regions. Coordinators together with the summer session arrangement committee decide on awarding the scholarships and grants. In total 13 scholarships and 28 grants were given, for a total of 101,919 SEK. Three of these grants were partial grants, as they were provided in collaboration with St. Petersburg University.

External funding

In 2019 NSU has focussed on further developing the external funding strategy. A preliminary plan for evidencing and increasing the extent of external funding and contributions was laid out in 2018 and has been implemented in 2019.

3 Towards the aim of “Evidencing and increasing the extent of external contributions”.
Results in 2019:

- NSU has raised external funds in order to organise the upcoming 70th Anniversary of NSU in 2020, a total of 250,000 DKK provided by The Nordics. Although this is an extra project in addition to the core activities of NSU, it supports the general work of NSU by raising visibility and by culminating in a special festival day during the Summer Session in 2020. For more information on this project, see heading 3.5.

- During the General Assembly and the coordinators meetings, the Board has raised awareness of the financial situation of NSU and the need to raise more external funding. This has resulted in a different budget for 2020, where money is made available to pay people a nominal fee to write external applications so that this is not an additional burden for the Board members. Managing the processes of raising external funding is however an extra task for the Board.

- New policy regarding external funding raised by the coordinators has been implemented in 2019. This means that documentation is now required when external funding is received, for instance when coordinators organise a winter symposium. As these external funds pay directly for a specific part of the organisation of the symposium and are not received at NSU bank account, this external funding can only be shown as in-kind external funding in the financial report, even though this funding is of a monetary nature. Besides the monetary funding from external funders towards the winter symposia, many external funders provide space and rooms for the symposia to take place. New documentation has been made available to the coordinators, in collaboration with the accountants and the auditor, so that this external funding is now also included in the financial report of NSU (as in-kind external support).

- Grant applications have been made to support the summer session (decision on whether this is awarded not yet received at the time of writing this report).

- Individual donations have been made possible by including a donation button on the website.

- A large part of the income for NSU has long been undocumented, namely the participation fees for the winter symposia organised by NSU. This is due to the fact that coordinators would report on them, but the money would be received and handled by the coordinators themselves, on bank accounts linked to NSU but not managed by NSU. Therefore these fees were invisible on the financial report. In 2019 the Board managed to set up and implement a system so that participation fees are received by NSU directly, and then made available to the coordinators to use to pay for expenses of the winter symposia as per their budget. This change will be visible in the 2020 financial report, and is already included in the 2020 budget.

- A membership fee is introduced. Following the statues of NSU, everyone who attends an activity of NSU automatically becomes a member.
In-kind contribution

The major resource that makes the activities of NSU possible, is the large amount of voluntary work by a number of individuals on a weekly basis. In addition to maintaining the in-kind contribution documentation procedure for the work of board, coordinators and other collaborators, that was introduced in 2017, NSU has managed in 2019 to improve documentation procedures for material contributions and collaborations. For example, seminar spaces housing winter symposia, staff and rental fees that are often paid for/waived by collaborating partners. These are important contributions that the Board has made more visible in 2019.

GRAPH 5: Funding sources of NSU Winter Symposia 2019, including all external funding received for WS - in-kind, monetary and rooms.

Legal organisational status

Steps are made to change the legal organisational status from Swedish to Danish, which has been recommended by our auditors. This change has been made, NSU has become a Danish organisation in 2019. Only one final step in this process is still to be finished in 2020, namely to change bank accounts and the currency NSU uses in the financial reporting.

4 Towards the aim of “Evidencing and increasing the extent of external contributions”.

3.5. Collaboration, participation and outreach

Participation

A central aim of NSU activities is to ensure broad participation with regard to geography, generation, professional status, socioeconomic conditions and gender. One strategy for achieving this is via travel and participation fee subsidies, to enable those who would otherwise not be able to participate to do so. NSU maintained a scholarship and grant program targeted especially towards West-Nordic and Baltic participants also in 2019.

In total, NSU participants came from 39 different countries in 2019.

Outreach

In 2019 the outreach was connected to the Anniversary Project, which also supported the goals of the outreach and strengthening the visibility of NSU. Other outreach efforts included both open meetings at universities and meetings with individual researchers and institutions.

The Board organized an outreach event in connection to the first board meeting of the year in Tallinn where NSU aimed to attract local participants to the Summer Session and to provide information on the work and possibilities for collaborations with NSU. Around ten people attended this meeting.

Another outreach took place in connection to the Board meeting in September 2019, where two Board members presented NSU and the possibilities for collaboration during a conference organised in collaboration between NSU and the European Humanities University in Riga, Latvia. Around 35 people attended this short talk. In addition, the Board also met with a representative of EHU to discuss possible collaboration in the form of symposia, circle proposals and travel grants specific for Baltic residents.

Anniversary Project 2020

In preparation for the 70th anniversary of NSU in 2020, the Board started a project in 2019 to produce material to improve the awareness and impact of NSU as an organisation with a long history within the Nordic and Baltic region. External funding has been found to support this project, which has allowed for ten different projects to materialise.

The project started with an open call for proposals for researchers and artists. The aim of the project is to share some aspects of the history of the Nordic Collaboration that has taken place in the Nordic Summer University between the years 1950-2020, in collaboration with the National Archive in Copenhagen, which houses the complete NSU archive since autumn 1950.

6 Towards the aim of “Increasing visibility”.

2018. In total 29 applications were received, which were vetted by an advisory board consisting of three people, so that ten projects were accepted.

Since the summer of 2019, all projects have successfully started, outcomes are to be presented during the 2020 Summer Session. The results include artistic presentations, installations, audiovisual and written material. The ongoing work in these projects is shared every month on social media.

See Appendix 4.4 for more information on the ‘NSU Anniversary Project’.

Seminar series across Europe

Together with Aarhus University (DK), European Humanities University (LT), J. Althusius Institute (LT), and Université Paris 1 (FR), Nordic Summer University participated in a series of seminars organized across Europe. The main coordinator Neli Dobreva was very happy about the collaboration and reported that “thanks to Mogens Chrom-Jacobsen and his teamwork we did an excellent interdisciplinary seminar including artist and social sciences and humanities experts on the subject we were discussing. Also thanks to Mogens we are actually preparing the publication of some participants in the seminar in bilingual version French and English. Here is the site within all the information about the Paris seminar (participants, abstracts etc) and the coopération with the University of Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne: https://estenci.wordpress.com/.

Lectures were held by the following scholars involved in NSU: PhD Carsten Friberg, Ass. prof. Asger Sørensen and Prof. Oleg Bresky. The coordinators of the seminar Neli Dobreva, École des arts de la Sorbonne, UFR04, Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne, and the co-coordinators were from NSU Mogens Chrom Jacobsen, from European Humanities University / J. Althusius Institute, Oleg Bresky and from Aarhus University, Oliver Kauffmann.

Study Circle 1 | Understanding Migration in the Nordic and Baltic Countries

Symposium
Dates | March 10–12, 2019
Place | Helsinki, Finland
Theme | Diaspora, Environment, Generation

During the winter symposium 2019, the research circle Understanding Migration in the Nordic and Baltic Countries explored how social, cultural, and environmental dynamics converge and coproduce what we understand, broadly, as migration. We were interested in theoretical and applied approaches to migration that consider ongoing processes of human movement, identification, geography, language, representation, and place. This year’s symposium title, “Diaspora, Environment, Generation”, encompassed the plural as well of the singular of each term: the concept of diaspora as well as the specificity of particular diasporas; the environment as climate change as well as particular lived environments, material and discursive; and generation as generative processes as well as temporally distinct moments of human experience. We discussed these issues with students, scholars and artists, and shared presentations and advanced stage works-in-progress and discussed them in an open, cross-disciplinary space.

Study Circle 2 | Cybioses – Shaping Human-Technology Futures

Symposium

Dates | 21–24 March, 2019

Place | Nida Art Colony, Lithuania

Local partner | Nida Art Colony / Vilnius Academy of the Arts

Theme | Technology and Creativity

The aim of our group is to discuss and to examine the development of new human-technology relations and imaginaries. The name of the circle, “Cybiosis” (pl. cybioses), is a neologism, based on “cybernetic”, “symbiosis”, and “bio”, and it embodies the new technological modes of living that we aim to investigate in the circle.

Creativity is a necessary survival trait. We solve problems all the time, and we design artifacts, for communication, reflection and admiration. Technologies change the way we do this, and they change the potential modes and modalities of creation. Creativity is also a feature of nature, of evolution. Maybe technology in itself has become creative, just like nature, following its own patterns of creation. A lot has happened in the last centuries, in the last decades, and even in the last few years. Technical development accelerates, and our minds and lives change, in a cybiotic relationship. But nobody knows the direction of the future, other than that it will continue to change.

What are the different possible modes of creation, in humans and in machines, by humans and by machines? How are they co-dependent? What about creative agency, now and in the future? What are the aesthetic, societal and philosophical implications of this rapid unpredictable development and change?

Invited Keynote Speakers:

We want to encourage a hierarchy-free dialogue between the very diverse participants, and we therefore decided not to have a keynote speaker.

Public Dissemination:

The open symposium call was distributed through a number of different channels, to reach the wide diversity of participants that we were looking for:
● Email lists for related topics (computer arts, computational creativity, electronic music), university-wide email lists.
● Relevant facebook special interests groups: Digital samhällskunskap (about digitalization of society, Sweden), Art & Technology (Denmark/intl.), NSU (other circles’ groups), Media Archaeologoy, Transdisciplinary Arts Research, Artistic Research, Bildwissenschaft/Image Science, Media Arts.
● Social media – public postings by coordinators at Facebook, Twitter and Instagram with relevant hashtags.
● NSU website.

Outcomes:
This was the first regular symposium of the circle, after a very successful “pilot” ad hoc symposium in Gothenburg in 2018. We managed to both attract both a large number of returning participants from the ad hoc symposium and a number of new people. After two symposia each with ca 30 participants, we feel we have established a solid community. While this is very important, to ensure gradually deepened discussions and accumulated knowledge building. We are still very open for new participants to every new symposium. We are especially happy that the participants represented a wide variety of research fields and different parts of society: theorists, engineers, designers, artists, programmers, activists, humanists, etc.

During the symposium, we had several artistic interventions in the form of concert performances by participants, showcasing experimental technologies used for artistic expression (live-coding and computer-mediated interaction models, respectively), each followed by intense discussions. There were also two participatory workshops, one about self-driving cars, and one around synthetic touch and soft robotics.

