Letter of support for the Yantu Project

To whom it may concern:

As Ambassador of Denmark to China, I am happy to express my warm support and best wishes for the Yantu Project.

By crossing the Atlantic Ocean unassisted by ocean rowboat, Danish citizen Christian Havrehed and Chinese citizen Sun Haibin have not only achieved an incredibly impressive physical and mental accomplishment, they have also inspired people in both countries and become excellent examples of cross-cultural cooperation and understanding.

I believe that the Yantu Project's proposed expedition to retrace the early Chinese explorers along the North Pacific Rim has the potential to connect people around the world and to promote understanding and awareness about the maritime traditions of two great maritime nations, China and Denmark.

I wish the project all success and hope that relevant parties may favorably consider offering any possible support and assistance to the realization of the project.

Thomas Østrup Møller
