Personal data and protection

TADS is committed to protecting your privacy and security. Whenever you provide personal information, we will treat that information in accordance with current UK Data Protection legislation. We respect your privacy and will not sell your personal data to any third party. We undertake that we will have in place a level of security appropriate to the nature of the data and the harm that might result from a breach of security.

We use your information for a number of purposes:

- To administer and maintain your record(s) (e.g. membership files and volunteering details).
- To ensure that the support we offer you continues to be the most appropriate for your needs.
- To respond to any other query that you might raise with us about your membership.
- To update our systems and improve our service to you.
- To pass on information about you to banks and building societies for the purposes of collecting subscriptions.

Under the 2018 GDPR Act you must opt in for the society to be able to store your details in our records. There is a mutual responsibility to keep the records up to date should any of your details change. Your consent may be withdrawn at any time.