Our main outcome is what the participants take away from the dialogue. Apart from presentations, which serve as seeds, we try to compose a kind of discussion that has a transformative potential. This is not a regular conference with a string of one-way presentations, but a forum for visionary thinking between an extremely diverse and open-minded group of people. We received feedback such as:

“I have been looking for an intellectual context like this for a long time”
“a safe space to get new ideas”
“open-ended discussions, similar to the Macy cybernetic conferences”
“gave a lot of inspiration”
“the transdisciplinarity and diversity was very inspiring”
“wealth of vocabulary and diverse culture”

We are also experimenting with new forms of discussion, with a parallel, shared and projected online notepad where questions, comments and thoughts can be posted, during presentations and discussions. This also serves as a unique way to document the symposium, and will also allow for continuity and continued knowledge production between symposia.

Several new collaborations emerged among participants, e.g., a new artistic research collaboration between Georgina Hill and Thomas Grogan, under the project name of Pollination. We also know of many new contacts and activities between participants who did not know each other before the symposium, and expect this new community to lead to strong networks that will last over many years.

Also, the new collaboration between the coordinators around the Cybioses circle has resulted in at least one publication, in the journal Warehouse:

Rafael Dernbach: “Why I stopped calling things digital – on metaphors as obstacles”, Warehouse, 2018

Is has also been published as a chapter in the following anthology:

Coordinators of the Study Circle:

Rafael Dernbach, Futurium, Berlin, rafael.dernbach@gmail.com

Concluding Remarks:
A continuous discussion and analysis of what the future of human-technology co-existence is crucial, both from a cultural and a scientific point of view. Development has to be pursued in a philosophical, ethical and aesthetical context. This symposium provides a platform for a kind of visionary discussion that is extremely rare, and can not take place in many other for a. The outcome and response exceeded our expectations, and makes at least our future look bright.

Most of the Nordic and Baltic countries were represented in the symposium, and we also interacted locally, inviting the artists-in-residence at the Nida Art Colony to participate in presentations and discussions, which they gladly accepted. We also had very interesting dialogues and exchanges with another workshop taking place in the same location, on experimental dance.

The symposium was documented on video as well as in writing through the shared notepad, to which all participants contributed. The plan is to create an anthology based on this material at the end of the circle’s three year period.

With this very successful symposium, we really look forward to three more years of discussion about the shared future of humanity and technology.

http://nordic.university/study-circles/2-cybiosis-shaping-human-technology-futures
The purpose of the symposium is to shed light on the notions of time and history broadly understood and their relevance for feminist thought. In a Vindication of the Rights of Woman (1792), Mary Wollstonecraft wrote: "Rousseau exerts himself to prove that all was right originally: a crowd of authors that all is now right: and I, that all will be right". Writing in the aftermath of the French revolution in times of upheaval, Wollstonecraft captured something essential about the feminist project: what is feminism if not a movement towards a better future and a critique of those who claim that the past and the present should limit our visions of the future? However, Wollstonecraft’s quote epitomizes a modern understanding of time that makes clear cuts between the past, the present, and the future. In recent years this notion has been scrutinized by an increasing number of feminist scholars interested in the philosophy of time and history. Criticizing the possibility of breaking completely with the past, Tina Chanter writes that feminism rather needs “an understanding of processes of social change that accommodates both a sense of continuity with the past and the possibility of and need for discontinuity” (2001: 22). The question is, how to go about it?

2019 marks the anniversary of two important texts on this topic; it is the 70th anniversary of Simone de Beauvoir’s The Second Sex as well as the 40th anniversary of Julia Kristeva groundbreaking essay “Women’s time”. Both texts have been crucial for questions relating to time, history and feminist in 20th century feminist philosophy. While Simone de Beauvoir combines the traditions of left-Hegelianism and phenomenology to understand why woman is “the Other”, Kristeva starts out from psychoanalysis in order to raise questions regarding the history of feminism, modernity and the philosophy of time.

Public Dissemination:
We distributed our call for papers on the Nordic Summer University webpage, our facebook group site, the Atgender mailing list (The European Association for Gender Research, Education and Documentation), Genus.se (mailing list of the Swedish Secretariat of Gender Research), Feministinn.is (mailing list about gender research in Iceland) and other channels.

Outcomes:
We are currently preparing a publication of an anthology with works (articles) from participants and keynote speakers from the activities of the circle during the last four years from 2016 (when we had our first ad hoc symposium in Umeå, Sweden) until 2019. We have sent out a call for abstracts and have received good responses. We will be working on the publication during 2020. The current NSU circle nr. 3 Hospitality and Solidarity: Feminist Philosophy in Thought, History and Action is a spin-off group coordinated by three members of our group. Two of them were new to NSU when they started to participate in our circle about feminist philosophy.

External Funding:
Our local partners CBEES (The Centre Baltic and East European Studies) at Södertörn University paid for conference facilities (lecture halls and rooms) and travel for one keynote speaker from the United States. Amount approximately 8000 sek.

Program:
The program was sent to participants via email.

Valgerður Pálmadóttir, University of Iceland and Uppsala University, valgerdur.palmadottir@idehist.uu.se
Johanna Sjöstedt, University of Gothenburg, johanna.sjostedt@gmail.com

Concluding Remarks:
During the last four years, more than two hundred scholars from five continents have participated at our conferences and we are experiencing an increasing interest in feminist thought from scholars of different disciplinary backgrounds. Hence, our initial questions on how to understand feminist philosophy has turned out to be of great actuality as we try to grasp and find language to think about and beyond contemporary political landscape and language. We are currently preparing a publication of an anthology with works (articles) from participants and keynote speakers from the activities of the circle during the last four years from 2016 (when we had our first ad hoc symposium in Umeå, Sweden) until 2019. We have sent out a call for abstracts and have received good responses. We will be working on the publication during 2020. The anthology will most likely be published by the series Södertörn Studies in Intellectual History, Södertörn University Press.

Place | Saint Petersburg, The Russian Federation

Local partners | Saint Petersburg State University, Faculty of Liberal Arts and Sciences; Gagarin Institute of Human Rights

Other partners | European Humanities University (EHU)

Theme | The Digital Revolution and Democracy

Since Matthew Hindman’s book, The Myth of Digital Democracy, (Hindman 2009) nine years have passed. The technologies are developed, the internet is now part of ordinary life, the numerous revolutions in mobile connections are now a fact. Mankind made some steps forward towards AI, discovered new horizons of mysterious and enigmatic facts, introduced robotization in new spheres of life. Such changes have both good and bad effects. The warnings of Hindman are still pertinent. We became witnesses to this through the ongoing investigation of foreign meddling into the presidential election in the USA, through information wars, storms of fake news, new forms of inequality in the informational sphere and new forms of alienation, stigmatization and manipulation. New anti-utopian stories emerged, millions of people look at the “Black Mirror” recognizing the features of everyday reality.

While the welfare state, in its various European forms, has seen education as a means of raising social awareness, enhancing citizen virtues and enabling equality, pedagogy since at least the 70ties has tended to focus on the individual development of each child as well as on the empowerment of particular social groups. In a parallel development issues such as climate change have created divisions between nations as well as political parties on the purpose and impact of science for legislation and spurred international movements of science deniers. We contend that knowledge is increasingly becoming politicized, from the way in which knowledge is produced, through formulations of the purpose of knowledge production, to the use of knowledge in politics. The processes of politicizing knowledge needs to be studied as a social process in the contemporary as well as in history.

We have managed to invite important European scholars as key notes and created new collaborations and connections in Germany, Spain and the United Kingdom. We have also managed to attract several new participants in 2019. We plan a publication as a summing up of all of our meetings, after the last winter symposium 2020, a special issue in the peer reviewed journal Ideas in History. The study circle will not continue in this format, but some of its new members will formulate an application with a somewhat new theme.

Study Circle 7 | Artistic Research | Performing Heterotopia

Symposium

Dates | 7–10 March 2019
Place | European Humanities University, Vilnius, Lithuania
Local partner | European Humanities University
Theme | Departures, deviations and elsewhere

In our first session, we begin by exploring all forms of departures: as sources or starting and re-starting points; deviations, detours and divergences; situations of discontinuity and in-between-ness; conditions of exile and displacement; refusals and strayings from norms and conventions; going elsewhere; getting lost and finding new paths. We suggest these as heterotopic states of transformation, where incompatible realities meet and impossible constellations come into existence. We invite proposals for contributions that depart from, re-interpret, appropriate, play with and misuse heterotopic concepts, whether rooted in specific material places and phenomena, imaginary, illusory or non-existent spaces, affective realities, or something in between. One such space is our host, European Humanities University, the Belarusian University in exile, and we hope to share insight and inspiration by connecting with and learning from its heterotopic reality.

Alia Zapparova, independent artist, alia.zapparova@gmail.com
Elina Saloranta, University of the Arts Helsinki, elinasaloranta@hotmail.com

Concluding Remarks:
We had a very successful first symposium, with a diverse group opening up a number of promising perspectives on the circle’s theme. The symposium brought together artists and scholars from a wide range of disciplines, including visual arts, social sciences, performance, textile arts, sound arts, literary studies, photography, filmmaking, drawing, sculpture, philosophy, music and architecture. We look forward to future inter- and multidisciplinary collaborations. The unique history of EHU as a university in exile and the presentation by local professor Almira Ousmanova on the situation and work of artists in Belarus allowed us to consider Nordic and Baltic contexts in their relationships to their neighbours and reflect on both political and artistic relationships and contrasts. Other Nordic themes were developed in presentations considering local contexts in Finland, the nature of the Arctic and Sami literatures, and bringing them into contact with the wider symposium theme of heterotopia. Our plans for the next three years it to develop our exploration of heterotopic ideas, to strengthen interdisciplinary and international collaborations, to further increase the diversity of participants and certainly to continue the circle into the future. This iteration of the circle is too new to have concrete results at this point in time, but based on the experience of the first symposium and the circle’s history, there is a rich potential for new outcomes in the form of publications, exhibitions, performances and collaborations.

In this symposium, we wanted to open up the physical body of comics and explore how they work in the material world around us. Comics creators today are experimenting with the materiality and mediality of comics to a high degree, but comics have always been material. Launching an inquiry into the materialities of comics requires us to consider several perspectives—binding and media, size and length, digital modes. In addition, it forces us to take into account the broader historical, political, and geographical contexts of comics. We need to understand comics as a part of the larger networks of the world—social, cultural, monetary and more. Moreover, investigating the materialities of comics also means that we have to actually open the comics and consider the links between form and content; how images, text and other entities work together in the page layout to form meanings, emotions, stories, and opinions. The goal of this symposium was to investigate comics in a variety of material, medial, and historical contexts to expand our understanding of how comics as a medium works in our contemporary societies. In addition to the academic symposium, we organized a segment titled “Comics University” at the Copenhagen Comics festival.

