

In light of the recent events that have unfolded across the UK, the Association of Dental Groups (ADG) wishes to express its unequivocal condemnation of the racist and Islamophobic disturbances that have marred our communities.

Such behaviour stands in stark contrast to the values of diversity and inclusivity that we, as an organisation, staunchly advocate.

The ADG represents 10,000 dentists working in 1,800 practices across our country - many in communities affected by the rioting. We fully support the diligent efforts of our law enforcement agencies who have been working tirelessly to restore peace and order. Their commitment to safeguarding the public and upholding the rule of law during these challenging times is commendable.

We would also like to extend our heartfelt gratitude to all the individuals and groups who are actively engaged in resolving the situation. Your dedication to fostering unity and understanding is a beacon of hope amidst these trying circumstances.

The ADG stands in solidarity with all those affected by these events and remains committed to promoting an environment of mutual respect and tolerance.
