Live-In Care

Our dedicated carer will reside in your house with you to provide round-the-clock care as part of our private live-in care service. This carer will always be there to provide a helping hand whenever it is needed.

We understand that being supported by or caring for a loved one with care needs can be challenging at times. Because of this, our customised live-in care is made to meet the needs, habits, and preferences of each of our clients, which are different from one another.

Pure Healthcare's private live-in care will allow you and your loved ones to focus on what's most important: spending quality time together.

What exactly is included in the delivery of private live-in care?

You may make use of our private live-in care service to receive assistance in whatever way you desire, including the following:

- Personal care

Self-care tasks, like taking a bath, going to the bathroom, changing clothes, etc., are done with respect and privacy.

- Companionship

We are here to provide a helping hand, an ear to listen to, and a shoulder to weep on if that is what you need.

- Household chores

Laundry, dusting, and vacuuming and all important ways to keep your home clean and comfortable.

- Going out in public

We understand that your life extends beyond the walls of your house, and because of this, we are willing to help you in other areas as well.

- Dietary needs

This entails coming up with a meal plan and preparing such a diet in order to meet all of your nutritional requirements.

- Nurse-assisted care

For more complicated care requirements, such as the administration of stomas and catheters.

Couples' live-in care

We understand that you and your loved one have grown increasingly inseparable over the years and that, despite the inevitable difficulties that will emerge, you both hope to spend the rest of your lives together. We can take care of you and make sure that you can stay independent in your own home.

Even if we are blessed enough to have a partner to help us, it may get harder as we get older to run a home and do our daily chores. Coping might be harder if one or both people have health problems, either physical or mental.

In these situations, our live-in carers for couples are very good at taking care of people who want to keep living with their partner while getting professional help. They also have the right personality to work with a couple and are willing to do what you tell them to do.

- Couples choose live-in care for a number of reasons. Hiring a live-in carer is great because it lets couples stay in their own homes, where they feel most comfortable. They don't have to move or spend time away from their family or, more importantly, each other.
- Our live-in care services can be tailored to the needs of people with dementia, Parkinson's disease, multiple sclerosis, the after-effects of a stroke, a spinal injury, or a heart attack, and many other conditions that can make it hard for a person to take care of themselves.
- We offer both short-term and long-term care, which families often use to help their loved ones get used to the idea of residential care. We'll be able to figure out how much care you need after a thorough conversation about your specific needs. Couples can get help with laundry, cleaning, cooking, running errands, and taking care of themselves, among other things.
- Our live-in carer is kind, helpful, polite, and always professional. He or she is the best friend you could ask for.
- We can also help couples get live-in care for a short time when one or both of them are coming home from the hospital after having surgery.