Concluding Remarks:
The symposium was a success, with 24 individual paper presentations, two keynotes, a workshop and an artist roundtable. Scholars from different departments and in different stages of their careers presented their work, and it was evident that the issues related to the material aspects of comics are relevant for people interested in comics studies. Moreover, the 45 min program about comics studies in general we organized at the Copenhagen Comics festival was very popular. There was a big audience clearly interested in our field. It shows that it is highly relevant to present our academic work in non-academic settings as well, which is one of Circle 9’s priorities. It was decided that a conference report will be written about the symposium, but its publishing channel is still unclear. Encouraged by the success of the presentation at the comics festival, a group of PhD students expressed their interest in doing something similar in upcoming events as well. The symposium proved that cooperation in the Nordic perspective is appreciated and necessary. It was inspiring to learn from colleagues in the same area, get to know the comics cultures in different countries better and liaise with scholars. Sadly, there were no participants from the Baltic region this time. However, this is proof that more cooperation is needed between the Nordic and the Baltic regions; it is important to include the Baltic region more into our field. We hope the next symposium in Estonia will work as a first step towards including scholars and artists from the Baltic region. In the following symposia the study circle will explore the themes of participation and communities in comics, comics and feminism, production, consumption and economy of comics, human and non-human rights in comics, and finally future, utopia and dystopia in and of comics.

4.2 Self-Evaluations from the Summer Session and the Summer Symposia

4.2.1 Self-evaluation report from the Arrangement Committee

Summer Session
Date: 28.07. – 4.08.2019

Location: Roosta Holiday Village, Elbiku, Estonia

Local partner/s: LAUKKU, Lādezers, Latvia

Theme: Each of the 9 circles had their special themes for the Summer Session.

Keynotes:
There were four keynote lectures by two keynote speakers.

Dr. Anna Reading, https://www.kcl.ac.uk/people/anna-reading
“Eco-Queering Memory”
In this keynote Anna Reading asks us to rethink agency and narrative in relation to memory through examples of non-human memory and research she is doing on memoirs and neurodivergent memory.

“Hopeful Agency: Re-Mixing Migration Memory through Participatory Mixed Media”
In this talk, Anna Reading reframes agency and the implicated subject through showing how participatory and engaged memory work can provide for hopeful agency. Anna Reading draws on her Moving Hearts creative research project with the UK's Museum of Migration.

Dr. Naomi Scheman, https://philpeople.org/profiles/naomi-scheman
“On Being Unsettled”
Naomi Scheman will argue against demands for knowledge, clarity, and intelligibility, in favor of embracing the vulnerability of mutual acknowledgment. Such vulnerability is particularly relevant when you try to work in coalition with those you do not yet understand, especially when their encounters with oppressive systems (such as gender) differ from your own and when their ways and yours of struggling with those systems destabilize the ground under each other's feet.

“Stones as Stories: Toward an Epistemology for 21st Century Research Universities”
For her second lecture, Naomi Scheman will start by sketching an ontological picture of things as stories, existing as loci of idiosyncrasy in webs of relationship. Building on that picture, she will walk us through a book she is thinking of writing, arguing that thinking of the world that way calls for an epistemology and methodology that are more like community-based participatory research than like laboratory science: relational, collaborative, and committed to trustworthiness. Such ways of knowing call in turn for combatting the "global excellence pandemic," which affects universities around the world by relying on generic metrics, in favor of responsively/responsibly being this particular university in this particular place with these particular connections, effects, dependencies, and vulnerabilities.

Concluding remarks:
The relevance and importance of the work of NSU Summer Sessions as well as Winter Symposia is well seen in the number of participants, number of countries represented and especially number of new participants. The interest of the format NSU offers stretches far beyond Nordic and Baltic countries.

The interdisciplinary, non-hierarchic structure and working culture, as well as urgent topics of the study circles attract scholars from various contexts. NSU structure allows it to be in the front lines of addressing and reacting to new processes in the society.

Since NSU has included Baltic States, it is working on a very important mission. It is not only strengthening the research in the region and bringing together academics, activists and artists, but also providing important input in the development of social sciences and humanities in Baltics. Due to the Soviet occupation, those disciplines in many aspects remained underdeveloped due to the impossibility to talk openly about burning issues. That is why the only way at many times was just dealing with a history and even then in a prescribed and politically correct way. In addition, most of the texts and authors the world behind the iron curtain are referring to were not present in Baltic thought space before the 90ies. Last but probably the most important aspect is the culture of conversations, discussions, sharing, listening, developing ideas in a study groups… All of those processes are still quite new in Baltics. NSU is a perfect place to experience and learn that. And, of course, any topic researched in Nordic - Baltic perspective would also have a Baltic perspective which is often not the same as Nordic perspective.

It can be concluded that there is a huge potential of NSU in building Nordic-Baltic space in terms of not only scholarly research but also shared value space.
4.2.2 Self-evaluations from the summer session from the Coordinators

Study Circle 1 | Understanding Migration in the Nordic and Baltic Countries

Symposium
Dates | July 28–August 4, 2019
Place | Roosta, Estonia
Theme | Loss and Remaining

The aim of this session was to explore the dual framework of loss and remaining, considering both terms as both concepts and as an experience. Humans and non-humans are exposed to loss through war, displacement, abuse, disease, ecological changes, death, and detention. By connecting different aspects of loss—landscapes, affect, and memory—we wished to explore the violence of loss as well as its hopeful corollary, as loss can also force upon us the question of what remains or what may emerge. For this symposium we sought to bring together individuals from diverse disciplines and practices, including anthropology, cultural studies, geography, citizenship and diaspora studies, health, ecology, journalism, art, filmmaking, and photography, among others.

Statistics:
Number of Participants: 10 (1 man, 9 women, 0 other)
Number of Countries: 7 (Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Slovenia, Germany, Lithuania, USA)
Number of Newcomers: 4 (4 new to Circle, 4 new to NSU)

Public Dissemination:
The symposium was publicised through the NSU website, the Circle 1 mailing list which includes Anthropology Matters and Critical Geography mailing lists.

Outcomes:
Ongoing new contacts across disciplines and themes, and strengthening the interest of participants for NSU. We expect a continued engagement from Circle 1’s participants to NSU future activities.

Coordinators of the Study Circle:

Stéphanie Barillé, University of Iceland, stbarille@gmail.com

Concluding Remarks:
This summer’s Circle 1 session included presentations from a range of disciplines and practices, including the social sciences, multi-language publishing, fictional and documentary filmmaking. Some of our participants might put together a proposal for a future circle.

Study Circle 2 – Cybioses – Shaping Human-Technology Futures

Symposium

Dates | 28 July-4 Aug, 2019

Place | Roosta, Estonia

Theme | Projective Philosophies: Tools and theories for making futures

The aim of our group is to discuss and to examine the development of new human-technology relations and imaginaries. The name of the circle, ‘Cybiosis’ (pl. cybioses), is a neologism, based on ‘cybernetic’, ‘symbiosis’, and ‘bio’, and it embodies the new technological modes of living that we aim to investigate in the circle.

Our previous symposia investigated the role of improvisation in technological development and the ways in which creativity is understood by makers, designers, artists and theorists. For this symposium we invited contributions that address the interactions between philosophy and the development, making, crafting or designing of technologies.

In our symposium, we addressed the shared questions and operations of philosophy and technological development. How can and have philosophical questions supported the development of future technologies? How in turn can technological practices and development inform philosophical and other theories?

Going back to Ramon Llull’s ideas from the 12th century about algorithmically generated knowledge, technology and philosophy have both inspired and fought with each other. The synergies of philosophical endeavors and the development of technologies are exemplified by today’s advanced computer science and the philosophical speculations on artificial intelligence. Only in collaboration philosophers and the makers of technology can address the ethical implications and existential threats relating to technology.

How can both making and theorizing help us imagining future technologies and their impact on societies? Could computational modelling of complex systems be a way towards a deepened understanding of technological development and societal change, just as computer science, chaos theory, and some parts of mathematics have turned into experimental sciences, thanks to such approaches? And can such hands-on knowledge be communicated, or is it a tacit knowledge, a craft? Guided by these questions we want to develop seeds for a philosophy for makers and an idea of a technology for philosophy.

Departing from the existing body of research in the philosophy of technology (from Norbert Wiener and the cybernetics via Bruno Latour to Katherine Hayles and Andrew Pickering), we seek contributions that transcend that, and could potentially show a way towards a symbiosis of technology and philosophy.

Statistics:

- Number of Participants: 20 (21 men, 8 women, 1 other)
- Number of Countries: 11 (Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Netherlands, France, Germany, UK, Italy, Syria, Russia, Turkey)
- Number of newcomers: 7 (7 new to Circle, 5 new to NSU)
Public Dissemination:
The open symposium call was distributed through a number of different channels, to reach the wide diversity of participants that we were looking for:

- Email lists for related topics (computer arts, computational creativity, electronic music, futurology), university-wide email lists.
- Relevant facebook special interests groups: Digital samhällskunskap (about digitalization of society, Sweden), Art & Technology (Denmark/intl.), NSU (other circles’ groups), Media Archaeology, Trancdisciplinary Arts Research, Artistic Research, Bildwissenschaft/Image Science, Media Arts
- Social media – public postings by coordinators at Facebook, Twitter and Instagram with relevant hashtags.
- NSU website

Outcomes:

This was the first summer symposium of the circle, after a very successful “pilot” ad hoc symposium in Gothenburg in 2018 and a first regular symposium in Nida, Lithuania. Both attracted around 30 participants. Here we were a little fewer, 21, due to a number of late cancellations. Also, it is a bit harder to get people to attend in the middle of the summer, for a whole week. Still, we managed to both attract both a large number of returning participants from previous symposia and a number of new people. After three symposia with good attendance, we feel we have established a solid community. We are well over average in size compared to all NSU circles, and even one of the largest, counted in number of people. While this is very important, to ensure gradually deepened discussions and accumulated knowledge building, we are still very open for new participants to every new symposium. This is also natural, due to the shifting focus and theme for each symposium. We are especially happy that the participants represented a wide variety of research fields and different parts of society: theorists, social scientists, historians, engineers, designers, artists, programmers, activists, humanists, law scholars, etc.

During the symposium, we had artistic interventions in the form of installations and performances by participants, showcasing experimental technologies used for artistic expression (mobile technologies, tele-presence, various interactive portable technologies, AI-generated art), followed by intense discussions. We also staged themed discussions based on upcoming themes, to allow for unplanned content emerging from discussions and reflections.

Over the week, we hosted temporary participants from other circles and also had one joint session with another circle.

