

Dear Brothers,

Today's feast is an opportunity to remember that we are all called to be saints by taking different paths towards this communion with God and with our brothers and sisters.

First Oblation:

November 1st reminds us of the day when St. Eugene & his companion made and professed their first Oblation - see the link below.
May we remain faithful to our Oblation.

The Faithful Departed:

During this month of November let us remember to pray for all those who have gone before us into life after this life on earth.
May they rest in peace.

Have a good day!
