

Who's In The Zoom?

A new series of presentations and discussions from the UK Disability Arts Alliance

We are delighted to present two accessible information sessions with Arts Council England, specifically aimed at We Shall Not Be Removed members about newly re-opened grants schemes at Arts Council England. The sessions are free but you do need to book a space. Accessibility included.

Wednesday 5 August 2020 11.00am and 6.00pm

After the Emergency Response funds of the first phase of the pandemic, Arts Council England has now re-opened its Project Grants and is encouraging applications from individuals. There are also plans to reopen Developing Your Creative Practice funding in the Autumn. There are some changes and there is some access support available for disabled artists to make applications.

Each session has the same content, we're holding two to allow people to have timing options. The first is at 11.00am and the second at 6.00pm on Wednesday 5 August 2020. Each will last approximately 45 minutes.

There will be a presentation including CC and BSL, with audio access features, and an opportunity to ask questions. Please ensure your questions relate to grant applications please for best use of time.

These sessions will be hosted on zoom by We Shall Not Be Removed members Andrew Miller and Ellie Page who will be joined by Claire and Aakash Bharania from Arts Council England

Please take care to select the correct time for you when booking. We will send you a zoom link in advance of the session which is for your use only.

We can provide access information relating to using zoom should anyone require it. Contact us at access@weshallnotberemoved.com

Booking via eventbrite is available here (please note that by booking here you are granting us permission to store your contact details temporarily so that we can issue you with a ticket. Your details will not be stored for any longer than the day after the event).