Our main outcome is what the participants take away from the dialogue. Apart from presentations, which serve as seeds, we try to compose a kind of discussion that has a transformative potential. This is not a regular conference with a string of one-way presentations, or trying to answer set questions. It is a forum for visionary thinking between an extremely diverse and open-minded group of people. We think we have succeeded in achieving that also in this summer session. Very interesting discussions and ideas emerged. We are always experimenting with new forms of discussion, with a parallel, shared and projected online notepad where questions, comments and thoughts can be posted, during presentations and discussions. This also serves as a unique way to document the symposium, and will also allow for continuity and continued knowledge production between symposia. The presentations and most of the discussions were also documented on video. Since this symposium was around philosophical and theoretical questions regarding the future of humans and technology, we were especially happy that we had participants contributing from the areas of law (accountability of algorithms, design of future law systems based on history), and the social and political sciences (e.g., algorithmic governance). Several contributions projected into the future from deep historical foundations. There were also several contributions within the area of science and technology studies and the future epistemologies.

Several new collaborations have emerged among participants. Guest visits between participants are planned, and many are planning to participate in our upcoming symposia. We also know of many new contacts and activities between participants who did not know each other before the symposium, and expect this new community to lead to strong networks that will last over many years. The span of competences is remarkable in this group and network. Also, one participant became so engaged in the circle that she has joined us as coordinator from now on (Maru Mushtrieva).

External Funding:
For the summer session, external funding was not applicable, as it is a shared arrangement between all circles.

Concluding Remarks:
A continuous discussion and analysis of what the future of human-technology co-existence is crucial, both from a cultural and a scientific point of view. Development has to be pursued in a philosophical, ethical and aesthetic context. This symposium provides a platform for a kind of visionary discussion that is extremely rare, and can not take place in many other fora. The outcome and response exceeded our expectations, and makes at least our future look bright.
Several of the Nordic and Baltic countries were represented in the symposium, as well as a large number of other countries, including Turkey and Russia.

The symposium was documented on video as well as in writing through the shared notepad, to which all participants contributed. The plan is to create an anthology based on this material at the end of the circle’s three-year period.

With this very successful symposium, we really look forward to three more years of discussion about the shared future of humanity and technology.

Study Circle 3 | Feminist Philosophy: Time, History and the Transformation of Thought

Symposium
Dates | July 28–August 4, 2019
Place | Roosta Holiday Village, Haapsalu, Estonia
Local partner | Nordic Summer University, Summer Session
Theme | Feminist Philosophy and Political Life

In formulating this theme we seek to explore the relationship between intellectual life and feminist practice broadly speaking. Political philosopher Wendy Brown talks of a “productive tension” or an interval between the two, where the purpose of theory is to open up possibilities in relation to politics, which in this context tends to be construed as a fixing of political discourse. Thinkers such as Adriana Cavarero and Linda Zerilli rather build on the philosophy of Hannah Arendt and Ludwig Wittgenstein, for whom the classical definition of theory as separate from the ordinary and political realms requires a reformulation. For Arendt, the political is the sphere of action, where “nothing happens more frequently than the unexpected”. Between these two visions, we want to ask questions about the relationship between thinking and politics in feminism. What is the relationship between intellectual and political life? What notion of theory should inform feminist political practice? What are the politics of theory?

Statistics:
Number of Participants: 18 (2 men, 16 women)
Number of Countries: 9 (Sweden, Norway, Iceland, Finland, UK, Russia, the Netherlands, Estonia, Egypt)
Number of newcomers: 4 (4 new to Circle, 4 new to NSU)

Public Dissemination:
We distributed our call for papers on the Nordic Summer University webpage, our facebook group site, the Atgender mailing list (The European Association for Gender Research, Education and Documentation), Genus.se (mailing list of the Swedish Secretariat of Gender Research), Feministinn.is (mailing list about gender research in Iceland) and other channels.

Outcomes:
We are currently preparing a publication of an anthology with works (articles) from participants and keynote speakers from the activities of the circle during the last four years from 2016 (when we had our first ad hoc symposium in Umeå, Sweden) until 2019. We have sent out a call for abstracts and have received good responses. We will be working on the publication during 2020. The anthology will most likely be published by the series Södertörn Studies in Intellectual History, Södertörn University Press.
The current NSU circle nr. 3 “Hospitality and Solidarity: Feminist Philosophy in Thought, History and Action” is a spin-off group coordinated by three members of our group. Two of them were new to NSU when they started to participate in our circle about feminist philosophy.

Program:
Sent to participants via mail and published on the arrkom website.

Coordinators of the Study Circle:

Synne Myrebøe, Södertörn University, synne.myreboe@sh.se
Johanna Sjöstedt, Gothenburg University, johanna.sjostedt@gmail.com

Concluding Remarks:
During the last four years, more than two hundred scholars from five continents have participated at our conferences and we are experiencing an increasing interest in feminist thought from scholars of different disciplinary backgrounds. Hence, our initial questions on how to understand feminist philosophy has turned out to be of great actuality as we try to grasp and find language to think about and beyond contemporary political landscape and language. For further comments, see the “Outcomes” headline above.

Study Circle 4 | Narrative and Memory: Ethics, Aesthetics, Politics

Symposium
Dates | 28 July–4 August, 2019
Place | Roosta, Estonia
Local partner | Under and Tuglas Literature Centre of the Estonian Academy of Sciences, SELMA: Centre for the Study of Storytelling, Experientiality and Memory, University of Turku
Theme | Victimes, Perpetrators and Implicated Subjects: Rethinking agency at the intersections of narrative and memory

As we move into an age in which, on the one hand, the violent histories of the 20th century are increasingly remembered by people who did not participate in them directly and, on the other hand, we are challenged by new forms of political but also economically and environmentally induced suffering that occurs at a geographical distance but in which we are indirectly implicated, issues of our positionality and agency in relation to these historical and geographical horizons is becoming more and more pressing. How to make sense of different subject positions at the scene of historical violence and the ways in which they delimit our ability to identify and address different forms of suffering? How to conceptualize our responsibility in relation to new contemporary forms of violence at a geographical distance? This symposium dealt with questions of positionality and agency in relation to violent histories in the past and present as well as in relation to current debates in narrative and memory studies.

Terrorism, social instability and other threats have considerably augmented measures of control and surveillance leading to growing interference in the private life of citizens. The scandal surrounding the NSA monitoring of internet activity and collection of big data concerning telephone conversations did attract much attention, but other measures such as increasing video surveillance, checking of credit card data and the like has considerably enhanced the monitoring of the individual as well. Will such measures fragilize the citizen in relation to the control the very same citizen should exercise on its own democratic institutions and politicians? Are we about to construct the infrastructure for authoritarianism ready for take over when the political situation is ripe or have we found a reasonable compromise between security concerns and democracy?

Joint summer symposium between Study Circle 6 “Critique at the age of Populism” and Study Circle 8 “Learning and Bildung in Times of Globalization”

NB: as Circle 6 and Circle 8 arranged this as a joint symposium, we thought that it would be natural also to write a joint self-evaluation. This is therefore the joint self-evaluation of Circle 6 and Circle 8.

Symposium

Dates | 28 July–4 August, 2019
Place | Roosta Holiday Village, Haapsalu, Estonia
Local partner | Nordic Summer University
Theme | Citizenship, Bildung and Critique

There is a historic legacy to emphasize the role of education in the creation of a healthy public space, as well as in promoting values of democracy and equality. Education has been seen as the key to liberation (Freire), the necessary motor for the creation of political subjects (Gramsci), the development of liberal subjects with the capacity to act in public life (Ortega, Arendt) as well as the creative self-development of the individual capacities (Humboldt) in relation to a national circumstance (Herder) or as opposed the civilizing effects of society (Rousseau). The aim of the symposium was thus to investigate the inner tensions as well as possibilities to be found in the three-fold overarching purposes of education: Citizenship, Bildung and Critique. As has been discussed by various authors, education for citizenship can be a project of disciplination (Althusser) or a project that liberates subjects to act as equals in a social circumstance (Arendt, Spivak), a tension that can be seen in the veil-debate in France, for example. Equally Bildung as well as Critique are often associated with individual creative capacities to reflect and promote social change, but certain kinds of critique can be used as tools to build populist movements and Bildung has often been criticized for allowing only for the development of the individual capacities of the most gifted. As education is positioned between the political purposes of citizens education and the purpose of self-development we encourage scholars who discuss the critical role of education, as well as its emphasis on individual self-development and adaptation to the rules of social and political life. We ask if education can be aimed both at developing the creative and critical powers of social movements for change, at the same time as it educates for citizenship. We furthermore ask, in what ways social movements and political action can in themselves be understood as institutions of Critique, Bildung and education for citizenship. We encourage theoretical as well as empirical studies highlighting the complexity of the purpose of education, both as a problem and as the potential for societal change.

Concluding Remarks:
The joint session relevance in a scholarly perspective is the reflections on citizenship related to two important discourses which in the last couple of decades of NPM often is not taken up at the same time, namely educational discourse, and critical discourse, especially in relation to how we perceive ideas of social form and the idea of Bildung. This is also of relevance in a Nordic and Baltic perspective, where the combination of educational and critical discourse historically has been an important theme for educational theory and still is a very relevant theme. Circle 6 and Circle 8 worked together during the whole summer session, but one of our presentations was held between not only Circle 6 and Circle 8, but also Circle 3, “Feminist Philosophy”, which had their last session this summer. (NB: The statistics is only for the joint session of Circle 6 and Circle 8.) Both Study Circle 6 and Study Circle 8 wish to continue.

Study Circle 7 | Artistic Research | Performing Heterotopia

Symposium

Dates | 28 July–4 August, 2019
Place | Roosta, Estonia

Theme | Absences and Silences

The circle aims to share ways artistic research can explore, experiment with, critique, create and perform heterotopias, which are spaces, temporalities and practices that disrupt the continuity and the norms of ordinary reality. In the summer session in Roosta, Estonia, we focused on the many forms of absences and silences, and the ways they are invisibly present in everyday realities, physical and social spaces, and inner lives.

Concluding Remarks:
We had a very inspiring week full of discussion and silence, absence and presence. All presentations were well prepared and relevant to the field of artistic research. We didn’t have Baltic participants, but one of our Russian participants touched upon the presence of Soviet ghosts in Estonia. The Nordic perspective was well represented, since half of our participants were from the Nordic countries. We also had many visitors from other circles and collaborated with Circle 1 and Circle 4. Our next symposium will be in Wroclaw, Poland, March 5–8, 2020.

In this symposium, we explored comics and comics cultures as a form of participation and building of communities. Throughout their history, comics have taken part in making of, for example, national and cultural communities by establishing communal identities and communicating generally accepted values. On the other hand, comics have always been used for critical social commentary and building of subcultures and alternative communities. People engage with comics in many different ways. Reading, making fan art and fan fiction, blogging, cosplaying, writing on forums and message boards are all parts of today’s participatory cultures around comics. Participation and cooperation are important to not only fans and readers of comics, but to the creators as well. Comics associations, societies and other initiatives help creators with networking, publishing, and promoting. Similarly, comics are often made by teams of two or more people. Communities around comics can be inclusive and exclusive at the same time. A fan community can feel very welcoming to certain people, while others are marginalized. The aim of the symposium was to investigate how comics as well as reading and creating them establish communities, create sense of belonging, and support social empowerment especially, but not exclusively, in the Nordic-Baltic region.

