One island many destinations

Sicily is the biggest island in the Mediterranean, with a surface of more than 25k km<sup>2</sup>. The landscape is very varied, as the island is mountainous and hilly – the highest massif being the volcano Etna, rising to 3300 m a.s.l. The coastline, mostly rocky to the north, and sandy to the south, is about 1500 km long. The climate is decidedly Mediterranean, with hot summers and short and mild winters. There are around 2500 hours of sunshine per year. The water temperature varies from about 16 degrees Celsius in winter to 27 in summer. For a trip to Sicily, which is not limited to bathing purposes, we recommend the spring and autumn months, April - June and September - October. The two biggest towns in Sicily are Palermo and Catania, both have an international airport. The population is estimated to be about 5 millions.

New destinations

Sicily is our base and our core business, but thanks to the many contacts, the knowledge of the territory and our experience, we are able to offer effective support for the organization of holidays throughout the south of Italy.

From Rome to Campania with Naples, Pompeii and the splendid Amalfi Coast, from the unexpected Calabria of Tropea and the natural parks, to Puglia, land of trulli, olive trees and baroque, we will be able to propose you classic tours and unexpected destinations.

Malta is a small archipelago composed by four islands: Malta, which is the largest, where the capital La Valletta is, and Gozo, Comino and Cominotto. It lies between Europe and Africa, and has a rich history, due to the presence, in the course of times, of all the populations who ruled the Mediterranean, such as the Romans and the Normans. Moreover, there is a beautiful coast, allowing relaxing seaside holidays, as well as a lively nightlife, with casinos, discos, restaurants and more.