Concluding Remarks:
Despite having a smaller number of participants this time, the Circle 9’s symposium was a success. In addition to participants on the site, the circle had a Skype-presentation and a comics exhibition arranged by Finnish comics artist Sanna Hukkanen and Russian linguist Anna Voronkova. The exhibition, “Finno-Ugric Comics”, and accompanying presentation were great examples of the use of comics and drawing workshops as a tool for building community. The topic, small and endangered Finno-Ugric languages, is currently relevant in the Nordic-Baltic context, and it was very interesting to hear about the project and its effects.

The other presentations featured topics from the history of feminist comics in Finland to graphic medicine, migration in contemporary German comics, feminist utopia in a Finnish webcomic, as well as comics fandom. The symposium continued our circle’s purpose of combining academic researchers and the work of comics practitioners. Two comics artists presented their work and methods, and the symposium ended with a feminist comic zine workshop. The workshop was attended by around 30 people from many different circles.

In the future, our next winter symposium will be organized in Sweden together with Södertörn University, with the theme of “Transnational perspectives on comic art and feminism in the Nordic countries and the Baltic Sea region”. We hope to bring local artists to our next event as well.

4.3 Call for new Project Applications 2021-2023

Nordic Summer University
Research, Networking, Folk/bildning

Call for project proposals 2021-2023

Deadline 1 February 2020

The Nordic Summer University (NSU) call for project proposals for study circles to be active 2021-2023 is now open. We seek proposals for new scholarly networks addressing critical issues in culture and society. Founded in 1950, NSU is an independent, non-profit scholarly institution that provides platforms for networks across disciplines in the Nordic and Baltic regions. NSU is funded by the Nordic Council of Ministers. The activities of NSU are based on three concepts:

Research: NSU provides frameworks for critical scholarship with relevance for culture and society, where scholars and practitioners explore ideas and develop knowledge on equal footing.

Networking: NSU brings together university scholars, students, artists and other professionals from different disciplines, countries, generations and institutions in activities that transcend institutional hierarchies.

Folkbildning: NSU combines two traditions: the continental ideals of learning and cultivation of the self and the Nordic heritage of folkbildning and self-organization, with its investments in open access education and collaboration through participation and active citizenship. All aspects of NSU are democratically organized by the participants.

What is a study circle?

Activities in the NSU are based on thematic study circles, which are forums for participants to present, discuss, and develop their scholarship. The work done in a study circle aims to do new and innovative research in the Nordic and Baltic context and provides a surplus for the Nordic and/or Baltic region. NSU currently consists of nine such study circles, each of which runs for three years. Two people function as coordinators, who are responsible for organizing the activities. Each circle meets twice per year, once in the winter (February-March) in a so-called winter symposium, and once in the summer during the annual week-long NSU summer session, which is typically held the last week of July. The winter symposia are organized by the circles themselves in collaboration with a local partner (another network, a university department, a cultural institution, or similar). NSU funds the winter symposia up to 34 000 DKK (app. 5000 €) per circle, per year. The summer session is organized by NSU, where all circles meet in the same location. The circles conduct parallel symposia during the day and partake in joint activities in the evening. For more information about current study circles, visit http://nordic.university/study-circles/

Application requirements

NSU gives priority to interdisciplinary applications with an original approach and content, with interested participants from a minimum of three Nordic-Baltic countries, and a detailed plan of the activities of the circle. NSU strives to support topics that are not already established in universities and projects that cross the borders between disciplines and/or academia and society. Early career scholars are encouraged to apply.

The proposals for new study circles must include:

- Aims and goals of the project, including an outline of:
  1. The scholarly context, central questions, and the methodological points of departure for the prospective study circle.
  2. Considerations regarding impact and outcomes in the Nordic-Baltic context. Depending on the aims of the circle outcomes may vary, but possible outcomes include publications (both academic and directed at the general public), collaborations, and exhibitions.
  3. Strategies to meet the objectives and values of the Nordic Summer University described in §1 in the statutes.

- Structural overview of the activities of the circle, including a detailed plan for the six symposia within the three-year cycle – two per year, winter and summer – specifying themes for all six symposia, together with suggested locations and possible collaborating partners for each winter symposium.

- List of people and institutions supporting the proposal, including:
  1. The names and contact information of the two people who will function as the coordinators of the prospective circle.
  2. A short list of prospective participants, including their names, present positions, nationalities and/or places of residence. At least three Nordic and Baltic countries should be represented.
3. A list of prospective partner institutions in the Nordic-Baltic region, preferably indicating their willingness to collaborate.

- A brief list (maximum one page) of selected bibliographic references, to function as a frame of reference for the study circle.

The length of the application covering the aims and the structure of the circle (1 and 2 above) must not exceed 2000 words. Examples of previous study circle applications as well as the Board’s criteria for assessing new applications can be found here.

Procedure

Deadline to submit proposals is 1 February 2020. All received proposals will be subjected to peer review by an expert in the field who also has knowledge about NSU. The reviews and the Board’s comments will be sent to the applicants by 15 April 2020. Revised proposals should be submitted by 15 May 2020. Proposals for new study circles must be presented, in person or via Skype, at the General Assembly during the NSU Summer session, which takes place 26 July – 2 August 2020 in Oslo, Norway. The new study circles will be decided on by a vote of the NSU General Assembly.

Contact information

The proposal, as well as questions, should be sent to board [at] nsuweb.org
Visit our webpage http://nordic.university.
The aim of the project is to share some aspects of the history of the Nordic Collaboration that has taken place in the Nordic Summer University between the years 1950-2020.

Throughout 2020, in collaboration with the Nordic Council, NSU is bursting open it’s history with a range of 10 arts/research projects – each taking departure in a theme of ‘Nordicness’ and producing films, essays, photos and blogs to trace the spirit of NSU across the world. The project began in 2019 with a ‘Call for Projects’ for artists and researchers to apply with a costed plan of the research they could undertake. The selected projects began working in Summer 2019, with traces of their work appearing across NSU’s media platforms and in networks connected to the themes of Nordicness or Nordic values – including sustainability, democracy, openness and innovation.

Applications
The ‘Call for Projects’ 29 submissions were received from 16 countries (Canada, Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, India, Iran, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Romania, Slovenia, Sweden and the UK). An Advisory group was formed, made up of volunteers from within NSU, which consisted of two then members of NSU Board and an ex-Keynote speaker.

NSU Archive
The Danish National Archives (Rigsarkivet) in Copenhagen currently houses NSU’s extensive archive. During 2019, five project groups visited the archives to prepare material for their project (Nicole des Bouvrie, Karima Klasen, Hild Borchgrevink, Per Roar, Camilla Graff Junior, Luisa Greenfield, Myna Trustram and David Armes.) Additionally, members of the project Into The Woods visited historic sites in and around Copenhagen for the modelling of relics.
Project Dissemination

Website
A special website was created for the Anniversary project (www.tracingthespirit.com) through WordPress, allowing the site to be later integrated into the main NSU webpage. The site received 2,846 views from 1,010 visitors during 2019. The largest single countries to who viewed the site were the UK (21% of views) and Denmark (14% of views). Nordic countries as a whole made up 27% of the total views. The most successful sources from which viewers reached the site were websites posting arts opportunities during the ‘Call for Proposals’ stage (40%), Facebook (34% of visitors), the Nordic Summer University webpage (7.5%) and Twitter (7.2%) After the initial ‘Call for Proposals’ in April and May (which can be considered an extra-ordinary event in the timeline of media posts) average visitor figures settled down to a monthly average of 44 between June and December.

Social Media
A Twitter account (@NSU_70) and Instagram account (@tracingthespirit) were created specifically for the project. The existing Facebook page for Nordic Summer University was utilised for the project. @NSU_70 currently has 114 followers and 33 Tweets were posted in 2019. @tracingthespirit currently has 123 followers and 29 posts were made in 2019. Twelve posts were made to NSU Facebook page. The median clicks-to-posts was 44.5 and the number of shares, comments or likes was 11.5. Most successful were those which engaged other groups or pages beyond NSU’s own.

Changes for 2020:
Emphasis will be shifted from the Instagram account to more audience-growing platforms such as Facebook and Twitter. More relevant partners will be found, particularly on Facebook, and referenced in posts to produce more organic growth. Paid advertisements will be considered. Targets: to maintain monthly visits to website at 50+.

Overview of the Projects

Lived Anthologies by Eduardo Abrantes.
Eduardo will gather and compose “sound worlds” which, from the plurality of voices in NSU’s archive, aim to create new models of knowledge-sharing. His sound-art pieces are accompanied by theoretical texts on the interplay of sound and writing, accessible via the TracingTheSpirit blog. Eduardo is a researcher and sound artist: https://eduardoabrantes.com.

How the news travels by David Armes
A British-US-Danish collaboration brings three visual artists – David Armes, Jens Jørgen Hansen and Megan Adie – together around the “literary time-capsule” of NSU archive. They explore historical newspaper stories from the perspective of letterpress printing and the mechanics of artists’ books. David is a letterpress artist: http://www.redplatepress.com & on Instagram @redplatepress.
Tracing the Conversation by Nicole des Bouvrie
Nicole uses Foucauldian archaeology to uncover the dialogues, frank exchanges and creative contestations that wove NSU’s institutional history. The project collates these responses to the historic study circles into a book and installation, Nicole is a philosopher: https://www.nobyeni.com/tag/nordic-summer/

lightweight luggage for transitioning by Stephanie Hanna
Stephanie opens up the concept of the “keynote address” in NSU’s archive, using multi-media art practices to create a video library of voices – new and old – overlaid with everyday actions. The films are being released monthly through TracingTheSpirit.com, and Stephanie’s artist identity: @zu.thum_und.lassen

Into The Forest by Luka Zubret
Luka uses VR technology to consider post-human spaces and organisations. Hosting a team of VFX, sound design and sculpture specialists, the resulting interactive experience will find users in a space of objects drawn from the symbolic canon of Nordic and Celtic cultures, composed in a playful and aesthetic way. Luka is a visual design artist: Instagram, @lukazabret

Lake Vättern and its subjectivity by Arci Pasanen and Phil Jamieson
Arci and Phil explore how local communities around Lake Vättern are raising their voices against threats, creating an around-the-lake network of grassroot activists and local policy makers. The project uses video and documentary research to follow forms of democratic organising in the struggle for Lake Vättern. The filmmaking and activist duo can be found on Instagram: @jagjord_jagvatten.

Future echoes by Hild Borchgrevink
Hild initiates a chain of letters between a group of female contemporary Nordic writers, who are invited to respond to materials from the archives of NSU written by women. The book resulting from these contemporary responses to historical material will explore relations between feminist traditions of NSU and the situation of women in the Nordic countries today. Hild is an artist, writer and musicologist (UiO): http://www.hildborchgrevink.no

Time in Space (TiS) by Karima Klasen
Karima draws texts, materials and objects from NSU archive and uses them to form an experimental Gazfeld - an accessible sculpture, where the visitors become part of the artwork with the opportunity to participate, draw, read and interact within it. This large-scale installation from fragments in NSU archive will be curated and displayed during the Summer 2020 session. Karima is an interdisciplinary visual artist: Instagram @SpaceAsCanvas
Oleana: An Act of Courage by Giulia Mangione
Giulia traces the story of Oleana – once a utopian colony founded by Norwegian violinist Ole Bull in 1852 in Pennsylvania – through a visual journey into the Scandinavian emigration to America. The project will curate an exhibition of images from Giulia’s archival research to describe the will, vision, hopes and desires that have united Scandinavian emigrants to America for over a century. Giulia is a documentary photographer: Instagram @Giulia_Mangione.

Tracing the archive through artistic research by Per Roar, Camilla Graff Junior, Luisa Greenfield and Myna Trustram
Four NSU artistic-researchers present a collective performance essay based on materials from NSU archives, as expressed through their individual practices of writing, film, choreography and performance art. A publication will follow containing pieces from various aesthetic orientations and research perspectives, aiming to create a living archive that extends beyond NSU. Updates from the project can be found on the TracingTheSpirit blog.
The Nordic Summer University (NSU) is an independent nonprofit organization founded in 1950 to support multidisciplinary research enquiries and scholarly networks across national borders. NSU operates as a nomadic institution and organizes 16-20 symposia and events each year in the Nordic and Baltic region.

NSU is rooted in the values of sustainability, equality and inclusion. NSU promotes learning and cultivation of the self, informed by the Nordic heritage of fölkbildning and self-organization, with its investments in open-access education and collaboration through participation and active citizenship.

NSU's study program supports emerging research initiatives. NSU welcomes projects related to all areas of life from supporting ecological diversity to the well-being of humans, as well as the creation of inclusive democratic societies.

NSU encourages the development of long-term networks with flexible and diverse thematic research agendas and facilitates research experience and networking opportunities for people from different parts of society.

Through it’s activities NSU establishes a public space for critical discourse and creative exploration among diverse members of the Nordic and Baltic regions, including university scholars, students, artists, independent researchers, and other professionals.

The community of NSU foster an environment and infrastructure of lifelong learning, self-governance, and active citizenship through building international open access networks between academia and civil society.

NSU Strategy 2016-2019

The external evaluation of NSU in 2014 (Faugert & Co Utvärdering AB) identified four areas of development. These include recommendations on improving the balance of participation across the Nordic and Baltic countries, public relations and organizational visibility, linguistic plurality, regional focus and local collaboration, evaluation methods and academic quality. The Strategy Plan for 2016-2019 met these recommendations in the following ways:

Participation

NSU established networks with young researchers and students and increased participation of civil society practitioners. NSU also increased the geographic range of participants: from across the entire Nordic and Baltic region, including peripheral areas such as Greenland, the Faroe Islands, and Sápmi; and a diversity of other nationalities, including Cameroon, the United States, India, Algeria, Russia, the United Kingdom, Ireland, France and Taiwan.

Public relations and visibility
NSU improved the official homepage and standardized organization social media use. NSU’s publication policy was reformulated to focus on publishing in recognized publishing channels. NSU collaborated with many local partners throughout the Nordic and Baltic region to organize thematically targeted events open to the public, such as open Keynote lectures in the Summer Session. NSU also implemented evaluation methods and standards for self-evaluation of the activities.

Linguistic and cultural plurality
NSU promoted the use of Nordic and Baltic languages through the production of scholarly publications in multiple languages. NSU also hosted multi-linguistic public events and invited contributions specifically focused on the plurality of languages spoken in Nordic and Baltic region.

Regional focus and local collaboration
NSU developed collaboration in the Baltic Sea Region (Östersjöområdet) by hosting several symposia in Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, St. Petersburg, and Fårö.

Evaluation methods and academic quality
NSU developed a peer-review system to increase the academic and overall quality of the study circles that are accepted as part of NSU study program. Besides this, participation evaluation and self-evaluation of coordinators and board members has been developed further and now forms a standard practise within NSU.

NSU Strategy 2020-2023
In 2020-2023, NSU will continue the strategic development across the four key areas highlighted in the 2014 evaluation, while attending to new factors influencing the direction of NSU and the Nordic and Baltic region.

The overall aim of this strategy plan is to work on sustainability. Sustainability is on the one end supported by promoting environmentally responsible means of maintaining international networks and supporting local communities in the planning of NSU events. Participants are supported in making environmentally responsible choices about travel and consumption for NSU events. Yet besides these environmental concerns, the sustainability of NSU as an organisation is furthermore developed by focussing on the following areas: developing external funding, increasing participation and visibility, maintaining plurality and building on local partnerships.
External funding
Diversifying external funding sources and identifying funding opportunities from the Nordic and Baltic countries, and from elsewhere is a priority. Creating and providing structures for making successful applications is the main aim for this period and developing resilient practices for securing external funding also in the future.

Participation
NSU is strengthening already existing international networks and continues to encourage the inclusion of young researchers, students, and civil society practitioners by supporting innovative and experimental research and creative practice at an early stage. Participation is supported by offering targeted scholarships and grants to people from underrepresented areas, including the Arctic region. NSU is also reaching out to institutions in underrepresented regions for potential collaborations and/or research initiatives.

Public relations and visibility
Public relations and visibility will be increased through the major public celebration of NSU during the 2020 Summer Session in Norway. Through following the traces of a wide diversity of ten creative and scholarly projects that explore the history of the institution and the communities that it has generated over time will make the values of NSU visible also to the wider public. A dynamic new website commemorating the 70 year anniversary is following the project Tracing the Spirit of the Nordic Summer University past, present and future. NSU is also aiming to establishing enduring collaborations with recognized publishers.

Linguistic and cultural plurality
Linguistic and cultural plurality will be supported through promoting Nordic and Baltic languages through the production of scholarly publications in multiple languages. NSU continues to host multi-linguistic public events and is inviting contributions specifically focused on the plurality of languages spoken in Nordic and Baltic region to the study program.

Regional focus and local collaboration
During this period NSU will be hosting the summer session events in Nordic and Baltic countries around the Baltic Sea Shores. In the winter symposia NSU is also reaching out to the periphery of these regions. In all activities of NSU the regional focus and local collaboration focuses on increasing the balance between participants from the different Nordic and Baltic countries and building on the regional focus work that NSU has already established by creating sustainable relationships throughout the Nordic and Baltic regions.

TOTAL 2019 In-Kind Contribution voluntary work

2 551 665
Line 3 Deviation due to fact that the project 'tracing the spirit' was not budgeted for (see also line 65), and increased in-kind contributions of voluntary working hours by coordinators.

Line 4 Deviation solely due to increased in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators – several projects organised their winter symposium with less support from NSU as they got other external funding, both monetary and in-kind.

Line 5 As there were less participants than the norm, circle 1 used less funds. The deviation is made up due to increased in-kind expenses of contribution of hours by the coordinators.

Line 6 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 7 As there were less participants than the norm, circle 1 used less funds. The deviation is further increased due to less in-kind expenses of contribution of hours by the coordinators.

Line 8 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 9 As there were less participants than the norm, circle 1 used less funds. The deviation is further increased due to less in-kind expenses of contribution of hours by the coordinators.

Line 10 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 11 As there were less participants than the norm, circle 1 used less funds. The deviation is further increased due to less in-kind expenses of contribution of hours by the coordinators.

Line 12 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 13 No deviation

Line 14 No deviation

Line 15 No deviation

Line 16 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 17 As there were less participants than the norm, circle 1 used less funds. The deviation is further increased due to less in-kind expenses of contribution of hours by the coordinators.

Line 18 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 19 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 20 One ad hoc spent less than the full amount they were granted as they had more external funding than expected. This external funding is not visible in the NSU report

Line 21 This project started in 2019 and was not budgeted for as the Nordics grant for this specific project was only approved at the end of 2018.

Line 22 There were two outreach events organised, one organised in connection to one of the board meetings in Estonia to attract local students in Tallinn and inform them about the possibilities of collaboration, and one in Lithuania at the European Humanities University in Vilnius.

Line 23 Deviation mostly based on decreased in-kind voluntary hours spent by board members, as throughout parts of the year there was not a full board active.

Line 24 Meeting to prepare for summer session was more expensive due to high cost of venue. Less in-kind contribution by board due to fact that board membership changed throughout the year.

Line 25 Much longer meeting due to WeValue project and extra meeting with NCM to discuss issues around funding.

Line 26 Deviation due to lower in-kind contribution of board due to changing board membership.

Line 27 Lower costs due to illness and inability to attend the full meeting by board members and due to the fact the meeting was in Vilnius, Lithuania.

Line 28 No deviation

Line 29 Lower travel costs than expected, high in-kind contribution of hours spent by coordinators.

Line 30 Lower costs for the meeting as meeting was held in Vilnius, Lithuania, and higher in-kind contribution.

Line 31 Higher cost for keynotes due to them bringing their family. Lower costs for the accommodation due to good negotiation with the venue in Estonia. Also not many applications for the West Nordic and Baltic Outreach Program for which all applications were accepted. Especially for people from Baltic countries the travel costs was very low as the summer session took place in Estonia, so this explains the lower amount spent on this travel grant scheme.

Line 32 Due to the cut of funding by NCM for 2019, the Board decided to be more prudent with spending on cultural honorarium, even though there was a full cultural program offered to the participants.

Line 33 Less youth leaders applied for honorarium for their work during the summer session.

Line 34 Deviation solely due to in-kind contribution of hours spent by the coordinators.

Line 35 No deviation

Line 36 See lines 162, 165, 168 and 171

Line 37 Spent less on development and web maintenance as not many changes were implemented in 2019. Focus was on making new plans for implementation of changes in 2020.

Line 38 As there is no longer an NSU Press, there is no in-kind contribution which explains the deviation.

Line 39 No marketing efforts were initiated that cost money.

Line 40 As there was no extra external funding for the Archive project, no steps were taken to develop the archival material further. See line 200

Line 41 Deviation due to reasons line 175 and 179.

Line 42 Deviation due to lower costs of accounting. The budgeted amount was wrong.

Line 43 Lower costs due to lower disagio and no costs for accommodation/food for meeting with accountants. There were some costs for meals with the accountant which are filed under SM2 costs, line 86.

Line 44 Overall result lower due to lower costs for meetings, slightly less expensive summer session accommodation and lower in-kind contribution by board due to changes in board membership.
Less funding by NCM, higher amount granted by the Nordics than expected, and slightly less income from participants for the summer session. Budgeted participation fees for winter symposium were wrongly put into the budget as no system was in place in 2019 to take those fees into the NSU accounting. This is now changed in 2020.

Less funding by NCM in 2019 than budgeted for (difference of 137,750 SEK)

Higher amount granted by the Nordics than expected for the new project 'Tracing the Spirit' that started in 2019

Slightly less income from participation fees for the summer session.

Budgeted participation fees for winter symposium were wrongly put into the budget as no system was in place in 2019 to take those fees into the NSU accounting. This is now changed in 2020.

More savings used than budgeted for, slightly more in-kind contribution overall of voluntary hours spent to organise and manage the affairs and events of NSU.

Even though NCM cut back on funding for NSU (137,750 SEK), the core activities that are supported by NCM cost more than budgeted for. This deficit is made up by other sources of income and using savings from previous years.

Regnskabspraksis

Regnskabsgrundlag

Årsrapporten for Nordiskt Sommaruniversitet for 2019 er udarbejdet i overensstemmelse med foreningens vedtægter.

Årsregnskabet for 2019 er aflagt i SEK.

Generelt om indregning og måling

Indtægter indregnes i resultatopgørelsen i takt med, at de indtjenes. Herudover indregnes værdireguleringer af finansielle aktiver og forpligtelser, der måles til dagsværdi eller amortiseret kost pris. Endvidere indregnes i resultatopgørelsen alle omkostninger, der er afholdt for at opnå årets indtjening, herunder afskrivninger, nedskrivninger og hensatte forpligtelser samt tilbageførsler som følge af ændrede regnskabsmæssige skøn af beløb, der tidligere har været indregnet i resultatopgørelsen.

Aktiver indregnes i balancen, når det er sandsynligt, at fremtidige økonomiske fordele vil tilflyde foreningen, og aktivets værdi kan måles pålideligt.

Forpligtelser indregnes i balancen, når det er sandsynligt, at fremtidige økonomiske fordele vil fragå foreningen, og forpligtelsens værdi kan måles pålideligt.

Omregning af fremmed valuta

Transaktioner i fremmed valuta omregnes til transaktionsdagens kurs. Valutakursdifferencer, der opstår mellem transaktionsdagens kurs og kursen på betalingsdagen, indregnes i resultatopgørelsen som en finansi el post.

Tilgodehavender, gæld og andre monetære poster i fremmed valuta, som ikke er afregnet på balancedagen, måles til balancedagens valutakurs. Forskellen mellem balancedagens kurs og kursen på tidspunktet for tilgodehavendets eller gældens opståen indregnes i resultatopgørelsen under finansielle indtægter og omkostninger.
Resultatopgørelsen

Indtægter

Indtægter indregnes i resultatopgørelsen, når de modtages. I tilfælde, hvor der i regnskabsåret er opnået endeligt tilsagn, og der er stor sikkerhed for at foreningen vil modtage beløbet, vil sådanne bevilgede indtægter også blive indtægtsført, såfremt de vedrører året. Indtægter omfatter bidrag fra Nordisk Ministerråd og deltagerbetalinger samt udgifter.

Udgifter

Udgifterne omfatter omkostninger til studiekredse, herunder rejseomkostninger, kost og logi, samt omkostninger vedrørende sekretariatsfunktion, herunder administration og finansielle omkostninger.

Finansielle poster

Finansielle indtægter og omkostninger indregnes med de beløb, der vedrører regnskabsåret.

Balancen

Tilgodehavender

Tilgodehavender indregnes i balancen til amortiseret kostpris, hvilket i al væsentlighed svarer til pålydende værdi.

Periodeafgrænsningsposter (passiver)

Periodeafgrænsningsposter opført som forpligtelser udgøres af modtagne betalinger vedrørende indtægter i de efterfølgende regnskabsår.

In-kind finansiering

In-kind finansiering indregnes til største del på baggrund af estimerede arbejdsdage. Arbejdsdage er fordelt således med et estimeret antal timer på 7,5 pr. dag:

DEN UAFHÆNGIGE REVISORS REVISIONSPÅTEGNING

Til Foreningerne Nordisk Sommeruniversitet (tilskudsmodtager) og Nordisk Ministerråd (tilskudsgiver)

Revisionspåtegning på årsregnskabet
Konklusion

Årsregnskabet udarbejdes efter foreningens vedtægter og retningslinjerne i bevillingsbrev af 23. maj 2019 (i det følgende kaldet "tilskudsgivers retningslinjer").

Det er vores opfattelse, at årsregnskabet i alle væsentlige henseender er rigtigt, dvs. udarbejdet i overensstemmelse med tilskudsgivers retningslinjer.

Grundlag for konklusion
Vi har udført vores revision i overensstemmelse med internationale standarder om revision, de yderligere krav, der er gældende i Danmark, samt standarderne for offentlig revision, idet revisionen udføres på grundlag af bestemmelserne i tilskudsgivers revisionsinstruks af 1. januar 2018 for Revision af Nordisk Ministerråd og Nordisk Råd (tilskudsgivers revisionsinstruks). Vores ansvar ifølge disse standarder og krav er nærmere beskrevet i revisionspåtegningens afsnit Revisors ansvar for revisionen af årsregnskabet. Vi er uafhængige af tilskudsmodtager i overensstemmelse med internationale etiske regler for revisorer (IESBA's etiske regler) og de yderligere krav, der er gældende i Danmark, ligesom vi har opfyldt vores øvrige etiske forpligtelser i henhold til disse regler og krav. Det er vores opfattelse, at det opnåede revisionsbevis er tilstrækkeligt og egnet som grundlag for vores konklusion.

Fremhævelser af forhold vedrørende revisionen

Nordisk Sommeruniversitet har medtaget beregninger af in-kind omkostninger og beskrivelse af afvigelser til regnskabet. Opgørelserne har ikke været underlagt revision.

Fremhævelse af forhold i regnskabet – anvendt regnskabspraksis samt begrænsning i distribution og anvendelse
Vi henleder opmærksomheden på, at årsregnskabet er udarbejdet i henhold til tilskudsgivers retningslinjer. Årsregnskabet er udarbejdet med henblik på at hjælpe tilskudsmodtager til overholdelse af de regnskabsmæssige bestemmelser i tilskudsgivers retningslinjer. Som følge heraf kan årsregnskabet være uegnet til andet formål.

Vores erklæring er udelukkende udarbejdet til brug for tilskudsmodtager og tilskudsgiver og bør ikke udleveres til eller anvendes af andre parter end tilskudsmodtager og tilskudsgiver.

Vores konklusion er ikke modifieret som følge af disse forhold.
Ledelsens ansvar for årsregnskabet

Ledelsen har ansvaret for udarbejdelsen af et årsregnskab, der i alle væsentlige henseender er rigtigt, dvs. udarbejdet i overensstemmelse med tilskudsgivers retningslinjer. Ledelsen har endvidere ansvaret for den interne kontrol, som ledelsen anser for nødvendig for at udarbejde et årsregnskab uden væsentlig fejlinformation, uanset om denne skyldes besvigelser eller fejl.

Ved udarbejdelsen af årsregnskabet er ledelsen ansvarlig for at vurdere foreningens evne til at fortsætte driften; at oplyse om forhold vedrørende fortsat drift, hvor dette er relevant; samt at udarbejde årsregnskabet på grundlag af regnskabsprincipippet om fortsat drift, medmindre ledelsen enten har til hensigt at likvidere foreningen, indstille driften eller ikke har andet realistisk alternativ end at gøre dette.

Revisors ansvar for revisionen af årsregnskabet

Vores mål er at opnå høj grad af sikkerhed for, om årsregnskabet som helhed er uden væsentlig fejlinformation, uanset om denne skyldes besvigelser eller fejl, og at afgive en erklæring med en konklusion. Høj grad af sikkerhed er et højt niveau af sikkerhed, men er ikke en garanti for, at en revision, der udføres i overensstemmelse med internationale standarder om revision og de yderligere krav, der er gældende i Danmark, samt god offentlig revisionsskik, jf. tilskudsgivers revisionsinstruks af 15. august 2013 for Revision af Nordisk Ministerråd og Nordisk Råd, altid vil afdække væsentlig fejlinformation, når sådan findes. Fejlinformationer kan opstå som følge af besvigelser eller fejl og kan betragtes som væsentlige, hvis det med rimelighed kan forventes, at de enkeltvis eller samlet har indflydelse på de økonomiske beslutninger, som regnskabsbrugerne træffer på grundlag af årsregnskabet.

Som led i en revision, der udføres i overensstemmelse med internationale standarder om revision og de yderligere krav, der er gældende i Danmark, samt god offentlig revisionsskik, jf. tilskudsgivers revisionsinstruks af 1. januar 2018 for Revision af Nordisk Ministerråd og Nordisk Råd, foretager vi faglige vurderinger og opretholder professionel skepsis under revisionen. Herudover:

- Identificerer og vurderer vi risikoen for væsentlig fejlinformation i årsregnskabet, uanset om denne skyldes besvigelser eller fejl, udfører og udfører revisionshandlinger som reaktion på disse risici samt opnår revisionsbevis, der er tilstrækkeligt og egnet til at danne grundlag for vores konklusion. Risikoen for ikke at opdage væsentlig fejlinformation forårsaget af besvigelser er højere end ved væsentlig fejlinformation forårsaget af fejl, idet besvigelser kan omfatte sammensværgelser, dokumentfalsk, bevidste udeladelser, villedning eller tilsidesættelse af intern kontrol.

- Opnår vi forståelse af den interne kontrol med relevans for revisionen af årsregnskabet for at kunne udforme revisionshandlinger, der er passende efter omstændighederne, men ikke for at kunne udtrykke en konklusion om effektiviteten af tilskudsmodtagers interne kontrol.

- Tager vi stilling til, om den regnskabspraksis, som er anvendt af ledelsen, er passende, samt om de regnskabsmæssige skøn og tilknyttede oplysninger, som ledelsen har udarbejdet, er rimelige.

Vi kommunikerer med ledelsen om blandt andet det planlagte omfang og den tidsmæssige placering af revisionen samt betydelige revisionsmæssige observationer, herunder eventuelle betydelige mangler i intern kontrol, som vi identificerer under revisionen.
Erklæring i henhold til anden lovgivning og øvrig regulering

Udtalelse om juridisk-kritisk revision og forvaltningsrevision
Ledelsen er ansvarlig for, at de dispositioner, der er omfattet af regnskabsafslæggelsen, er i overensstemmelse med meddelte bevillinger, love og andre forskrifter samt med indgåede aftaler og sædvanlig praksis. Ledelsen er også ansvarlig for, at der er taget skyldige økonomiske hensyn ved forvaltningen af de midler og driften af de aktiviteter, der er omfattet af årsregnskabet. Ledelsen har i den forbindelse ansvar for at etablere systemer og processer, der understøtter sparsommelighed, produktivitet og effektivitet.

I tilknytning til vores revision af årsregnskabet er det vores ansvar at gennemføre juridisk-kritisk revision og forvaltningsrevision af udvalgte emner i overensstemmelse med standarderne for offentlig revision. I vores juridisk-kritiske revision efterprøver vi med høj grad af sikkerhed for de udvalgte emner, om de undersøgte dispositioner, der er omfattet af regnskabsafslæggelsen, er i overensstemmelse med de relevante bestemmelser i bevillinger, love og andre forskrifter samt indgåede aftaler og sædvanlig praksis. I vores forvaltningsrevision vurderer vi med høj grad af sikkerhed, om de undersøgte systemer, processer eller dispositioner understøtter skyldige økonomiske hensyn ved forvaltningen af de midler og driften af de aktiviteter, der er omfattet af årsregnskabet.

Hvis vi på grundlag af det udførte arbejde konkluderer, at der er anledning til væsentlige kritiske bemærkninger, skal vi rapportere herom i denne udtalelse.

Vi har ingen væsentlige kritiske bemærkninger at rapportere i den forbindelse.

Ledelsesbrev af 14. februar 2020
Management letter of 14 February 2020

Revision af årsregnskabet for 2019
Audit of the annual accounts for 2019
1. Revision af årsregnskabet for 2019
Audit of the annual accounts for 2019

Som foreningens generalforsamlingsvalgte revisor har vi foretaget den lovkrævede revision af årsregnskabet for 2019 for Nordiskt Sommaruniversitet.
In our capacity as auditors appointed by the general meeting, we have performed the statutory audit of the annual accounts of Nordiskt Sommaruniversitet for 2019.

Nærværende ledelsesbrev oplister de overordnede resultater og observationer i relation til den udførte revision. Vores observationer og anbefalinger er alene til brug for ledelsen.
The present management letter describes the general findings and observations in relation to the performed audit. Our observations and recommendations are solely for the use of the management.

2. Konklusion på det udførte revisionsarbejde samt revisionspåtegning
Conclusion from the performed audit and auditor’s report

Den udførte revision har ikke givet anledning til modifikationer til revisors konklusion, fremhævelser eller andre oplysninger i revisionspåtegningen.
The performed audit did not cause any modifications to auditor’s opinion, emphasis of matter, or other information in the auditor’s report.

Såfremt ledelsen godkender årsrapporten i den foreliggende form, vil vi forsyne årsregnskabet med en revisionspåtegning uden modifikationer til revisors konklusion, fremhævelser eller andre oplysninger samt afgive en udtalelse om ledelsesberetningen uden bemærkninger.
If the management approves the annual report in its present form, we will provide the annual accounts with an auditor’s report without any modifications to the auditor’s opinion, emphasis of matter, or other information and issue a statement on the management’s review without any comments.

3. Revisionens formål
Purpose of the audit

In engagement letter of 13 December 2018 we have described the purpose of the audit. In this connection we have also described the division of responsibilities between the management of the company and ourselves. We have performed the audit of the annual accounts for 2019 accordingly.
4. Revisionens tilrettelæggelse og udførelse

Planning and performance of the audit

Revisionen har været tilrettelagt og udført i overensstemmelse med internationale revisionsstandarder og yderligere krav ifølge dansk revisorlovgivning. Revisionen skal sikre, at årsregnskabet ikke indeholder væsentlig fejlinformation og har primært omfattet væsentlige regnskabsposter og områder, hvor der er risiko for væsentlige fejl, herunder fejl vedrørende foretagne regnskabsmæssige skøn.

The audit of the annual accounts was planned and performed in accordance with international standards on auditing and additional requirements under Danish audit regulation. The audit is performed in order to obtain reasonable assurance that the annual report is free from material misstatements, and the audit primarily comprised essential accounting records and areas, which involve a risk of material misstatements, including misstatements concerning the accounting estimates made.

Som forberedelse til revisionen for 2019 har vi drøftet forventningerne til den økonomiske udvikling for 2019 med direktionen, herunder risici relateret til selskabets aktiviteter. Vi har endvidere drøftet risici forbundet med regnskabsaflæggelsen og de tiltag, direktionen har iværksat til styring heraf.

As part of our preparation of the audit for 2019, we have discussed with the executive board the expectations for the financial development in 2019, including the risks relating to the activities of the company. Additionally, we have discussed the risks attached to the financial reporting and the steps taken by the executive board in order to manage such risks.

Vi har på baggrund heraf udarbejdet en strategi for revisionen med henblik på at målrette vores arbejde mod risikofylde områder. Vi har identificeret følgende regnskabsposter og områder, hvortil der efter vores opfattelse knytter sig særlige risici for væsentlige fejl og mangler eller usikkerheder i årsregnskabet:

On this basis, we have prepared an audit strategy with the view to focus our efforts on risk areas. We have identified the following accounting records and areas which in our opinion involve particular risk of material misstatements and omissions or uncertainties in the annual accounts.

- Forekomst, fuldstændighed og periodisering af omsetningen
- Occurrence, completeness, and accrual of turnover

Revisionen har tillige omfattet en vurdering af, hvorvidt det udarbejdede årsregnskab opfylder lovgivningen og vedtægternes regnskabsbestemmelser. I forbindelse hermed har vi vurderet den valgte regnskabspraksis, ledelsens regnskabsmæssige skøn samt ledelsens afgivne oplysninger i øvrigt.

Furthermore, the audit comprised an evaluation whether the annual accounts prepared meet the regulations on accounting as stipulated by the Danish legislation and by the company’s articles of association. In this connection we have evaluated the accounting policies used, the financial estimates made by the management, and other information submitted by the management.
5. Betydelige resultater fra revisionen
Significant findings from the audit

5.1. Overskydende midler i kredse
Excess fund in the projects

Der er mulighed for at de enkelte kredse kan beholde overskydende indtægter fra eksterne parter der ikke er anvendt i året til det efterfølgende år. I det tilfælde at der er et overskud der kan føres videre til næste år, beholder kredsynderen selv de overskydende midler og skal selv huske på, at de overskydende midler skal indgå i regnskab for det efterfølgende år.

It is possible for individual circles to retain excess contributions from external partners that have not been used in the year to the following year. In the event that there is a surplus that can be carried over to next year, the circle chairman will keep the surplus funds himself and has to keep in mind that the surplus funds must be included in the accounts for the following year.

Vi anbefaler at processen ændres, så alle overskydende midler tilbagebetales til NSU's konto og periodiseres i regnskabet, indtil midlerne faktisk anvendes.

157/5000
We recommend that the process is changed so that all surplus funds are returned to NSU's account and accrued in the accounts until the funds are actually used.

6. Forretningsgange og intern kontrol
Business procedures and internal control systems

Vi har som led i revisionen gennemgået foreningens registreringssystemer og interne kontroller.
As a part of our audit we have reviewed the recording systems and the internal control systems of the union.

Som følge af det begrænsede antal medarbejdere i administration er det ikke muligt at adskille de administrative funktioner effektivt mellem flere personer. Den interne kontrol baseres derfor hovedsagelig på ledelsens overvågning og kontrol af driften, bogføringen og regnskabsafslæggelsen.
Due to the limited number of staff members employed within the administration, it is not possible efficiently to delegate the administrative procedures to more persons. Consequently, the internal control is mainly based on the management supervising and inspecting the operations, the bookkeeping, and the financial reporting.

Idet der ikke er en effektiv funktionsadskillelse og dermed effektive interne kontroller, foreligger der en risiko for, at der opstår tilsigtede eller utilisigtede fejl i selskabets administration, og der kan herved opstå tab. Vores revision kan ikke afsløre disse fejl med sikkerhed.
Due to the missing efficient segregation of procedures and to the missing efficient internal control, there is a risk of intentional or unintentional errors occurring within the administration of the company, and thereby losses may arise. Our audit will not always reliably disclose such mistakes.
Konstaterer vi under vores revision uregelmæssigheder, vil vi udvide revisionen med henblik på at afklare årsagen til de fundne uregelmæssigheder. Vi har ikke i forbindelse med vores revision af årsregnskabet for 2019 afdækket uregelmæssigheder, men som anført, kan vi ikke give sikkerhed for, at uregelmæssigheder ikke forekommer.

If we find any irregularities during our audit, we will extend the audit with the purpose of disclosing the reason of such irregularities. In connection with our audit of the annual accounts for 2019, we did not disclose any irregularities. However, as stated above we can not guarantee that irregularities do not exist.

7. Selskabsretlige formalia
   Formalities in relation to company law

7.1 Ledelsesansvar
   Management responsibility

I forbindelse med vores revision er vi ikke blevet bekendt med handlinger eller undladelser, hvor der efter vores opfattelse er en begrundet formodning om, at medlemmer af ledelsen kan ifalde erstatnings- eller strafansvar.

During our audit, we have not identified any acts or omissions, which in our opinion cause reason to believe that the members of the management may incur civil or criminal liability.

7.2 Pligt til at føre bøger m.v.
   Obligation to keep books etc.

I overensstemmelse med selskabslovgivningens regler har vi påset, at ledelsen har overholdt sine pligter til at oprette og føre bøger, fortægnelser og protokoller.

In accordance with the regulations of the Danish Companies Act, we have verified that the management has met its obligations as to establish and keep books, registers and records.

8. Ledelsens regnskabserklæring
   Management representation letter

I overensstemmelse med internationale revisionsstandarder har vi indhentet regnskabserklæring fra direktionen til bekræftelse af årsregnskabets fuldstændighed.

In accordance with international standards on auditing, we have procured a management representation letter from the executive board, confirming the completeness of the annual accounts.

9. Øvrige forhold
   Other matters

I forbindelse med vores revision har vi forespurt direktionen om, hvorvidt virksomheden overholder databeskyttelseslovgivningen. Direktionen har i denne forbindelse oplyst, at ledelsen har taget stilling til databeskyttelseslovgivningen og vurderer, at bestemmelsene heri overholdes af virksomheden.

In connection with our audit, we have asked the executive board whether the enterprise complies with the Danish Data Protection Act. In this connection, the executive board has informed us that the management has taken the Danish Data Protection Act into consideration and evaluates that the company complies with the provisions of the act.
